—It is rare that a man and wife live happily together for 55 years, but this is the record just closed in the case of Samuel J. Kendall and wife. Mr. Kendall was a Boston boy, his father dying when Samuel was only 4 years of age, and he spent his youth with friends in Weston. He held many positions of trust, being for some years employed in the custom house. His business was harness making and carriage manufacture. Of late years he had been book-keeper. He had not been entirely well for a few years, but was in his usual health until about 10 o'clock Monday evening, when an attack of apoplexy terminated his life, in his 80th year. His wife was a member of the Brigham family of Marlboro. They had 13 children, of whom three survive, Henry, of the Boston firm of Chapman, Kendall & Daniels; Eugene, living in Worcester, and Mrs. Briggs of Chelsea. Mr. Kendall was a gentleman of the old school and much respected by his large circle of friends. The funeral of Mr. Kendall took place from his late residence at 14 Thornton street, yesterday afternoon. The attendance was very large and included many Boston business men and a delegation from the Boston Custom House, where Mr. Kendall was formerly employed. Rev. Mr. Merrill of the Immanuel Baptist church conducted the services. The interment was made in the Newton cemetery.

conducted the services. The interment was made in the Newton cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Stephen Holmes, J. T. Hemmenway, Hosea Hyde and Geo. Lamson.

—Thomas De Wolfe has closed up his confectionery business here.

—C. A. Paine has removed his upholstery business to Newtonville.

—Dr. and Mrs. William Z. Ripley have returned from abroad.

—Mr. Jasper N. Keller is in California on a business trip of several weeks.

—Miss Maude Keller of Park street is attending a private school in Springfield.

—Stylish haircutting, three barbers, Saturday. Short waits at Burns, Cole's block.

—There have been three deaths from typhoid fever in this city during the present week.

—The Bowdoin Square cars will leave on twenty minute instead of fifteen minute time intervals.

—Mr. Burgess of Bennington street has removed to Highland avenue, Newtonville.

—Miss Alice E. Davis of Park street will return to her private school, the Roger's Hall, at Lowell, Oct. 8.

—Mr. George Agry, father of Mr. George Agry, Jr., and Mrs. Wiley S. Edmonds of this city, died this week at his home in Gorham, Me., aged 86 years.

—An engagement recently announced is that of Miss Laura P. Stone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Stone of Vernon street, to Mr. Bachelor of Cambridge.

—Thomas Hanron, aged 4 years, fell from a fence at his home on Gardner street, Tuesday, dislocating his elbow joint. He was attended by Dr. T. F. Carroll.

—The office of the Associated Charities at Newtonville will be closed during the week, Oct. 8 to 13, inclusive, and the secretary will be out of town.

—Mr. E. K. Appleton has moved into Mr. Galland's house on Church street, and Mr. Galland has moved into his new house, corner of Park and Elmwood streets.

—The government has discontinued the use of letter sheet envelopes, introduced in 1888. They will be on sale until used up, the supply on hand lasting probably about a month.

—Mrs. May Leonard Wells of Morris-town, N. J., will speak in the M. E. church this evening at 7.30 o'clock, in the interests of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. All are welcome.

—There will be communion service and reception of members at the Methodist church, Sunday morning. In the evening Rev. Mr. Bronson will preach on "The Prince of Peace and the War in Korea."

—Miss Robbins of the Juvenile, Elmwood street, has returned from New York, and will have her opening of fall and winter millinery on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

—Mrs. Benjamin Merritt has returned from North Scituate and has been stopping in Newton for a few days, but will soon leave for Wilkes Barre, Pa., where she will be in the fall.

—Mrs. Prior and children, through the instrumentality of the A-associated Charities, have been sent to England. Their case was investigated by Miss Snow and is of peculiar suffering, subjecting them to greatest degradation.

—Among the arrivals at the Hunnewell, this week, are Mr. and Mrs. Justin Whitte-er, Mr. F. H. Nichols, and Mrs. H. H. Lowell and Mrs. Hersey of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nowell and Mrs. Scott, wife of Prof. H. D. D., of the Chicago Theological Seminary.

—One of the first social events of the season at the Newton Club was an anniversary dinner given Monday by Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Kimball of Harvard avenue, Brookline, to Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Kimball, Jr. Covers were laid for 14 and the dinner was followed by bowling.

—The school department opened the free evening schools for adults Monday evening. Free instruction in drawing given by competent instructors at the Clafin school building, Newtonville, and instruction in mathematics and geography given by Mrs. Boyd's daughter to visit her manufactory of underwear, and were very much interested in the various articles and the manner of their manufacture.

—There is a petition now in the office of the Watertown Enterprise, over 20 feet long, and having more than 1000 signatures, which is to be sent to the West End, requesting a 5 cent fare from Boston to Watertown. Could it not be made to take in that other half mile, so that people from this city could ride back and forth to the "Hub" for a nickel?

—The resignation of Appleton P. C. Griffin, superintendent of the catalogue department at the Boston Public Library, a position he has held for the past 30 years, is causing considerable talk. The resignation, which will probably be accepted by the trustees, is said to be the outcome of unpleasantness which has existed between Mr. Griffin and one of the trustees. It is rumored that a petition asking that Mr. Griffin be reinstated as superintendent of the catalogue department will soon be presented to the mayor. Mr. Griffin resides in this city.

—Mrs. Anna C. Jenkins, wife of Engineer Frank Jenkins of the fire department, died Sunday of typhoid pneumonia after a short illness. Deceased was well known here and had a very large circle of friends. She was a woman of more than ordinary attainments and particularly bright in business affairs. She had a decided taste for art and executed some very clever work in oil and water colors. She possessed a very kindly disposition and was a sympathetic friend in sickness or trouble. It was her ambition to make her home attractive, and she was always a genial hostess, hospitable and fond of agreeable company. The funeral took place from the Methodist church yesterday afternoon, and there was a large attendance at the services. Rev. Dillion Bronson officiated. The casket was represented by a delegation. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The interment was made in the Newton cemetery.

—Ladies' Cloaks.

The new outside garments for fall and winter are very attractive in style, and come in a great variety of shapes, colors and materials. One of the largest assortments in Boston is shown by Chandler & Co., on Winter street, and their cloak department should be visited by the ladies of Newton. The prices cover a range wide enough to suit every purse, and the assortment is so large that all tastes can be suited.

—Millinery Opening.

Mrs. A. E. Smith will have her annual millinery opening on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 3rd, 4th and 5th at her store, 202 Moody street, Waltham. The ladies of Newton are cordially invited to inspect the new styles in trimmed hats and bonnets, and the millinery novelties.

Political and Otherwise.

Some tips were furnished through the Boston press last week, intended, I presume, to be of great value in pointing out the most popular candidates for aldermanic honors. Councilman L. E. G. Greene was named as the probable successor of Alderman E. M. Rumery. It struck me that the information was a little premature, for the surface indications point to a pretty lively sort of contest for Newtonville's representative in the upper branch of the city council. What about Ex-Councilman Hatch? It is not likely that his friends will permit him to be side tracked when he is within a few rods of a year ago in the interests of harmony. I can't say that I am much of a believer in the laudatory paragraphs that are published in the papers relative to certain aspirants for office on the eve of a campaign. They have the appearance of having been suggested by some one with an axe to grind. A man's popularity, after all, is sure to find him out.

A bright little miss of four or five summers completely nonplussed her fond mamma the other day by a rare remark. The mother of this child was complaining about the weather. Said the little one: "Did the good God make today?" "Y. S." my darling, was the reply. "And didn't the good God make all days?" continued the questioner. "Yes," dearest, was the response, "but I deem my daddy in Heaven is all runned out good weather, mamma. Don't you s'pose he does the best he can?"

Those persons who arraigned Mr. Ross and alleged certain crookedness in office must feel thoroughly ashamed of themselves by this time. They were unable to sustain their charges and made a sorry spectacle at the hearing given before the highway committee. It was a complete backdown on their part and there was the disgusting feature of servile apologies after an unsuccessful attempt to win the reputation of an honest man. It seems a pity that men so far forget themselves as to even sign their names to a paper calling for an investigation on a lot of trumped up accusations, conveyed by some one individual, probably, who has brooded over fancied wrongs until good sense departs and a vengeful spirit, the outgrowth of purely selfish considerations, impels him to resort to tactics not dictated by the sentiment of the golden rule. I have no sympathy or use for a dishonest public official, but I cannot but feel that some punishment should be meted out to the person or persons who without reason assail the character of a conscientious and worthy citizen.

That petition of the master plumbers of the city reminds me that the office of inspector of plumbing has been vacant now more than a year. As a temporary arrangement, following the retirement of Mr. W. S. French from the office of agent of the board of health, Mr. Fred T. Burgess was assigned to fill the duties of plumbing inspector. Mr. Burgess was engaged in the plumbing business himself and, consequently, could not regularly be appointed to the position under the statute

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

SUPP. ROSS EXONERATED—HIGHWAY COMMITTEE REPORTS IN FAVOR OF EXTENDING APPLETON STREET—ALDERMAN PLUMMER'S ABHORRENCE OF PEST HOLES.

Mayor Fenno occupied the chair at the meeting of the alderman Monday evening. Considerable routine business was transacted. The charges against Supt. Ross, having been shown to be absolutely groundless, and evidently prompted by a desire to smother the record of a clean and straight-forward public official, the highway committee completely exonerated him and condemned the parties who accused him of irregularities in office in the interests of his own and other profits. The new street asked for by Mrs. D. C. Heath and others, to connect the north and south boundaries of the city, received the endorsement of the highway committee, that body recommending its laying out and the acceptance of the gifts of money and land offered for the improvement by the abutters and citizens.

Alderman Plummer spoke emphatically relative to pest holes, referring to such places as Boyd's pond before it was filled in, and other material breeding spots. They should be wiped out of existence, he said, and a liberal expenditure, if necessary, made to get rid of them in the interests of the health of citizens. Under the head of appointments, Mayor Fenno started the principal halting by announcing the following as special police officers without pay: James A. Mills, Ward Six; Sylvester J. Burke, Charles W. Doherty, Clark E. Fisher, Ward Two; William F. Compton, Ward Four. The appointments were confirmed by the board. Communications were received from the school board asking for an additional appropriation of $750 for account of school incidentals; from the board of health, recommending the laying of a sewer in Clinton street, and from the Land and Harbor Commissioners relative to a proposed lock and dam in the Charles river and notifying the city council of a hearing on same in the green room of the State House, Oct. 3.

PETITIONS.

Alderman Rumery presented a petition of the Master Plumbers of the city, requesting the appointment within a month of an inspector of plumbing, agreeably to requirements of statute, and further asking, in the event of delay beyond that time in taking action, that the petitioners be granted a hearing. The petition was signed by T. J. Hartnett, H. W. Pierce, and practically all the boss plumbers of the city. It was referred to the committee.

A petition for gas lamps on Elm road and Gramere street was referred to the committee on fuel and street lights.

A petition of the Newton & Watertown Street Railway Company asking for new locations for tracks was referred to the street railway committee, and a hearing on same ordered for Monday evening, Oct. 15. The petitioners desire locations for the extension of their tracks, beginning at the corner of Walnut and Watertown street in Newtonville, at a junction of the tracks of the company located at that point, to a line in a westerly direction through Watertown street to West Newton; thence through Washington street in a westerly direction to Newton Lower Falls, to dividing line between the city of Newton and the town of Wellesley. A location is, also, asked for an extension of their tracks, as now laid on Walnut street in Newtonville, from their present terminus in a southerly direction on Walnut street to the tracks of the Newton & Boston Street Company on said Walnut street; also the right to make a rail connection at the corner of Washington and Walnut streets in Newtonville with the tracks of the Newton Street Railway Company, now located on Washington street; also the right to erect the necessary poles and wires for the operation of their cars by electricity on said locations as petitioned for. What the railroad people most desire to do, it will be seen, is to cross the tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad on Walnut street. It is quite an undertaking, but it seems the only way to make the connecting street railway link between the north and south sides of the city, now that the school street crossing the grades, has, apparently, died a natural death.

The petition of W. L. Thompson and others for the laying out and acceptance of Boylston street was referred to the highway committee; also a petition signed by residents of Eldridge street in opposition to widening there for a proposed boulevard.

HEARINGS.

Several hearings were given on orders authorizing laying of sewers and other improvements. Mr. Bright appeared at the hearing given on the petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., asking for locations for poles and the necessary wires on Auburndale avenue, which he explained were required to furnish telephone service at the city stables. Mayor Fenno read a letter from Wm. Quinn, who offered no objection to the scheme of placing poles on Auburndale avenue, but who expressed the hope that they would be put up on the north side of the street, where the least damage to shade trees would result. The hearing was closed.

REPORTS AND ORDERS.

The joint standing committee on highways, to whom the petition of D. C. Heath and others requesting the city to extend, widen and resurface Appleton street, reported in favor of the project. The report was accepted. An order followed by Alderman Bothfield was subsequently adopted providing for the acceptance by the city of the gifts of money and land offered by abutters and citizens interested in the Appleton street improvement.

Orders were adopted authorizing the laying out of Hillside road from Bowdoin to Walnut streets; giving notice to Elijah Brigham and others of the intent of the city to lay out, extend, widen and resurface Appleton street, from Washington street to the central boulevard and appointed a hearing thereon for Monday evening, Oct. 15; appropriating $1500, to be added to the appropriation for drains and culverts, for the construction of a drain and culvert in Woodbine street; $200 to be added to $1068.40 received from abutters, the whole to be applied for laying out Austin street; authorizing the highway committee to construct a drain from Centre to Elmwood streets, at a cost not to exceed $15,000 and providing for the issuing of a ten year note to cover the cost of the work, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

Alderman Bothfield said that the necessity of a drain from Centre to Elmwood street seemed urgent. After heavy rain falls, water to the depth of from 2 to 3 feet found its way into cellars of houses on Church and Centre street.

On motion of Alderman Hunt, an innholder's license was granted to Wellington Tracy.

On motion of Alderman Bothfield an order passed authorizing the highway committee to contract for the improvement of Waban street and Walnut park at a cost not to exceed $1500.

On motion of Alderman Hunt an order passed authorizing the laying of a sewer in Austin street, from Mt. Vernon to Greenwood avenue.

Alderman Roffe presented the petition of Newton Centre residents for relief on account of annoyance and damage sustained on account of surface drainage in the vicinity of Pleasant street. It was referred to the committee on sewers. Inn licenses were granted to William Young and Simon Catta.

On motion of Alderman Rumery, the order appropriating $500 for the improvement of the bed and brook of Boyd's pond, was taken from the table. The Ward Two alderman then moved the passage of the order. He said that the money was required to deepen and straighten the brook. The water was very low, and numerous cases of malaria had been reported in the locality about the pond.

Alderman Plummer—The work should be done at once. The committee on parks is strongly in favor of it. I believe that expenditures in the interests of health are of paramount importance. The impression, somehow, is going abroad that Newton is getting to be an unhealthy place to live in. We want to make the city attractive and free from such pest holes as that malaria spot once known as Boyd's pond. It has been filled in and now the brook at its outlet needs deepening and straightening.

After some further discussion, the order was passed unanimously. At this point, a recess was taken.

UPON REASSEMBLING.

Mayor Fenno announced the appointment of Arthur Muldoon as private sewer layer. Mr. Muldoon was confirmed.

Alderman Bothfield next submitted the following report for the highway committee on the case of Supt. Ross who was charged with favoritism in office:

The joint standing committee on highways to whom was referred petition No. 17707 of John Leakey, et al., relative to improper employment of teams and labor on the boulevard, beg leave to report as follows:

The petition sets forth "that teams and men have been employed from other towns adjoining Newton, and that the superintendent of streets and assistant superintendent have let out certain work and employ certain labor with a view of profit to themselves."

The petitioners, being represented by counsel, were given a hearing on Friday evening, Sept. 28. Of the ten petitioners seven only were present. One other, John Cain, had previously presented to the committee his sworn affidavit, hereto attached, in which he declared that his signature to the petition was a forgery, and that he did not believe that the superintendent of streets is letting the work to his own pecuniary benefit.

Gregory Burns, John Leakey and Thomas Mullen, the only persons desiring to be heard, testified that they had no reason to believe that the superintendent of streets or assistant superintendent were in the least guilty of the serious charge preferred and that they signed the paper without knowing what it contained. Their complaint was simply that their teams were not hired as frequently as they considered their share. The pay-rolls however disproved this.

This petition originating evidently in the spite and vindictiveness of some person or persons unknown to the committee; executed, as professed, in ignorance of its contents; with one, at least, of its signatures a forgery, and containing not a single statement or charge that could be proved, is a paper so outrageous in its nature, and so wicked in its intent that its promoters and signers should receive the severest condemnation.

Mr. Ross and his assistants are completely exonerated and the committee take this opportunity to publicly express their appreciation of the ability, the integrity and the singleness of purpose of the superintendent of streets.

JOHN CAIN'S AFFIDAVIT.

To whom it may concern:

I, John Cain of Newton, Massachusetts, having this day been shown a paper purporting to be a petition (No. 17707) of John Leakey, et al., about employment on the Newton Boulevard, and for hearing on the Superintendent of Streets letting work to his own profit, and said petition bearing my name, I hereby on oath declare that said petition was never before this day shown to me, or seen by me, nor did I ever sign said paper, and I have no reason to believe that the Superintendent of Streets of Newton, viz. Mr. Charles Ross, is letting work to result in his pecuniary benefit in any manner.

JOHN CAIN. Sept. 28, 1894.

Then personally appeared John Cain, to me known to be the person making the above statement, and signed said statement, and made oath that said statement is true. ISAAC F. KINGSBURY, Justice of the Peace.

The report was accepted.

On a motion of Alderman Rumery an order was adopted appropriating $200 for the purchase of a horse for the use of the fire department in Newton Centre.

Alderman Hunt presented a petition of W. F. Harbach for a drain in Berwick road. It was referred to the sewer committee.

Following the passage of two routine orders for laying out sewers and levying assessments thereon, another recess was taken.

At 8.45 o'clock the board again reassembled and on motion of Alderman Roffe, the petition of Joseph Kilburn asking for a sixth-class liquor license, was taken from the table and a hearing ordered thereon for Monday evening, Oct. 15. The board then adjourned.

$100 Re rd. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Quarterly Meeting of Trustees of Newton Hospital.

The quarterly meeting of the trustees of the Newton Hospital was called to order at 3.15 o'clock on Friday the 28th ult., with President J. R. Leeson in the chair and twenty-two members in attendance, viz: Messdames M. L. and J. N. Bacon, Blake, Gould, Hovey, Lowell, Mason, Morse and Laine, and Messrs. Burr, Ellison, Emerson, Tyler, Crockett, Seales, Leeson, Pettie, Pratt, Shinn, Frisbie and Thayer.

The records of the last meeting were read and on motion approved and filed.

The treasurer, Mr. George S. Bullens, then submitted his report, showing receipts from care and treatment of patients during the quarter of $2,470.06. From other sources, $703.15, Expenditures, $4,322.05. Balance on hand, $1,381.18. On motion of Mr. Burr the report was accepted and filed. The chair called attention to the need of close economy for the remainder of the year, the balance in treasurer's hands being hardly enough for one month's expenses.

On motion of Dr. Seales it was voted that Mr. Ellison and the clerk prepare a statement of the work done by the hospital for city patients during the year for the use of the finance committee. A detailed report of the executive committee was next made by Dr. Shinn as follows: Number of patients admitted during quarter, 108; number discharged, 103; number of deaths, 7; patients remaining Sept. 1st, 33.

Gifts were received from friends of the hospital as follows: From Mr. Edward W. Pope a wheeled stretcher; from Joel Goldthwaite & Co., through Mr. Blodgett, a floor covering for deadening noise in corridors and from Mrs. Bullivant an invalid's chair.

The resignation of Dr. Loring from the hospital staff was reluctantly accepted by the committee and Dr. A. S. Wiley appointed in his place. The completion of the refurnishing of the rooms in the private ward, under the direction of the special committee appointed for the purpose at the last meeting, was reported, also that Mrs. E. H. Mason has refurnished the room formerly fitted up by her mother, Mrs. Nickerson, and that a reduction of 12 1-2 per cent in the cost of ice has been made by the Newton Ice Company. On motion the report was accepted and filed.

The chair then announced that some misunderstanding had arisen, regarding the minimum charge for patients in private wards, and it was suggested that a new card be issued making this point so clear as to prevent future trouble. In this connection it was stated that the prices at Newton Hospital range from $15 to $40 per week, at the Massachusetts General Hospital as high as $75 per week is charged, the rooms and attendance being virtually the same in both hospitals. The chairman next reported observations on training of nurses in England and said the training of American nurses is considered more thorough, though the period of instruction in England is longer. He stated further that in London there is a bureau or headquarters for nurses out of employment where they can find support until re-engaged, suggested something of the kind for nurses here, and expressed the opinion that it might become advisable to lengthen the term of preparation to three years in order to guard against an oversupply of graduates as well as to insure increased efficiency.

Mr. Lucius G. Pratt, chairman of the managers of the Nurses Home and Training School, then submitted his report as follows: The number of pupil nurses is twenty-six and the examinations show that the work is extremely satisfactory. The health of the nurses, since occupancy of the Home, is much improved, there having been practically no sickness among them.

Miss Connan, a highly valued graduate, who was so seriously injured in a railway accident while enroute to her home in Nova Scotia, is reported out of danger, but will be badly disfigured and will probably lose the sight of an eye. An early visit from her is hoped for, and an assurance given of such kind attentions as one of her noble calling and self-sacrificing character deserves.

All the furnished rooms and beds at the Home are in use. The order of the executive committee to furnish five more rooms is not yet carried out. One hundred and fifty dollars, enough to furnish two double rooms, has been collected and is now in the hands of the treasurer, and if the $250, needed to furnish the other three rooms, is not forthcoming, the money on hand will be used to furnish two rooms for immediate use. On motion the meeting adjourned at 4.30 o'clock.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness. This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the cough has developed it will prevent the attack. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. MRS. D. C. HEATH'S PLAN FOR A NEW AVENUE CONNECTING THE CENTRAL BOULEVARD AT HOMER STREET AND THE CHARLES RIVER EMBANKMENT—LEGENDS OF CHEESECAKE AND ITS RELATIONS TO THE ANCIENT CITY OF NORUMBEGA.

An illustration of what may be accomplished by a woman is furnished by Mrs. D. C. Heath of this city who has successfully carried through the initiatory plans of an important public improvement.

The location of an electric street railway on Walnut street suggested to her the necessity of providing a safer avenue of connection between the north and south sides of the city. She, therefore, went to work and evolved a route for a street 50 feet in width, starting from the central boulevard at Homer street; thence through Appleton street, which is to be widened, across the Boston & Albany railroad tracks to Lowell street, and on to the Charles river embankment. The new way runs parallel with Walnut street. Although starting from the central boulevard at Homer street, it is intended to connect with an avenue leading to the Newton cemetery, providing a quiet and suitable approach to that beautiful place of sepulchre. The idea is to diverge toward the east at Hill street from Appleton, constructing the new road in the valley, in part for economic reasons, that route calling for less expenditure, and because of the great advantage in securing a safer approach to the cemetery. It is intended to locate what will be termed a lot owner's gate at the cemetery, opening on the proposed new avenue, through which all funeral processions may enter. Mr. E. B. Haskell, who was one of the members of the Newton boulevard commission, is strongly in favor of Mrs. Heath's plan. It is his opinion that it will give an attractive and safe street running north and south from Homer street to the Charles river.

The project is not an expensive one and the entire cost to the city, it is thought, will not exceed $10,000. To extend Appleton street, it will be necessary to remove one dwelling house, now located directly opposite the terminus of that thoroughfare. It is owned by Mr. A. P. C. Griffin who has agreed to accept, on a basis of exchange, another location. From the abutters, Mrs. Heath has secured the releases of the various pieces of land which will be required for the widening of Appleton street. The abutters and citizens interested in the improvement have also subscribed one-half of the amount necessary to purchase the vacant land between the Griffin house and Austin street. It will be readily seen, therefore, that there is no obstacle in the way of carrying the plan through. There is no opposition to it; it is conceded by every one to be a most desirable thing to do and even the theory that it would prevent the widening of Walnut street in the future has exploded into thin air. The owners of realty on Walnut street are fully in sympathy with Mrs. Heath's plan, and the city will avail itself of the opportunity afforded for laying out a roadway that will be of great public benefit in providing a relief for the thoroughfares now inaccessible, especially for pleasure driving, on account of the danger from electric cars. In this city, the greatest use by the street railway people to avoid frightening horses, but it is a regrettable fact that the highways in which tracks are laid are extremely narrow and that it is, frequently, the unexpected that happens, even where exceptional precautions are taken to prevent mishap.

There is one other point, too, that should be taken into consideration in estimating the advantages of the plan suggested by Mrs. Heath. The streets in this city have been laid out on a sort of "no-man's-land" principle. Very little thought was given, or would appear to future requirements. From Centre street, with the single exception of Walnut, there is no roadway running north and south through the city for a distance of two miles. With the great territorial areas of the Newtons and the necessity that admit of a place being brought in scattered sections in closer relation, the one with the other, it would seem an example of penny wise and pound foolish policy to throw away the chance offered for another intermediate connecting highway between the north and south boundaries of the city by neglecting to secure the land and contributions of money offered for that purpose upon the most favorable terms. It will not be necessary for the city to proceed at once with the building of the street, if economic reasons should prove a sufficient argument for delay. The plan is really required, now, is to secure the site for the proposed highway and the release to the city of the land needed to enable it to lay out the street when it can be done with due regard to the interests of taxpayers and the comfort and convenience of the public.

Mrs. Heath has clearly furnished the means toward that end. Her labor has been purely in the interests of the common weal and has involved much patient and persistent effort. It is to be hoped that such a commendable enterprise will meet with all the success that it deserves and that the realization of her well conceived project will be attained.

There seems to be hardly a doubt, now, that such will be the fact, for the highway committee through its chairman, Alderman Bothfeld, reported in favor of it at the meeting of the upper branch of the city council Monday evening and a hearing on the taking of the land necessary for the widening, extension and re-location of Appleton street was ordered for Monday evening, Oct. 15. In furtherance of the project, an order, too, was adopted, authorizing the acceptance by the city of the pieces of land and contributions of money agreeably to the propositions of the petitioners requesting the city to carry out the improvement. If the common council concurs, the new highway is assured unless some unexpected opposition develops at the hearing and there seems to be very little likelihood of that.

There is a bit of interesting history associated with the Cheesecake brook, (according to Prof. E. N. Horsford, one of the tributaries of the Charles river used by the Norsemen who settled the ancient city of Norumbega). Prof. Horsford, it will be remembered, discovered on the banks of the Charles the site of Fort Norumbega, occupied for some time by the Bretons some 400 years ago and many years earlier still built and occupied as the seat of extensive fisheries and a settlement by the Norsemen. Watertown, he says was the site of the ancient city of Norumbega. There were, of course, who when he first boldly asserted that fact, were inclined to doubt the accuracy of his conclusions, but today the foremost historians, including Prof. Fiske, declare that he was right, and that the accuracy of the researches he made leading up to the establishing of the much disputed location of "the lost city" cannot be questioned.

The Cheesecake, then, was once navigable as far as Davenport rock and was the way for small craft, in the days of the Norsemen, to the forest regions. Here the Muskrat wood was collected and the logs sent floating down the stream and ultimately to the Charles. Dams and ponds were necessary at the mouth of the stream to prevent the logs from going down the Charles without a convoy and out to sea to be lost. Evidence of these ponds and dams are to be found. Canals, deltas, ditches and boom dams in Watertown, the Newtons and territory further inland, from the river, are monuments testifying to the presence of the Norsemen on every square mile of the basin of the Charles river.

It would be appropriate under the circumstances to give the new avenue some fitting name serving to perpetuate the memory of these discoveries of an early settlement by the Norsemen of the region in the vicinity of Cheesecake once, we must believe, utilized as a canal to the river, and that of Erikson road has been suggested. It is associated with the discoverer and first explorer of the Charles river and brings to mind the legends of the ancient Vinland and the ancient Norumbega.

The English Literature Room.

(From the High School Review.)

Among the many interesting movements of the present time, the purpose of which is to educate the people into a sense of the beautiful, the true, and the good in nature and human life, is the Massachusetts Society for the Promotion of Good Citizenship. During the spring of 1894 a course of lectures was given at the Old South Meeting House, the subjects of which represent the purpose of the society: "The Lesson of the White City," "Boards of Beauty," "Municipal Art," "Art Museums and how to bring them home to the People," "Art in the Public Schools," and "Boston the City of God."

The lecture which interests us most, perhaps, is that upon "Art in the Public Schools." It will be quoted from Mr. Edwin D. Mead's essay introductory to this lecture in the New England Magazine for May. "The public school is the place to which we should turn chief attention in our effort to promote a more beautiful public life in America, just as we recently had occasion to say in these columns that it is the place to which we must certainly turn chief attention in our effort for a better political life. The school house and the school grounds should be beautiful, and the child should be surrounded by beauty in the school room from first to last. It is chiefly the cause of art and beauty which the public must be made to serve in the schools. We believe that here we stand at the beginning of a new era in our American school life. The good, the true, the beautiful—those were the words the old Greeks loved to use; and they loved to use them together. We have too long divorced goodness and truth from beauty in life and in our culture. Our life can never be complete, never be rational or righteous, till it is beautiful."

We believe that it is possible for every school in the state to do something to bring about a more beautiful public and private life, by beginning at once to make its rooms and grounds more attractive. When a genuine interest is awakened the means will not be wanting. In our own school the work has taken shape in the furnishing of an English room, in which the exercises in English literature shall take place and which shall be filled with whatever may tend to awaken an interest in the subject and in the lives of those who have made the English the richest and most beautiful literature in the world. Much of the space once used for blackboards has been covered with cardboards of paper and hung with photographs of the authors, and of places connected with their life and work. The pupils have interested themselves in this work to such an extent that funds have been raised for the purchase of a large number of pictures. The work began in June and is still in progress, and the end is not yet in sight. In several instances former pupils have given pictures, among them, Carlyle, Phillips Brooks, Tennyson, George William Curtis, E. C. Stedman and Notman's group of American authors. The portraits of English authors and photographs of places were imported unmounted. A uniform system of framing has been adopted for both the portraits and the photographs in white oak. Each picture is mounted upon white cardboard so that the names may be written upon it, if a poet's name and a quotation illustrating the author's relation to the scene, if a photograph.

The following is a list of the works at present ready or nearly ready:

Portraits (American)—Emerson, Hawthorne, Lowell, Bryant, Longfellow, Whitier, Holmes, Welles, Phillips Brooks, George William Curtis, E. C. Stedman.

Photographs—(Emerson) His home, the Minute Man, Concord Bridge, (Hawthorne) His home at Concord, Blithedale, Great Stone Face; (Longfellow) Home at Cambridge, Wayside Inn, Old North Church; (Whitier) Home at Oak Knoll; (Welles) Home at High street, Boston; (Lowell) Home at Cambridge.

Portraits (English)—Shakespeare, Milton, Chaucer, Burns, Tennyson, Macaulay, De Quincey, Thackeray, Dickens, George Eliot, Carlyle, Wordsworth.

Photographs—Shakespeare's Birthplace; Room in which Shakespeare was born; Grammar School; Trinity church, Nave; Chancel and Shakespeare's Tomb; On the Avon; Charleotte Hall; Anne Hathaway's Cottage; Mary Arden's Cottage; Memorial Theatre; Milton dictating Paradise Lost; Chaucer's Canterbury Pilgrims; Tennyson's Home; Freshwater, Clevedon church, where Hallam is buried; "Ridge of a Noble Down;" Burns' Cottage at Ayr; Old Brig o' Doon; Burns' Mausoleum, Dumfries; Scott's home, Abbotsford; By Loch

Katrine; Newark Castle; Branksome Hall; Norham Castle; Wordsworth's Home, Rydal Mount; Loughrigg; Cockermouth Castle; Windermere; Grasmere. The work thus begun can be extended indefinitely, and it is hoped that friends of the project who have not contributed will be interested to do so.

When the room is completed there will be appropriate exercises, to which the citizens of Newton will be invited; addresses will be given by those interested in the subject of Art in the Public Schools.

CHARGES AGAINST SUPT. OF STREETS CHARLES ROSS UNFOUNDED.

A large crowd of contractors and other parties interested in the letting of contracts by the highway department for work in the new boulevard filled the aldermanic chamber last Friday evening. It was attracted by the prospect of some sensational developments in the hearing granted John Leahy and others in a petition of an investigation of the acts of Charles Ross, superintendent of streets, and his assistants.

The petitioners were the masters, most of whom reside in West Newton, whose alleged petition stated in effect that there was reason for dissatisfaction and complaint on their part, and cause for action on the part of the city government by reason of the acts and improper conduct of the superintendent of streets. The petition went on to state that all Newton laborers were entitled to a share of the work on the new boulevard, and charged Supt. Ross with improper conduct and with letting contracts for work for his own benefit.

The hearing resulted in a complete vindication of Mr. Ross, and the committee so reported to the board of aldermen Monday evening.

HOLLIS AND HARWOOD.

REPRESENTATIVE CANDIDATES NOMINATED BY NEWTON REPUBLICANS.

The 17th Middlesex Republican representative convention was held in the City Hall, Wednesday evening. It was called to order by E. B. Wilson of the ward and city committee, and organized by the choice of Thomas Weston chairman and R. C. Bridgman secretary.

E. L. Pickard, W. S. Slooem and J. T. Allen were appointed a committee on credentials, and reported the full number of delegates, 45, from the various wards of Newton, present.

An informal ballot resulted as follows: A. L. Harwood 35, J. Edward Hollis 21, S. E. Howard 25, W. C. Bates 4.

The formal ballot which followed gave Harwood 34 votes, Hollis 26, Howard 25 and Bates 4 votes. Mr. A. L. Harwood and Mr. J. Edward Hollis were then declared nominated.

It was voted to appoint the Republican ward and city committee a district committee for the ensuing year.

Mr. J. Edward Hollis is one of the most prominent citizens of this city, and a leading business man of Boston. He has had a successful public career in the city government, and is now chairman of the school board. He has several times been mentioned as a possible mayoralty candidate.

Mr. A. L. Harwood is an old resident of Newton Centre, and has long been one of the leading Republicans of the city. He was for many years the principal of the Mason grammar school. He now has an extensive law practice. He served two terms on the Newton school committee.

Mr. Oliver Shaw for Senator.

The Second Middlesex Republican senatorial convention, held in the Watertown town hall Saturday afternoon, nominated Mr. Oliver Shaw of Watertown.

Mr. R. F. Richardson of Lexington was chairman, and Col. D. W. Farquhar of this city, secretary. Delegates were present as follows: Newton, 28; Waltham, 23; Watertown, 6; Lexington, 2; Concord, 2; Belmont, 3.

Col. E. Benton of Belmont was chosen a member of the state committee for the district, and the chairman of the various committees were constituted a district committee.

Mr. Shaw thanked the Republicans for the honor they had conferred upon him and the town of Watertown, and pledged himself to the hearty support of the principles of the party and the honor of the commonwealth.

Its Mission Fulfilled.

The Newton Tariff Reform Association held its annual meeting at Allen's school, West Newton, Monday evening. There were about twenty members present. The president, Mr. E. B. Haskell, presided and in the absence of Mr. Bridgman Mr. John Cutler was elected secretary pro tem. The president in opening the meeting said that in his opinion there was nothing for the club to do at present. Public sentiment is stronger for tariff reform than ever before and the practical workings of free wool will undoubtedly do much to educate the people to a true understanding of the tariff question.

The new tariff, while not in all ways acceptable to tariff reformers, is still a step in the proper direction and likely to lead to other legislation more satisfactory to those favoring tariff reform. Mr. Smith agreed with the president and suggested that the club adjourn, subject to the call of the chair in case a time should come for it to do further work. Mr. Fitz and Mr. Allen agreed with the sentiments already expressed and on a motion by Mr. Smith the club adjourned sine die subject to the call of the chair.

Murray's Carriage Manufactory

Having purchased the horse shoeing branch of the business formerly conducted by Mr. P. A. Murray, we desire to state that we have worked at his stand several years and established a first-class reputation and we therefore feel assured of a continuation of your patronage. The shop in which we will continue the business is fitted up exclusively for horse shoeing and we can guarantee to give better satisfaction than ever. Special attention will be given to over reaching, interfering and tender footed horses, and also gentlemen owning trotting horses, can have them shod in any of the various styles of weighted shoes desirable for track work.

HOLLIS AND HARWOOD.

The Republicans have nominated Messrs. J. Edward Hollis of Newton and
A. L. Harwood of Newton Centre for representatives. Both are excellent men, of the high character which Newton usually selects to represent her, and they may be expected to exert a good deal of influence upon legislation.Mr. Hollis has been an influential and popular member of the City Council, and could have been mayor if he had been willing to accept a nomination, so much confidence did the people repose in him.
For several years he has been a member of the school board, and is now chairman of that body. In this position he has not been so popular, because, somehow, members of the school board are seldom popular in Newton. Last year he was very much interested in getting the law through the legislature, to have school boards have entire charge of appropriating and expending money, but fortunately the law did not pass. Here in Newton the school board has been so extravagant in its demands, and our schools cost so much more per scholar than the schools of any other city, that there was general opposition to such a law, and we hope Mr. Hollis will not assume that his election will mean that the people have come round to endorse such a project. Possibly the possession of such a power would bring with it a sense of prudence and economy, but the people would rather see evidence of such a feeling before the law is passed.
In all other respects, Mr. Hollis is an un-exceptionable candidate, and perhaps he will be able to set the minds of people at rest by defining his position on this question before the election.Mr. A. L. Harwood is a retired member of the school board, where he had the distinction of being popular on account of his following the wishes of the majority of the people, and in character and ability he is the equal of any representative we have had. What his position is on the matter in question we have not been able to discover.It may be thought significant that two men who either have been or are upon
the school board should have been selected this year, especially as it is said that those interested in the passage of the law referred to, have announced their intention of pushing it this year, but possibly that has nothing to do with their selection.It has been an unusual year, from the lack of candidates for the honor, as generally we have a number of men willing to sacrifice their own wishes and accept a nomination, but this year it looked at one time as though a draft would have to be resorted to.The Republican convention should have exacted some kind of pledges from their candidates, or at least ascertained their position on the question, for if Newton sends two men in favor of such a law, it will be understood that Newton endorses it, and if the law should be passed, the entire tax levy would not more than satisfy the wishes of the school board, from present indications,
and all other departments of city work
would have to suspend for lack of funds.
It is well to go into the election with our eyes open to all the questions involved.The GRAPHIC has received a great number of endorsements in its opposition to the building of any more "boulevards"
for street railways in Newton, and especially in regard to the proposed slashing up of Eldridge street property and private estates for the newest scheme. If people wish to develop their land by building wide streets through it,
and will construct them without any cost to the city, that is a thing to which
no one will object, but before the city engages in the work, there are several matters of paramount importance to be attended to. One is the widening of Washington street, which is now a dangerous thoroughfare, and another is the widening of Tremont street so that the Oak Square cars can come up to Newton, and a third is the completion of the Central Boulevard to the Charles River. Other schemes for the expenditure of city money should be left until these are finished.The Newtonville & Watertown Railway Company are branching out in all directions and have asked for a location
from the corner of Watertown and Walnut streets to Lower Falls, and also for a location across the B. & A. tracks at Newtonville to connect with the Newton & Boston Street Railway. The board ofaldermen ought to grant the latter at once as that might stir up the Boston & Albany to do something to abolish the grade crossings. About the location on Watertown street, from Walnut to West Newton, there does not seem to be so much urgency, as the Newtonville & Watertown can get to West Newton by using the tracks on Washington street,
and the distance is only a little longer.
Mr. H. B. Parker as President of the Newton Street Railway, could lease the tracks to himself as president of the Newtonville & Watertown road, and thus all the danger be kept on one street.
That part of Watertown street is the only avenue from West Newton to Newton, for those who drive and wish to avoid the electric cars. The present policy of granting no more street railway locations on narrow streets is an excellent one to follow, although possibly an exception might be made in regard to Washington street, from West Newton to Lower Falls.The prospect of any relief from the dangerous grade crossings seems as far off as ever, as no one hears of any interest taken in the matter by the highest city officials. Are they waiting for more fatal accidents? There came near being one at Newtonville the other day,
when one of the gates refusing to come down, a party of bicyclists, including several ladies, got on the track in front of an express, and one of the ladies
saved herself by only about two feet.
At the Centre street crossing narrow escapes are of daily occurrence and two girls this week stepped back from the track just in time to escape an express,
being warned by the frantic appeals of the flagman. Such things happen every day and it is only by good luck that fatalities are averted. Did not the City Council petition for a commission, some months ago? We believe they did, and also that nothing has been done by the city to urge the matter forward. If anything is ever to be done it will have to be made an issue in the city election, and get men who will push the matter.The latest rumor about the mayoralty is that some men are talking of trying to induce Hon. J. R. Leeson to accept the nomination. As Mr. Leeson is heartily in favor of Alderman Bothfeld, and has made no secret of his belief that the latter has earned the honor by his faithful and earnest work for the city, as well as for the ability he has displayed, there is very little prospect that Mr. Leeson
could be induced to run. The sentiment seems to be general that Mr. Both-feld is the coming mayor. Evidently there are a few who do not like the idea,
and they are having rather hard luck in their search for an opposition candidate,
but all who have a real interest in the welfare of the city, and have paid any attention to affairs the past few years,
seem to be unanimous in favor of Mr.
Bothfeld.The Councilor Convention for this district met in Boston on Wednesday and spent the day in fruitless efforts to nominate a successor to Hon. J. R. Leeson.
Ten ballots were taken, and six candidates divided the votes. Senator Burnham of Revere was the A. P. A. candidate, and on the eighth ballot received 108 votes, 115 being necessary for a choice. Mr. Burnham was the only candidate present, and took charge of his forces, being assisted by Editor Mc-Creedy of the American Protestant. On the ninth ballot Senator Swallow of Charlestown led with 106 votes. After the tenth ballot Jerry McCarthy succeeded in securing an adjournment, much against the wishes of the A. P. A. Burnham men.THE NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB,
at its annual meeting this week, decided that the new tariff bill had made such substantial progress towards tariff reform, that there was now little for the club to do, and so it adjourned sine die, subject to the call of the chair. President Haskell stated that in free wool the people were given such an object lesson
in tariff reform that other measures would follow in due course. It might be said that wool has begun to recover from the extreme low prices that prevailed under the McKinley bill.Mr. OLIVER SHAW of Watertown has been nominated for Senator from this district, by the Republicans, and his election is a matter of course. Mr. Shaw is a prominent business man, having for many years been connected with the Walker & Pratt Manufacturing Company, and can be depended on to favor
good legislation. Meanwhile Watertown feels very proud in having at last got the senatorship.The 11th District Congressional Convention was held in Boston yesterday, and Mr. R. H. Gardiner of Newton was chosen as chairman and made a very enthusiastic speech. Gen. Draper was renominated by acclamation. Messrs. R.
H. Gardiner, Samuel L. Powers and W.
B. Atherton were appointed on the district committee, following which Gen.
Draper made a speech, accepting the honor.The rumors of trouble at the Middlesex County Convention from A. P. A. delegates did not materialize, as the convention got through with its work in tenminutes, the proceedings being of a perfunctory character. Mr. Hayden was renominated for treasurer without opposition, and all the nominations were made by acclamation. They include, Capt. Joseph P. Thompson of Lowell
for register of deeds, Northern district;
Chas. B. Stevens, Southern district;
Samuel Upham of Waltham for county commissioner.The Aldermen had a special meeting Monday night to draw more unfortunate to serve on the jury.

At the Newton Club.

A regular meeting of the members of the Club will be held Saturday evening, Oct. 20,
at 8 o'clock, to choose a committee to nominate officers for the year ensuing, and transact such business as may properly
come before the meeting.The executive committee has provided a series of entertainments for the coming season, a full list of which will be sent to members in the near future. The opening reception will take Nov. 14.A series of assemblies are announced for the evenings of Dec. 5, Jan. 1, Feb. 6, Mar. 8, and April 3, the assembly upon the evening of Jan. 1 to be in the nature of a dinner dance.Whist parties will be given upon the last Monday of each of the following dates:
Oct. 24, Nov. 23, Dec. 19, Jan. 16, Feb. 20,
and Mar. 20. In addition to the above, a series of twelve entertainments for ladies upon alternate Monday afternoons has been arranged, beginning Nov. 5, and consisting of lectures, musicals and readings.A series of Symphony Concerts by the Germania Symphony Orchestra and the Mrs. Sherman Raymond Orchestra will be given on these dates: Nov. 21, Germania Orchestra, Miss Rose Stewart, soloist;
Dec. 12, Germania Orchestra, Mr. Max Heinrich, soloist; Jan. 9, Mrs. Sherman
Raymond Orchestra, Miss Jennie Corcoran, soloist; Jan. 30, Germania Orchestra, Miss Gertrude May Steln, soloist.The tournaments in whist, bowling, billiards and pool have been arranged, and notice will be given to members by the committees in charge of these respective departments.

—Reginald W. P. Brown, left half back of the Harvard university eleven, is doing great work this season. He played a strong game for Newton high last year and seems to be one of the coming young players who will win renown in one of the greatest and most popular of all outdoor college sports. He was the life of the Harvard-Exeter match Wednesday and scored two touch downs.
—"The price of progress" was the topic of Mr. Priest's sermon at the Universalist church last Sunday morning. There is nothing free in this world but the love of God, which comes freely without price and is as abundant as the air we breathe. Everything else on this earth must be paid for. Only the man who climbs over the rough ways gets the fine prospect from the top of the hill, and having paid the cost, he enjoys it. The steeper and more arduous the way, the greater the reward. Those who live in poverty, and are content to stay in that condition are the truly poor. Their very content with the condition they are in, makes them a drag in the progress of the world. It matters not that a man may have little if he has the spirit to get something better, and is willing to make the needed effort. Look at the Pilgrims and their condition when they landed that bleak, cold winter at Plymouth. They were not content to stay in that way, and by steady effort and persisted effort made the progress that has resulted in the great achievement of settling all this mighty land. No one is more interested in the success of the cause of suffrage for women than I am, yet it would have been a calamity to have had that right given to women ten or even fifteen years ago. They were not ready for it. The needed study and education had not been received. To-day the conditions are different. Agitation of the question has compelled women to prepare themselves to exercise their right. All over the country the custodians of the libraries will tell you that they have had to take down the books on political economy, on the science of government and other kindred works, from the upper shelves on the men's side of the library, and place them on the lower shelves on the women's side, so great has been the demand. Progress has steadily been made in that direction and that too from the right direction—from within. It was not a holiday picnic that Jesus was inviting people to when He said, "No man having put his hand to the plow and looking back is fit for the Kingdom of God." He well knew what was before him, and invited only those who could lay aside all the world to be his disciples.

—Mr. James Magnoly has lately purchased a house on Washington street.
—Miss Mabel Fisher of Brooks avenue, has accepted a position in Frank L. Tainter's store.
—Mrs. Henry Cotting of Somerville was the guest last week of Mrs. W. H. Chase, Austin street.
—Officer N. P. Bosworth has returned from a two weeks vacation. He visited Portland and took in the places about the Kennebec river.
—The citizens of this city will be pleased to learn that a series of three illustrated lectures will probably be given under the auspices of Mt. Ida Council, No. 1247 R. A., during November, upon Japan, Mexico and Imperial India, at popular prices.
—A cow, the property of Mr. P. C. Bridgman, held sway here Monday afternoon and furnished more excitement than an army of salvations. For bovine friskiness, nothing has been furnished in this vicinity that would pretend to equal it. The cow was mad clear through. It strayed away Sunday night and its owner learning that it was in a pasture off Sargent street Monday afternoon, decided to wind up the critter's career. He sent for a man from the abattoir who came up with a Winchester in response to Mr. Bridgman's summons. Just about as he got ready to draw bead, the cow made a dash for him and knocked him down. He fired three shots and got on his feet again only to go down again by another fierce onslaught. From his lofty position on the cow's back, he let go two more shots, but the cow seemed bullet proof. A crowd gathered, of course, and the crazed beast started on the dead run, making Cabot street and taking refuge in a yard. From there, it was driven to the brush woods off Harvard street where the volley of bullets were discharged at the critter. Mr. E. H. Pierce fired six shots from a 44 calibre revolver. The cow still lived and galloped to Spruce street where it became the target for more shots from pistols and rifles. It was about dusk then and the beast succeeded in eluding its pursuers. Word was sent to headquarters and the patrol wagon came down with six officers who searched but did not find the object for which they were after. The next morning at about 5 o'clock, Patrolman Clay found the cow, stone dead in James Sherman's yard, corner of Harvard street and Washington park. There were twenty-one bullet holes in his head. Patrolman Clay did wood work during the afternoon when the cow was charging madly about in preventing any shooting that might take the life of a human being. The crowd numbered over 100 persons at times and congregated in such a way that it was only safe to fire from a distance. This explains, perhaps, the difficulty of landing a ball in a fatal spot.

—The quarterly meeting of the Mass State Institute of Juvenile Temples, met with Garden City Temple of this place. It Good Templars Hall, Chestnut street, last Saturday afternoon and evening. Delegates were present from all parts of the state. It was a very successful and interesting occasion. In the afternoon a recitation contest was held, the prize was awarded to a young lady from Lowell. In addition songs, recitations, addresses, dialogues, etc., were given. An intermission from 5:30 to 7:30 gave time for an excellent supper furnished by Garden City Temple. After intermission a business meeting was held, and the penny system of savings in vogue in this city was adopted by the Institute, also a course of study for both old and young members. After the business session the Good of the Order was taken up and furnished very pleasant entertainment for those present, both afternoon and evening. A large number were present, and the friends of the Institute were much encouraged in the temperance work they are doing for the boys and girls of our state, and were more than ever convinced that the proper place to commence temperance teachings, is with the young boys and girls. The Institute meeting closed at 9:45 to meet in December, at Lowell.

H., where his family were old residents. Early in life he entered the employ of a Boston book house and gradually rose to be a partner under the firm name of Brown, Taggart & Chase. He continued in this firm for several years, and about 35 years ago went to New York, where he was for many years in charge of the publishing house of Orange Judd & Co., who published a number of the leading agricultural papers of the country. About 15 years ago he returned to Boston and took a position as treasurer of the New England Conservatory of Music. About three years ago he sustained a shock of paralysis, which compelled him to give up his business. He had lived in Auburndale for the past 13 years, and was a prominent member and official of the Centenary Methodist church. He leaves two sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

A SIMPLE REMEDY.

If you'd be happy all the day,
Never have wrinkles, never grow gray,
Feel like your work was nothing but play,
Be sure that comfort had come to stay,
Just let the women have their way,

CATCHING A TARTAR

A sunny morning in June. The platform crowded—cheap trippers for Southampton, heavy swells and swells for the links at Hayling Island, with bags of golf sticks. The yachting man, strongly in evidence, sunburnt and puffing a cigarette vigorously. If he is a new hand—a Dickey Sam—he wears a cloth peaked cap with the club burgee, a well cut coat of serge or pilot cloth bristling with bronze buttons, loose flannel continuations and white shoes. No man was ever so much a seadog as the yachting tyro looks.

The older sailing men, those of the manner born—“swagger” squadron men—who can fly the white ensign, are dressed in long, lean, frock coats, loose trousers turned up, pointed boots, immaculate collars and glossy hats—the aim of the man who has lived is to look as much like a stockbroker as possible. Of course, down at the Castle or on Ryde pier they will blossom into a seasonal crop of buttons and burgees and display remarkable activity in dodging that tyrant of the deep—the sailing master—if the water looks a bit choppy.

Two people attracted a lot of attention by their palpable efforts at concealment. He, although the day was so hot, was enveloped in a long cloak, with a collar reaching past his ears, and his cotton white hair and mustache showed up occasionally in strong contrast to the deep brown of his face as he turned to watch the porters attacking a huge mound of his belongings.

Each box and bag was blazoned with an imperial coronet over a monogram, and then told one another guardedly and under promises of profound secrecy “that was Prince Paul Demoff, the owner of the new 100 rater now lying off Southampton.”

She, the lady, was tall and gracefully girlish. A neat, natty blue serge Redfern frock; a sunburst straw hat, with a dark blue ribbon; tiny tanned boots; a white shirt, with a turndown collar, and flowing tie completed her costume, saving a thick gossamer veil that completely hid her face, and but for the whiteness and purity of her neck it would have seemed she suffered from some facial disfigurement. It was evidently a desire not to be recognized that led to the adoption of the yashmak.

She was evidently expecting or avoiding some friends. Her head moved with a birdlike quickness as she scanned each new arrival on the platform, and her slender hand, white and jewelled, twitched nervously round the handle of the morocco monogrammed case she carried. Catching her eye from a distance, he walked toward her with the easy, firm self assurance that women like. She saw he was coming to her and waited calmly—perhaps she breathed more quickly.

He raised his soft hat, and with a courtly bow said in perfect English, with the mersement of an accent: “Pardon me, you are distressed. Have you missed your maid? Can I be of any service to you?”

Now his hat was off he appeared a prematurely white haired man of 45 or 50, with a firm face and voice—a man evidently used to command.

“Thank you very much,” came in a soft sibilant voice from beneath the thick gossamer. “I have not only lost my maid, but my portmanteau. I am afraid it is under that pile of luggage, and”—with a little shrug—“I am afraid that pile of luggage is yours.”

“That is mine, madame. I will get your bag at once. May I ask where you are going? To Southampton, and it is of the highest importance you should not miss this train? Pardon, do not trouble. I will see that all is arranged.”

A few words to the guard, a rapid passage of backsheesh, and the missing bag with a dainty monogram and small crest was placed carefully on the rack of the first class carriage by which the veiled lady was standing. With the coolness that seemed part of his nature, the Russian indicated to a porter a small hamper and had it placed in the same compartment. There must have been some collusion and a lavish tip, for, though the train was crowded, the guard, after the imperceptible manner of his kind, kept that carriage empty until the train started, and they found themselves alone, securely locked in.

A sudden start ran through her slender frame. She paused and asked quickly, “Do you know when the next train leaves Waterloo for Southampton?”

He was desolated. Of course she missed her maid, but he was afraid not for some hours.

“Madame is glad? Madame is afraid of being followed?”

“Yes, madame is glad. She does not wish to be taken back and forced into a hateful marriage,” blushing prettily. The old, old story—stern father, elderly lover, titled, rich, but horrid. No mother, no sister, no brother. She was flying from bondage to her aunt, Lady Azuregore, in Guernsey.

Yes, she was Lady Constance Azuregore. Had he really met her at the Duchess of Arlington's dance? She thought she knew his face. That was why she trusted him so implicitly on the platform, of course. But if she was veiled, why was he so shrouded in a big cloak? “Come, now,” anxiously, “a lady? An elopement?”

No, no, and again no! Nothing so joyous. He was Prince Paul Demoff and had fallen between two stools—had incurred the enmity of the imperial court through coquetting with the nihilists. That meant the Alexieffsky Ravelin or the fortress of Peter and Paul in St. Petersburg, and, on the other hand, finding the “party of progress” going too far, he was threatened with death for deserting the red flag.

“You must pardon me, prince, but we seem in trouble together,” and she laughed merrily. “Do you know I half thought you were a detective?”

By this time he had returned to his hamper and produced deftly a table cloth, plates, knives, forks and serviettes, a small bottle of Chateau Monton Rothschild and a dainty cold chicken. Their mutual confessions had lessened embarrassment, and the lady, after making a little moun, said that she was so hungry and so glad to eat, etc.

They chatted and laughed as the train sped through the beautiful country, and by the time Southampton was thought of she had smoked half a mild cigarette and he had kissed her hand.

She readjusted her veil, and he assumed his big cloak with a sigh as the whistle of the train signaled the station. “The Guernsey boat does not leave till midnight. What are you going to do? Where will you put up?”

“I don't know. I will never be taken back alive. And you, you are hunted. What will you do?”

“Go on board my yacht. She is lying off here, and the gig waits for this train at the landing steps. I must hail them, as none of them know me. My agent has engaged an entirely new crew, skipper included, all English. I want no nihilists on board.” And he looked moodily out of the window.

She made a sudden movement, as if about to speak, but drew back. Again she leaned forward, and the repetition roused him from his thoughts. He looked up and saw her eyes glistening even through the thick veil. She was crying!

“What is the matter? You are frightened. Can I help you?”

“I hardly dare ask you. You may think badly of me, but I will not be forced into this detestable marriage. Can you—may I?”

He divined her thoughts. “Stay on board my yacht and board the boat at midnight? Yes, your ladyship, yes—in all honor, yes.” And he held out both his hands, and with a sob almost hysterical she placed her tiny gloves in them as the train stopped.

They left the station by a side door unnoticed, and walking down the broad gravelled road with the soft sward and the old time cannon passed the crumbling walls and found the boat manned by six bronzed typical yachtsmen, the skipper, a fine looking old man, sitting motionless in the stern sheets holding the yoke lines.

“Do you know a respectable woman who can look after this lady until the mail boat starts?” asked the prince as he handed her carefully on board and passed her portmanteau. She carried the morocco case herself.

“Well, surr, I've took the liberty of invitin my old woman on board today. She's been a stewardess, surr.”

The boat soon shot alongside a beautiful schooner yacht. The crew manned the gangway as the prince and Lady Constance came on board, and a motherly, sunburned woman courtied her through an exquisitely furnished saloon cabin into a boudoir with a lace curtained bunk and a host of feminine fripperies.

“I may sail tonight. Is all ready? Right. Take the boat and go ashore, bring off my luggage and anything we may want from the ship's stores. And, Johnson, keep the men aloft, but you just find out if there is any hue and cry about a lady eloping.”

Captain Johnson, an old merchant captain, slowly winked and looked very knowing. “H'm!” he said to himself. “I half s'pected he said. That's the sort of owner I like to sail with. Lots o' yellow boys kickin about this voyage, I lay.”

In about an hour he returned, and doffing his peaked cap said mysteriously, “I spoke to my cousin, the piece-man, an he says there's a lot o' cockney detectives down a-watchin the station an the Guernsey packet for some young 'ooman.”

Her ladyship had washed all travel stains away and changed her frock. She looked like a fresh rosebud, but her face grew deathly pale, her eyes dilated, and the nerve lines deepened into marks of agony when he told her the captain's story. He thought she was going to faint and made as though to catch her. With a supreme effort she regained her self possession and said in a hoarse whisper:

“Oh, save me! Take me to Guernsey in your yacht, or I will jump overboard!”

He turned on his heel without replying and went up the companionway on deck.

“Johnson, your wife doesn't mind a trip to sea?”

“Aye, aye, sir! All hands on deck! Tumble up, my hearties!”

Her face flushed deeply when she heard the clank of the chain pump and the flapping of the foresail, and she thanked him with both hands and a sweet smile.

Under a good southwesterly breeze the yacht spun along merrily, throwing the foam in long, beautiful, featherlike curves from her clipper stern.

The lady stood leaning dreamily against the side ropes, and the prince, an experienced sailor evidently, took the tiller and threaded the way carefully through the crowd of craft. For a time neither spoke; then, abruptly giving the management to the appreciative critical skipper, he beckoned her into the cabin.

“I will land you at Guernsey tomorrow morning,” he said, “but I have been deceiving you. I am not Prince Paul Demoff. I am his valet. I have robbed him of 1,000,000 rubles and am now going to the Argentine in his yacht,” and he stood up rigidly and faced her.

She smiled and said calmly: “Very good! Take me with you. I am not Lady Constance Azuregore. I am her maid, but I've got her jewel case.”

ANTI-DOUBLE TAXATION LEAGUE.

ITS DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES AND PERSONNEL OF OFFICIAL BOARD.

The declaration of principles of the Massachusetts Anti-Double Taxation League is as follows:

Double taxation is essentially unjust and injurious to the best interests of the Commonwealth. The object of the league is the abolition of double taxation, whether this taxation fall upon property protected elsewhere and already taxed, or upon both borrower and lender in respect of the same property, or upon income derived from property already taxed; also the abolition of the taxation of obligations of the state or municipalities of Massachusetts, of which the interest is already a product of taxation, and the principal must be raised by taxation.

The projectors of the league declare that they are organized for the purpose of urging upon their fellow citizens, and especially upon the Legislature, such amendments in the laws as will correct the system in these particulars; and also strenuously to oppose any of those changes in the laws, now advocated, which would tend to aggravate the evils of double taxation.

Following are the officers of the league:

President, Alexander S. Porter of Boston; general counsel, Richard H. Dana of Boston; directors, Horatio G. Curtis, president, Old Boston National Bank; directors, Hon. George C. Crocker, Hon. Jonathan A. Lane, Hon. Nathan Matthews, Jr., Col. Thomas L. Livermore, W. H. Sayward of Boston, Charles E. Adams of Lowell, Philip A. Chase of Lynn, Joseph Shattuck of Lawrence, Hon. W. W. Crapo of New Bedford, Robert Luce of Somerville, Hon. William Whiting of Holyoke, Hon. Charles A. Campbell of Chelsea, R. Stuart Chase of Haverhill, Hon. J. J. Whipple of Brockton, Hon. R. Lee Benson, Hon. Alden Speare and J. Howard Nichols of Newton, Hon. E. W. Converse of Malden, Hon. Rodney Wallace of Fitchburg, Charles F. Adams, 2d, of Quincy, Edward S. Moseley of Newburyport, Hon. John Cummings of Woburn, Dana T. McIntire of Medford, Hon. A. H. Evans of Everett, Edward C. Perkins of Milton, Hon. C. F. Adams of Lincoln, Hon. Alanson W. Beard of Belmont, Henry Lee, Hon. Edward Atkinson and James Otis Porter of Brookline, Albert S. Bigelow of Cohasset, S. M. Weld of Dedham, T. C. Colledge, Jr., of Manchester.

Newton Wins Second Prize.

The Red Jackets of Cambridge defeated the Nonantums of Newton just five-eighths of an inch at the Attleboro muster, throwing a stream 170 ft. 4 in. John Exley was Newton's commanding officer, but the company was short-handed, having only fifty men, and a few more would probably have given them the prize.

The Newtons were the last to play, and their best record was made at the last of the fifth and last heat. Up to that time the Red Jackets had first honors by some 15 feet. The Newtons' fourth heat gave them 171 ft., and as but few play more than three or four heats, it was thought it had done its best; but when its water passed the 170 foot mark on its last heat, and was so near the Red Jackets that it could not be ascertained without close measurement, the excitement was intense, and a more critical and highly exciting few minutes at a fireman's muster was probably never before experienced than those taken by the judges to make the measurement. Hundreds of excited persons including many Red Jackets and Newtonians crowded about the judges, anxious for their decision, and when it was announced that the Red Jackets led by only five-eighths of an inch, the excitement gave place to another mirage, and a new mirage was added to the many which preceded it in the annals of hard engine musters, but none greater than this. Never before have the 2 first prize winners come so close together, at least not for years, and probably will not again for some time if ever.

The incident clearly shows the importance of expert judges at such events. Others might have rendered a less just decision. None disputed the judges' decision on this or any other play made, all were just and accurate. However, the Newtons had the satisfaction of beating the dozen other companies who participated, and a second prize is not to be sniffed at.

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls.

—A dramatic club is being formed in Nonantum which will include all the local talent, and will be known as the St. Elmo dramatic club.

—Mr. George Hudson, Grand President of the Sons of St. George for Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine, is at Clinton this week on official business for the lodge.

—Building in Nonantum has been booming this year. Thirty dwelling houses and two business blocks have been completed. Morgan Mahoney is to build another new block on West street, and Louis Burosky one on Watertown street.

—The following officers were installed at the local division of the Sons of Temperance, Wednesday evening, Sept. 27: W. C. Bertie Chase, W. A.; Lizzie Wainwright, S. S.; F. Leavitt, A. R. S.; Alice Clayton, F. S.; Geo. Hudson, Treas.; Fanny Broderick, Chap.; Geo. Bishop, C.; F. Dow, A. C.; Julia Clayton, I. S.; Howard Skinner, O. S.; P. W. P., A. Hudson.

—The new paragon of the North Evangelical Society is now well under way. It is a three story house with a kitchen, dining-room, parlor and sitting-room on the first floor. All the rooms are to be finished in cypress except the kitchen which is finished in hard mountain pine. The second floor includes a bath room, study and four chambers. The bath room will be finished in hard pine and the other rooms in white cypress.

—Mr. B. H. Bacon of Waltham street died Monday afternoon of typhoid fever. He had just returned from his vacation when he was taken ill. He had been the Bemis station agent and postmaster for some years. He leaves a wife and two little girls. He was a member of the North church and the Royal Arcanum. The funeral services took place at his late home, Rev. Daniel Green officiating. A quartet furnished music. He was thirty-five years old. The interment was at South Framingham.

Important Facts.

If you have had and heavy pain across forehead and the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should (immediately) resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

Testimony shows that the New York police blackmailed everybody—from blind toothpick peddlers to steamship owners. All was grist that went into their mill.—Keene Sentinel.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE—The season of "The Old Homestead," at the Boston Theatre, is by all odds the most profitable in the history of that famous production. Night after night the big play has been crowded to the doors with intensely interested and highly enthusiastic audiences, and play and players have been most heartily applauded. Denman Thompson's impersonation of Joshua Whitcomb has long since attained the rank and dignity of a classic of the stage, the humor and pathos of the piece alike appealing to the sentiment of an audience in so strong and delicate a manner that its popularity seems ever on the rise. Again last week, as in weeks before, so great was the rush of patronage, the big sign "Standing Room Only," was out two evenings in succession, and every other evening nearly all the seats were taken in the body of the house, while balcony and gallery were both crowded. The "Old Homestead" engagement is to be followed soon by "In Old Kentucky," now in preparation.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—It is a flattering compliment to Amy Lee that of the many applicants for the right to perform her favorite play, "Pawn Ticket 210," Lotta should have given her the preference. Having secured these rights Miss Lee with Frank Doane and P. Aug. Anderson's joint stars will present an elaborate production of the play at the Grand Opera House for a week's engagement beginning Monday evening next. The play itself is an adaptation of the novel, "Court Royal," by David Belasco and Clay M. Green, and is replete with heart-interest, thrilling situations and scenes of intense realism. Others in the cast are Sara Lancelotti, who was the only American actress in Mrs. Langtry's company on the occasion of her first American tour; Lionel Bland and Rose Watkins who were with the original company with Lotta; Robert V. Percy, L. H. Drew, Frank White, Clayton Strong and Nellie Dunbar. During the action of the play, new songs, dances and appropriate original specialties are introduced and special attention has been paid to the scenic and mechanical effects. The engagement is for a single week with the usual Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees, after which will occur the first Boston presentation of "A Baggage Check," one of this season's most successful farce-comedy offerings.

BOSTON MUSEUM—The management of the Museum has every cause to be highly gratified with the success attained by "Prince Pro Tem" ever since the opening night. There has not been a poor house from the start, and the evident popularity noticed during the first week shows no signs of waning. The music has caught the public fancy in no uncertain way, and the bright lines and high-class specialties have made great hits. Friday evening will occur the 100th performance of the opera, and the management will celebrate the event in a pleasant manner. Souvenir cabinet photographs, highly finished, of the leading members of the company will be given to each patron. These pictures will be distributed in sealed envelopes and consequently no one will know whose picture he has drawn until he breaks the seal. It is a novel scheme and there will be some good-natured bidding to secure portraits of favorites.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—"On the Mississippi" has amply fulfilled all the promises made by the management, and has enjoyed a goodly volume of business during the past week. It will begin its second and last week Oct. 8, and indications point to a most prosperous continuance of its engagement. The play is very exciting and contains some of the most thrilling scenes ever placed on the stage, and they come so rapidly that the interest is sustained from start to finish. The exciting incidents at the Mardi Gras carnival at New Orleans, the attempted lynching, the affray in the gambling house, the attack on the jail, the floating theatre on the Mississippi, the darky roustabouts in their inimitable songs and dances, were all heartily welcomed and warmly applauded by the large audiences that have been present at every performance. Colonel George H. Devol, whom Messrs. Davis & Keogh secured to play the role of a Mississippi gambler, was for forty years a gambler on that river, and looks the part to the life. Seats for "On the Mississippi" at its second and last week are now on sale at the Columbia box office.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—On Monday evening, Oct. 8, Marie Jansen will begin her engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre, which is limited this year to one week. Miss Jansen's tour as a star this year was successful beyond her highest expectations and proved in a gratifying manner that the New York bright and winsome little woman is in all the large cities of this country. She has a new play this year called "Miss Dynamite," which has been pronounced one of the most brilliant and humorous farces which has been written in this country. It is clean, refined and at the same time extremely funny. Not depending upon the charms of the star alone, her managers, Messrs. C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger, have provided for Miss Jansen an excellent supporting company. Mr. Frederick Bond is her leading man. Mr. C. P. Welles, Mr. William Norris, Mr. Charles Mason, Mr. Fred Peters and Mr. Soldene Powell complete the male roster of the company, while those beautiful and charming young women, Misses May Merrick and Hope Ross, who were in Miss Jansen's company last year, remain with her.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—The first big production that Boston will see this year, and probably the biggest one it has seen in many years, will be made at the Bowdoin Square Theatre on Monday evening, Oct. 8, when "The Cotton King" will receive its first American representation. "The Cotton King," the hero played by Jack Mason, is a Yankee who has made a fortune in America, manufacturing cotton fabrics, and who goes to England to introduce the Yankee system of the cotton industry laid in Manchester, England, among the factories there. There are no soldiers, no battles, no gun-powder, and the play does not meddle with the labor question. It is simply a pretty story of factory life, told boldly and interspersed with thrilling and dramatic situations. It is like "The Lights of London" and "The Silver King" than any play that has been brought from England in this decade. It allows for beautiful scenery, showing the pretty homes of England; it shows the interior of an immense cotton factory in Manchester, with the mass of marvelous, revolving mechanism. It shows the dark exterior of the factory and the rough streets of Manchester. No expense has been spared and no lack of attention to detail will be discovered in the "Cotton King." No melo-drama has ever been given with such an expensive cast, it is up to date in every sense of the word; new ideas in stage lighting and stage settings will be one of the features of the production. All patrons of the Bowdoin Square Theatre the past week have been presented cotton handkerchiefs with beautifully colored designs advertising William A. Brady's great play "The Cotton King." The piece will undoubtedly be a great hit.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

CITY GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES.

An important new book on municipal administration, of practical interest to every citizen, entitled City Government in the United States, by Alfred R. Conkling, formerly an alderman in New York city and a member of the Assembly, has been published by D. Appleton & Co.

The uprising of the American citizen, as shown in the recent revolts against boss rule and ring rule, and the formation of nonpartisan organizations for better municipal government in many cities, render the appearance of this book peculiarly opportune. The author describes the different departments of the chief municipalities, their methods, and the past or present abuses. His clear presentation of his theme is illustrated by references not only to the various American cities, but also to London, Paris, Berlin, Birmingham, and Glasgow, all of which he has visited, and whose charters he has studied in the preparation of this volume. He says his object is to set citizens to thinking and to impel them to work out their own municipal destiny in the light of common sense and modern science. Their is a science of city government, although from the way men are selected for office, the science of city affairs, one would think that such a thing was unknown and impossible.

ANTHROPOLOGY.

"Woman's Share in Primitive Culture" by Otis Tufton Mason, of the United States National Museum, is to be published shortly by D. Appleton & Co. This is the first volume in the Anthropological Series, edited by Prof. Frederic Starr, of the University of Chicago. The series is undertaken in the hope that anthropology—the science of man—may become better known to intelligent readers. While the books are intended to be of general interest, they will in every case be written by authorities who will not sacrifice scientific accuracy to popularity. In the present volume is traced the interesting period when with fire-making began the first division of labor—a division of labor based upon sex—the man going to the field or the forest for game, while the woman at the fireside became the burden-bearer, basket-maker, weaver, potter, agriculturist and domesticator of animals. There are many illustrations.

ABANDONING AN ADOPTED FARM.

Miss Kate Sanborn's amusing record of her experiences in "Adopting an Abandoned Farm" is followed by an equally amusing book, under the above title. One must not expect any serious description of the difficulties of farming life, from the book, for that is not Miss Sanborn's intention, but she has collected all sorts of amusing stories, briefly and wittily told, and the book is filled with fun from cover to cover. Those who wish a hearty laugh should read the book. Miss Sanborn has gone out of the business of farming for profit, which includes the famous poultry business, and her experiences are very amusing to read about. She tells us she has moved to an old-fashioned colonial farm house, and is now farming for pleasure, while her hired man is trying to farm for profit "on shares." Her stories about life in the country will be appreciated by all who have ever had any experience in that direction. The book is published by D. Appleton & Co.

A MILD BARBARIAN

is the latest novel in Appleton's Town and Country Library, and is one of Edgar Fawcett's characteristic stories. His people are always prigs, more or less, and the hero of this book is one of the worst of them, but his experiences are rather amusing. He is described as a youth of twenty-four, who has never shaved, with a light, downy, golden beard, which does not conceal his finely cut features, and apparently he never shaves, for all through the book he is running his fingers through the "golden" down, although Mr. Fawcett would have us believe he becomes one of New York's leading society men. All the other characters are of the same priggish quality, with hardly intelligence enough to carry them through the day, but Mr. Fawcett has many warm admirers, who think him a great novelist, and they will be delighted with his latest novel.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Sergeant Mitchell and wife and daughter are at Colchester, Vt., during the former's vacation from duty in the army.

—Ralph Tibbets, brakeman on the circuit, has made a change of residence from Riverside to part of the Sanderson cottage near the station.

—The Twombly family have returned to their residence at the corner of the summer season at Cottage City. This is their 40th season for summering at this well known resort.

—It is stated the building known as the yellow block will not stand so conspicuous as at present in the near future, the board of health having demanded its destruction for sanitary reasons.

—A new fire pump is being put in a Sullivan's Extract Works this week, as an extra precaution against fire, and larger water pipes replacing smaller ones are also being connected with hydrants and automatic sprinklers that will greatly increase the force and supply when required.

—Work on the construction of new streets through the Heckle estate commenced last Monday. Contractor Joyce of Newton is doing the work. Since the purchase of the land by a syndicate of three parties three lots have been sold and one of the purchasing parties has commenced excavating a cellar for a new house.

—The work of repairing Washington street concluded last Saturday. The condition of the street was greatly improved at present can stand a little just criticism. In many places the rolled stones are scarcely covered with gravel. When it is considered that the street was repaired many years ago and being a main thoroughfare better work was looked for than this.

Foot Ball.

Several new candidates appeared for the second week's practice of the Newton A. A. Eleven and a short but lively game was played. A game has been arranged for tomorrow at Newton Centre with Worcester Academy and should be well worth watching. The following schedule of games has been arranged:

Oct. 5, Worcester Academy at Newton Centre.

Oct. 13, open.

Oct. 20, open.

Oct. 27, (League) Hyde Park at Newton Centre.

Nov. 3, (League) Rindge A. A. at Cambridge.

Nov. 10, (League) Dorchester at Dorchester.

Nov. 17, (League) Lynn at Newton Centre.

WOMEN IN SOCIETY

Mothers! When Anything Happens

use PAIN-KILLER. By its timely use serious results are prevented when neglect of supposed trifling ailments or accidents may cause long suffering and expensive doctor's bills.

A lady, writing to the "New England Farmer" of August 1, '87, after giving good advice as to the care of children says: "Perry Davis' Pain-Killer is worth the price of your life in some cases—much more than a doctor for the diseases people, and especially children, suffer from in hot weather. It cures Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Colic and Diarrhoea immediately." Many a young life might be saved if every mother would

—Rev. Richard Montague, pastor of the Baptist church, gives a talk Sunday evening on the lessons of the last year, illustrated with stereoscopic views. The Sunday evening following he initiates a series of talks upon character building.
—Unitarian Society, Sunday, Oct. 7th. Service at 10.30, sermon, "What think ye of Christ?" Observance of the Lord's Supper in the Congregational form. Sunday school at 12. Classes for all. Evening service at 7.30 with address, subject, "Marcella."
—At the Baptist church on Sunday, the pastor, Dr. Montague, will preach on "Recognition in Heaven," at 10.30 p. m., and on "Spiritual Oratory" at 7 p. m. Quarterly Review of Bible school lessons, illustrated with stereoscopic views, on evening of Sunday, 14th.
—Rev. D. A. Morehouse, who has preached at the Memorial church in South Sudbury the past two years, has closed his service; there, much to the regret of himself and people. A pressure of business, owing to the death of his father-in-law, makes this step necessary.
—"The Entertainers" is the name of a social club just formed at the Unitarian Society. It is undenominational and its purpose is to care for the recreative needs of people in a wholesome way. Its membership is open to all and is expected to include people from all parts of the city.
—The fall reunion and rallying day exercises of the Thompsonville Baptist Bible school will be held Sunday, Oct. 7, at 2.30 o'clock. The program includes singing by Ladies' Double Quartet, scripture selections, singing by the choir, and remarks by Mr. Cook and the superintendent.
—Bryan Killian, while taking out ashes from the cellar of H. N. Thayer's house, Newbury street, Tuesday morning, slipped and a barrel with its contents landed on him and pinned him to the ground. With assistance arrived it was found that the man's leg was broken and he was removed, therefore, to the Cottage Hospital.
—The Emerson Class begins its second year's work with the study of Tennyson's "In Memoriam." Rev. B. F. McDaniel will continue to lead the readings and conversation. It is hoped that a large membership will attend these pleasant and profitable gatherings in the parlors of the Unitarian church, on Tuesday evenings.
—A young lady who gave her horse a cut with the whip while driving along Beacon street, Tuesday morning, had cause to repent what turned out to be an unnecessary punishment for the animal kicked, got one leg over the shaft and dashed across a stretch of lawn, finally coming up against a good natured fence which served to hold the "ferry cutter" in check until assistance arrived. Young woman very much agitated; horse ditto, but not, apparently, injured by his unreasonable escapade.
—The public installation of Crystal Lake division, Sons of Temperance, occurred in Associates' small hall, last evening. The principal address was made by Rev. Richard Montague. There was a large number present, including a delegation representing the grand lodge and others from Boston, Hyde Park, Nonantum, Water-town. The officers follow: Worthy patriarch, Arthur Washburn; past worthy patriarch, Thomas Fay; recording scribe, Fred Barker; assistant recording scribe, August McDaniel; treasurer, Fred Jones; financial scribe, William Scott; conductor, Alice Green; chaplain, Hester Ray; assist-

—Dr. Cameron has left for some Western state to locate.
—Mr. H. G. Ruhe and family have returned from a summer at Marblehead Neck.
—Read Herbert Wade's new advertisement of clothing, cloth, etc., in another column.
—Rev. Edward M. Noyes, the new pastor of the Congregational church, will preach Sunday, Oct. 7, morning and evening. In the evening the service will be in the church and Mrs. Terry and Miss Beman will sing.
—Prof. Louis C. Stanton, formerly of Carleton College, will give the first of a series of six lectures at the Associates' small hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 11, at 7.30. The course will deal with the works of the great musicians of both the classic and romantic schools, aiding the understanding of the "content" of the work by illustration, biographical and critical extracts, and whatever may throw light upon the purport, form and place of the composition discussed in the development of musical art. Intended as this course is for those who are musically inclined but who do not understand classic music as well as for those who appreciate it, Mr. Stanton will be glad to have any one present at the first of the series.
—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bishop, who returned recently from their wedding tour among the Berkshires Hills, gave their first at home in the beautiful residence of the groom's father, Judge Robert B. Bishop, Beacon street, Wednesday afternoon and evening. The house was thronged with guests, especially during the evening hours and was the scene of a very brilliant party. The decorations were an especially attractive feature. The massive oaken staircase in the main hall was entwined with smilax and laurel and the great carved posts surmounted by groups of carnations. The apartments were garished with a profusion of choice roses, begonias, pinks, chrysanthemums, pretty clinging vines, and the usual variety of tropical plants, the latter grouped in the hall and in the embrasure of the large windows in the parlors where the receiving party stood. There is a great deal of fine old-fashioned as well as modern furniture in the Bishop house, which has been thoroughly modernized in its exterior and interior architecture by extensive improvements. The house has been changed a state of the period of thirty years ago into a most attractive modern dwelling. Its situation on a rocky elevation, surrounded with magnificent grounds, and commanding a view of the country for miles around, could hardly be excelled. There is a delightful outlook from every window in the house, and one gets glimpses of beautiful rural scenery for which the charming suburbs of Boston are noted. During the festivities Wednesday night, with the long avenues leading to the street, shaded by trees, brightly illuminated with electric light, the effect was beautiful. The young couple were assisted in receiving by Judge and Mrs. Bishop and the bride's father and mother. Following the formalities, refreshments were served and the usual social features enjoyed, after which the company of ladies and gentlemen departed for their respective homes. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bishop's next at home occurs Wednesday next. An antique clock in the hall of the Bishop house attracted much attention, and the writer learned that it had been in the family many years. It stood a seeming marvel of perfect care, as well equipped for its work today as in the long ago. On either side of this time-piece, the portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Bishop's fathers are hung.

BISHOP JOHN P. NEWMAN.

DEDICATION OF THE NEWTON HIGHLANDS M. E. CHURCH.

All who have watched with interest the growth of the graceful and artistic church which the Methodists have been building at Newton Highlands, will be glad to hear that its dedication will occur on the evenings of Oct. 10, 11 and 12, with an appropriate and attractive program for each evening.

The "Feast of Dedication" will be opened at 7.30 p. m. on Wednesday by a dedicatory sermon by Bishop John P. Newman, D. D. L. D., after which the Rev. George F. Eaton, D. D., presiding elder of Boston north district, will formally dedicate the structure. Addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. J. W. Hamilton and by Hon. Alden Spaulding. The music of the evening will be rendered by the Newton Centre M. E. Quartet.

Bishop Newman was formerly pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. church in Washington, D. C., and although he has since been elected Bishop and bears the reputation of being the greatest American pulpit orator, his new church is known as "General Grant's beloved pastor."

On Thursday evening the Rev. Edward M. Taylor, pastor of Winthrop Street M. E. church, Boston, will preach. Dr. Taylor has been called the "Phillips Broke of Methodism" and there is no more successful pastor in the New England conference. The music of this evening will be rendered by singers from elsewhere.

Friday evening will conclude the services of the week. The many friends of Rev. Dr. J. W. Hamilton, who have been disappointed at not hearing him preach when he has been present on previous occasions, will have an opportunity to hear him preach upon this evening. Dr. Hamilton needs no introduction in New England. He is known and loved throughout Methodism and has been a devoted friend of the cause of the colored people. Therefore it is appropriate that he should say the farewell word.

Each service will begin promptly at 7.30. There will be standing room only for late comers. All friends of the church are cordially invited to be present at any or all of the services.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Prof. Bancroft has gone abroad and will make quite an extended stay in Paris.
—Alderman Pettie, who has been ill with malaria is out again.

—Mr. T. G. Minor has leased the Lewis Hurst estate on Boylston street.

—Mr. John Buttrick is visiting friends here this week.

—Mr. Frank J. Hale is home again after a flying trip to the White Mountains.

—Mr. George Tambo and family have returned from a two months stay in New Hampshire.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell are receiving congratulations over the advent of a daughter.

—Thomas Hale has purchased a stepper that can set a good pace for some of the local horse flesh.

—The grounds are being improved around the extension of the Echo Bridge Company's lands.

—A large delegation from this place attended the big Royal Arcanum meeting in Boston, Wednesday evening.

—Four girls left the Newton Rubber Works this week on account of a cut down in wages.

—Several Boston business men were in town this week looking for a location for a manufacturing business.

—Daniel Shea's glue works started up this week and the familiar strains of the whistle are heard at noon, noon and night.

—William Hill has taken a position at the Boston Co. Hill. Michael Quinn of Chandler Village has, also, been given a place there.

—The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Welch, who mourn the loss of their infant daughter. The little one was buried Sunday.

—The Pettie Company are having plans made for the introduction of automatic water sprinklers into their new buildings, for protection in case of fire.

—Richard Kerivan, who had his hand badly injured in an accident in the silk mill recently is out of the hospital. He was treated at the Emergency.

—John Thompson came home from the Attleboro Veterans' Fireman's muster, wreathed in smiles, for the crack tub, "Nonantum" captured another prize, and that of course, pleased John.

—Mrs. Leland of Newtonville was thrown from her carriage on Chestnut street, Tuesday. The horse was frightened and ran, overturning the vehicle, which was pretty badly demolished. Mrs. Leland escaped serious injury, but had an extremely close call. She was taken to her home by Mr. Frank Fanning.

—William Benard of Woonsocket, a brakeman employed by the New York & New England Railroad, while coupling cars here, Wednesday afternoon, caught his hand between the buffers and jammed it badly. Several of the finger bones were broken and the large thumb muscle forced through the flesh. He was attended by Dr. Thompson and sent by him to the Emergency hospital. It is thought amputation will not be necessary.

—Echo Bridge council, R. A., gave a pleasant entertainment 1st Friday evening. It combined the very agreeable features of a supper, musical and literary program and the customary social festivities. Addresses were, of course, given pertaining to the order, and a general good time is the unanimous verdict of those present.

—Samuel Hawkins, who pounded Simon Proctor, don't you know, quite unmercifully a few days since, was arraigned in the police court Tuesday morning, and despite his explanation of what he alluded to as a sort of friendly contest, was ordered to pay a fine of $25 for marking up Sim's face and thereby detracting from its lines of beauty.

—An honest "kid" about 5 years of age, picked up a lady's watch, which she dropped going up Oak street from the electric cars, Wednesday afternoon, and taking her, returned it with a pleasant smile. She took it, glanced rather disdainfully at the lad and sort of grunted out "thanks," Good boy; inappreciative female.

—James Beard and Peter Cannon of this place were driving home in a hilarious condition late Saturday night, when they turned the horse into the track of the Newton & Boston Street railway on Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, just in front of a rapidly moving car. The car struck the wagon, which was demolished, and the occupants were thrown to the ground. A case of beer was spilled in the road. Cannon and Beard lay by the roadside in a helpless condition until Patrolman Seaver locked them up on a charge of drunkenness. Beard's jaw was broken.

—The sale of seats to the course of entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Highland Club, commenced at the Clubhouse on Wednesday and was very successful.

—Mr. J. S. Williams has moved from Bowdoin street and taken a new house next the engine house belonging to Mr. Amasa Crafts and lately occupied by Mrs. Caverly, who has gone to Upper Falls.

—Mr. W. G. Smith, who has lately married a sister of Mrs. Sampson of Lake avenue, has leased the house belonging to Mr. E. L. Thell and formerly occupied by him on Chester street.

—The choir of Grace church will render a full choral service next Wednesday evening in the Church of the Ascension, Waltham. No tickets of admission are needed after 7.15 when the doors will be thrown open to the public.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Corey, accompanied by Miss Howland and Miss Perrin of West Newton, the Misses Wallace of Newtonville and Miss Corey of Brookline have been enjoying a driving trip about Lenox and Stockbridge, Mass.

—Arthur Hollis won first prize in the junior class, Newton Club tennis tournament, defeat g. Anders. He had been ill just prior to the initiation of the tournament matches, but played in good form. The prize which he secured was a silver cup.

—Classes at the Nonantum Gymnasium begin work on Monday, Oct. 15th, at 10 o'clock. Some of the new features this season are Battle Ball, new Fancy Steps and Aesthetic Calisthenics. The Gavotte der Kaiserin and Fencing will be taught in private classes.

—Cards are out for the wedding of Dr. Sidney B. Bartlett, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bartlett of this city, to Miss Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac E. Landell, of 967 Franklin street, Philadelphia. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Oct. 25th at 7.30 p. m.

—Music in Grace church Sunday night: Processional, "I heard the sound of voices." Magnificat, in B flat. King Hall. Nunc Dimittis, in B flat. King Hall. Duet, "My faith endures but for a moment." Henry Smart. Anthem, "I waited for the Lord." Mendelssohn. Recessional, "Alleluia sing to Jesus." All seats free.

—The city has begun the work of improving the condition of Boylston St., which was purchased by the municipality about a year ago. At that time it was drained, and since then the bed of the pond has been traversed by a shallow brook. It is now proposed to widen, straighten and deepen the channel of the brook, and ultimately the whole bed of the old pond will be made into a park. The present appropriation under which work is being done is $200, and it is to be used only in improving the brook, and grading the bank. The commencement of the work was hastened by the prevalence of malaria in the district.

—Henry P. Spaulding, the artist, is spending a couple of weeks among the hills of New Hampshire painting the autumn, of which he writes. "The color here in Tamworth, though not as brilliant this fall as I have seen some years, is very fine. Chocoma with its rocky peak has its sides tinted golden and red and the ravines between it and Passaconaway are of the richest crimson. There have been heavy storms to cause the leaves to fall, and the rock, maple and birches are very abundant. Miss Sleeper's farm at Wonalancet has still a few late guests who have stayed to see the foliage, and there are several more cottages whose owners are loath to leave. The days are perfect now, warm during the middle of the day though with occasional frosts at night.

—Shortly before 7 o'clock, Saturday evening an alarm was rung in from box 15 for a fire in the rear of Hyde's block, Washington street. It was occasioned by an explosion of naphtha which set a small shed used for storage purposes in a blaze and about consumed it, the roof fell and one side of the building fell in. The flames were extinguished by the fire department. H. Wormwood, employed by C. H. Campbell, had a close call. He went out to the shed to get some naphtha for a customer and lit a match while there filling up the measure. He thought he threw the match outside the building, but in a second, there was a flash and as one result he was quite severely burned about the face, left hand and arm. His hair was also singed. There was about 15 gallons of naphtha in the barrel when the explosion occurred. It is thought that $50 will cover damage, including that to building and contents.

—A gentleman came out from Boston on the 7.05 train Sunday evening, and being a stranger did not know what to make of the place. The station was dark and not a street light of any kind was to be seen. He stumbled around in the dark, and finally brought up at Hubbard's drug store, which gave a little illumination to the street. Finding Mr. Hubbard in he asked what place this was. He thought it couldn't be Newton, as he had heard that Newton was a city, and the cities he knew about always had their streets lighted up at night. He said he had come out to make a call on some friends but he was struck by the risk of broken streets by stumbling over such dark streets, and so he went back to Boston on the next train. It is suggested that a supply of lanterns be kept at the stations, so that they can be hired by strangers who come out here on evenings when the moon is supposed to light the streets and doesn't. It wouldn't be so very expensive, either, to keep one or two lights burning about the railroad stations, so as to give strangers a good impression of the place. The citizens have become so used to the present condition of things that they expect to have to feel their way along after sunset.

—Artistic haircutting, three barbers Saturday. Short waits at Burns', Coles block.

—Miss Carrie McIntosh, the dressmaker, has written from Augusta, Me., after a month's absence.

—Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brown have closed their home at Hunt and taken apartments at 80 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, for the winter.

—Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore gave a reception and house warming at their beautiful residence, corner of Summit and Belmont streets, yesterday, receiving their friends both afternoon and evening.

—At the Methodist church on Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. Bronson, will preach on "How to grow old as illustrated by the life of Oliver Wendell Holmes." Evening service with sermon as usual.

—During the last few weeks members of the Clifton Guard have employed their Saturday evenings in an effort to organize a brass band. They have been quite successful and have already enrolled sixteen players.

—The Hugh Chamberlain Greek prize for the best examination in the Greek required for admission to Yale College is awarded in the class of 1898 to Robert Ernest Home of Andover, India, who was fitted for college in the High school here.

—A still alarm was rung in for a chimney blaze, at the house, last evening, of Mrs. Wright's house, last evening. There was quite a pyrotechnic display for a few moments, when countless bright sparks shot heavenward from the stack. There was no serious damage however.

—Music at Eliot church Sunday evening: Organ Prelude. Dunham. Anthem, "Whoever Drinketh." J. T. Field. Tenor Aria, "How many hired servants." From The Prodigal. Sullivan. Quartet, "Heart be Still." Warren. Magnificat. Cruikshank. Guilmant. Organ Postlude.

—Miss Caton of Mt. Ida has taken her first mountain climbing in Vermont recently, and votes the Green Mountain state a jolly one. Although a novice, Miss Caton equalled many of long experience, and was a most agreeable companion.

—Edwin Chase, the violin teacher, is studying this fall with M. Lowmiller of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. This gives Newton pupils an excellent chance to obtain at a low price the instruction that would cost them in Boston four or five times as much. An advantage that is appreciated, judging by the increasing number of Mr. Chase's pupils.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loring have had as guests this last week, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Clafin of Philadelphia, at their charming home on Park street. The Clafins are a delightful people and are specially attracted to Boston just now as they have a son at the Institute of Technology. Young Clafin will graduate in June, '95.

—After the parade of the state troops in Boston, Tuesday, Oct. 9, of this city adjourned to the American House, where members of the command and invited guests enjoyed a banquet. During the parade the local militia fared exceptionally well. The American House, where Shuman's great clothing emporium and coffee provided for them at the South Army by their former captain, Judge Kennedy. After the material festivities at the American House, there was some speechmaking, remarks being made by Maj. Benyon, Maj. Oaks, Capt. Scott, Aldermen Bothfield, Rumery and Thompson.

—Miss Cora M. Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lane, and Mr. Wilford Burnham Currier were married at the home of the bride's parents, Hall street, Monday evening, Rev. G. W. Shinn, D. D., rector of Grace church, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed only by the immediate family. The bride wore a travelling gown and was attended by her sister, Miss Laura M. Lane. Mr. G. W. Lane was best man. After the marriage service and the customary congratulations had been extended, Mr. and Mrs. Currier departed for New York on their wedding tour. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Upon their return from the honeymoon, they will reside on Washington street.

—On Tuesday evening the Foresters of Middlesex Court, had a very interesting meeting in Brackett's block. Many visitors were present including Hon. John F. Dore, Chairman of the Street Commissioners of the city of Boston, Capt. J. G. Fennessey of the 9th Regiment, Hon. Jas. F. Supple of Charlestown, Lewis Watson and John Fitzgerald of the Boston University Law school. Vocal music was rendered by Geo. M. Cranitch, J. F. Mulligan and others. This Court is rapidly growing and its financial condition was never better than it is at the present time.

—The Y. M. C. A. rooms were invaded Tuesday afternoon by a knight of the sword who may have served in the army with Coxey or who may be simply travelling about for his health. He claimed that he was a knight of the sword and was on an incidental square meal. The fittings in the Y. M. C. A. rooms pleased him very well and he made himself as comfortable as possible there, reading the periodicals, playing games and by his loneliness and enjoying an occasional stroll of observation. He was not particularly favored so far as personal appearance was concerned and carried a very surly disposition right around with him all the time. He was casually informed by two members of the association that he would find more freedom in a tour in the open air, but he heeded not, nor rather scorned their advice, and buried himself in a comfortable chair with a scowl on his face that would frighten a "spook," to await developments. He didn't wait long for Patrolman Harrison appeared soon to start him again on his tramp, tramp, tramp. Strange specimens, these fellows who won't work. Do they ever see happy days or do they derive a little joy that comes to them from the memories of the past?

—Saturday afternoon a party of urbans whose ages range from 8 to 10 years went to Brackett's coal yard, about one-fourth of a mile above the Newton station, on the main line of the Boston & Albany railroad, where they found a derrick car standing on a spur track. The boys smashed the chain holding the big iron derrick in place and swung it over track 1 of the main line, and kept the matter as quiet as possible to facilitate the arrest of the boys. The names of three boys are now in the hands of the police and the agents of the railroad stations, so as to give strangers a tion. They, with four or five companions, were seen running a way from the vicinity of the coal yard just after the accident occurred.

—Miss Ina F. Hackett of Dover, N. H., is visiting D. and Mrs. J. F. Frisbie.

—Frank D. Frisbie returned home on Wednesday from his summer vacation spent in Westfield, Maine.

—The city is extending the water main on Pembroke street, to the new house Mr. R. A. Ballou is building, between Brighton and Durant street.

—Miss E. A. Burke's school for dancing and deportment opened very successfully in Cole's Hall last Saturday afternoon. The entrances were extremely gratifying to the management and large classes and a successful season are assured. The entrance to Cole's Hall is just beyond Harrington's news stand, a fact, perhaps, worth recording, now that the sign has been taken down.

—The arrest of Mrs. Corinne M. Cleveland of 22 Waverley avenue, and Mr. Edwin C. Lewis, a lawyer of 27 South street, Boston, last evening, made quite a sensation. It was made on complaint of Mr. Lewis' mother, of Brooklyn, New York, who charges that some $500 worth of silver ware, gold plate and furniture were removed from her house in Brooklyn by the parties named, and the affair is probably the outgrowth of a family misunderstanding. Mrs. Cleveland and Mr. Lewis were taken to Boston, and held to appear in the municipal court this morning, where they will deny that they were any way implicated in their taking the goods referred to, and will give bail to appear when the necessary requisition papers arrive.

—One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place at the residence of Mr. Levi Tower, Newtonville avenue, Wednesday evening, when Miss Emma Tower of Newton and Mr. Eugene A. Stevens of Bluehill, Me., were married in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dillion Bronson of the Methodist church. The maid of honor was Miss Mildred Bullock of Pawtucket and the best man Mr. John Stevens of Boston. The ushers were Geo. M. Weed and Alonzo Weed of Newton and Fred E. Kimball of Burlington, Vt. The bride was attired in heavy corded white silk, cut on train, with garniture of rare old lace. Her veil was an old family heirloom. A reception followed the ceremony, at which about 300 were present. Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left on a wedding tour, and on their return will reside on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

FALL MILLINERY STYLES

AS SEEN IN THE OPENING HELD THIS WEEK BY MISS ROBBINS.

The millinery openings at the Juvenile on Elmwood street, are one of the events of the season in Newton, and on Tuesday, Miss Robbins' store was crowded with ladies from early in the morning till the hour of closing. It was the first day, but the weather was so pleasant that ladies took advantage of it, and the street was blocked with carriages most of the day. That the opening was a success is evident from the fact that nearly a hundred hats and bonnets were sold on the first day. Visitors were impressed on entering with the great variety of colors that are to be worn this winter, the shelves being filled with velvets in all shades, and the gorgeous plumage of birds, and with ribbons of all the hues of the rainbow, not to speak of the new colors for this season which rainbows never dreamed of. In the show cases were the more delicate water flowers, feather and jet ornaments, which come in the shape of birds and butterflies, as well as less wonderful forms. But the hats and bonnets, in which all these things were combined, were the chief attraction, and called forth many murmurs of admiration, for their daintiness and attractive shapes, and the style which always characterizes the creations that come from the Juvenile. In spite of the great number of these, none could be called copies, as Miss Robbins is very careful not to have one hat patterned after another. As she and her milliners spend a week at the large hat making openings in New York, where hundreds of pattern bonnets are shown, they find it very easy to avoid this. The hats and bonnets are said to be a trifle larger this year than last, and there is also a revival of the old Gainsborough hat, always so becoming to youthful faces, and a number of these were shown. But the new and some of velvet, trimmed with the new Prince of Wales feathers, and brightened up with colored velvet. One in brown felt, with black feathers and yellow velvet bows was especially attractive. Hats of less size, and of many shapes were shown, one very pretty one being trimmed with roses and leaves, a new feature of this season, and the new color called bluetin velvet bows. Street bonnets in modest shades were shown, one very stylish one being of black velvet, with gilt coronet, and velvet strings. Small felt hats will be much worn, and they come in all the new shades of brown, in blue, and in black. A bonnet of black velvet and jet is a very stylish but modest affair. A very pretty bonnet of brown velvet, with crown of tan and gilt lace and trimmed with brown wings was much admired. But the evening bonnets excited the most admiration, one striking one having a jet lace crown, with band of black velvet, surrounded with a wreath of velvet roses, shaded from pink to deep red; another was of gilt lace, with cerise velvet, and velvet roses on either side. One with cream beaded lace crown, with bands of shaded heliotrope velvet was also very pretty. The evening hats are shown by gaslight, so that their effect can be judged, the colors changing greatly from their appearance by daylight. On account of late storm of Tuesday, the opening was continued on Wednesday, with the same large attendance. Ladies who have attended the Boston openings say that they found that given by Miss Robbins much more attractive, both for the variety and for the stylish nature of the display. It might be said that besides having patrons from all parts of Newton, Miss Robbins has quite a large number from Boston.

Millinery Opening.

Mrs. E. E. Smith will have her annual millinery opening on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 13, 14 and 15 at her store, 282 Moody street, Waltham. The ladies of Newton are cordially invited to inspect the new styles in trimmed hats and bonnets, and the millinery novelties.

MUNICIPAL PROCEEDINGS.

SITE FOR THE NEW NEWTONVILLE SCHOOL-HOUSE SELECTED AT LAST—COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC PROPERTY REPORTS THAT $50,000 IS INSUFFICIENT FOR REQUIREMENTS OF PIERCE SCHOOL DISTRICT—ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Both branches of the city government met in their respective chambers Monday evening. The most important action taken was that of selecting a site for the new school building in the Newtonville district. It was decided to let the Knowles lot pass into history as one of three or four considered and to select instead the Harrington land, just as acceptable to Newtonville residents, it is understood, and costing less money. It went against the grain of the public property committee to give up the Knowles lot, for its members believe that it is the most desirable one of all those offered as a site for the new school house. Still, the necessary order for the purchase of the land failed repeatedly to get through both branches. In the meantime, the residents of the Newtonville district were clamoring for increased school accommodations. It was, seemingly, a case of another lot or no school, at least, very soon. The result is that the Harrington land has found a purchaser and the Knowles lot is still in the market.

Mayor Fenno called the board of aldermen together shortly after 7:30 o'clock. He read a communication from Mr. G. H. Elder, inspector of buildings, recommending the granting of a permit to William Shaughnessy to erect a stable for four horses. On motion of Alderman Rumery, action on the report was deferred.

The quarterly report of the chief of the fire department was received.

The completion of drawings for jurors resulted as follows: Traverse (superior court), Moses G. Crane, Lake avenue, Ward 5; Charles P. Darling, Grove street, Ward 4. Superior judicial court, D. W. Bond, Polham street, Ward 6; Caleb F. Purdy, Murray street, Ward 2.

These petitions were presented and referred to appropriate committees: Geo. W. Gleason, et al., for gravel sidewalks on Bowdoin street; Francis Murdock, concrete sidewalk, West side Bacon street; Isaac Garrison, et al., drain in Newtonville avenue; Newton Theological Institution, through its treasurer, sewer in Cypress street; Caroline J. Barker, sidewalks, Washington street; J. T. Langford, sewer in Waban park.

On the petition of the New England Telephone Company asking for locations for poles and wires in Elmwood street, Copley street, Forest avenue and Washington street, hearings were ordered for Monday evening, Oct. 22.

On motion of Alderman Roffe, an order was adopted subject to existing ordinances of the city, giving the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company permit to extend wires across Pomfret street and to put up sundry poles and run wires thereon in Washington, Lombard and Austin streets, Hyde, Hillside and Auburndale avenues, also permit to attach a 6-pin arm to a fire alarm pole on River street.

Alderman Hunt for the highway committee reported favorable on petitions of Crane, et al., for laying out and acceptance of Berwick road; Garrison, et al., sewer in Newtonville avenue; C. C. Burr, sewer in Central street, from Woodland avenue to Fern; Anders, et al., sewer in Otis street; Ballou, sewer in Durant street.

On motion of Alderman Bothfield, an order was adopted authorizing the laying out of Elm road and the taking of the necessary land therefor.

On motion of Alderman Bothfield, an order was adopted, authorizing the laying out of 2654 feet of water pipe on the Ave. Weir and Chestnut streets and appropriating $4108 therefor.

An order was adopted requesting the committee on legislation to appear at the hearing in the State House, Oct. 18, at 10 a. m., and favor the construction of a lock and dam in the Charles river. Alderman Bothfield explained that it was one of the initiatory steps in the great plan of the Metropolitan Park Commissioners for the improvement of the Charles river basin and eventually the laying out of one of the most beautiful river park ways in this country.

An old order providing for the issue of central boulevard bonds was rescinded and a new one passed, authorizing the city treasurer to issue and sell eighty $1000 bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent, per annum, said bonds maturing Oct. 1, 1940, the proceeds from sale of same to be devoted to expense of central boulevard construction. The original order called for a larger amount, which it has been found will not be required.

An order was adopted giving notice to M. G. Crane, Emily Crane and others of the intent of the city to lay out Berwick road and accept same, Oct. 22. On a similar order of intent, by a sewer in Henshaw court, westerly, a hearing was ordered for the same date.

Alderman Hunt for the committee on public property, to whom was referred the matter of securing a site for a schoolhouse to provide for the Pierce district, reported that a 12-room building was required and that $50,000 would not be a sufficient sum to provide for the structure. This report means that the public property committee will insist upon a 12-room building. One of that size, it seems, cannot be put up for $50,000 and, consequently, Councilman Bullard's scheme of economy is not likely to be attained. There are some members of the city council who think $50,000 ought to be sufficient for the requirements of the Pierce district and provide for a building to at will fill present needs and take care of the future for some time to come. Hence, the attempt made to win the public property committee over to that view of the case.

On motion of Alderman Hunt, an order was adopted authorizing the laying of sewers in Newtonville avenue, Central street, Fern, Otis and Austin streets, Cottage place, Elm court, court off Cherry street, court off Allston street and private land off Seaver's street.

The order for the purchase of the Knowles lot was taken from the table at this point. Alderman Rumery moved the passage of the first public meeting of the season and a large and enthusiastic gathering is expected.

The feature of the evening will be the report of Miss Nelson, delegate of the Union to the Cleveland Convention.

The young people of the city and all interested in the Christian Endeavor movement are extended a most hearty invitation to be present.

bought for less money. I should offer no objection to the Harrington or other lots offered at about the same figure that this can be bought for.

Alderman Rumery—Necessity demands that this order should be either passed or killed. The people of Newtonville want us to secure as quickly as possible a site for a schoolhouse and afford them relief from present conditions as soon as practicable. There is no use in delaying this matter longer.

Alderman Hunt brought up the point that the chairman of the public property committee was not present, urging it a reason for again tabling. On motion of Alderman Bothfield the order was tabled for the second time. Later, it was taken from the table and killed, failing of passage by a vote of 3 to 2, two members absent.

Common Council.

President Knapp presided at the regular meeting of the lower branch. There was a large amount of concurrent business, over 70 papers coming down from the board of aldermen. The Newtonville schoolhouse was one of the vital topics of the session and a site for it was secured, doubtless greatly to the satisfaction of many parents who have been kept on the anxious seat owing to a little difference of opinion concerning land values and ideal lots for a school building.

Councilman Green sets things moving by a motion to take the order from the table providing for the purchase of 70,000 feet of land, bounded by Watertown, Walker street and Brookside avenue and providing an appropriation of $9000 therefor.

Councilman Tolman—Before action is taken on this, I trust the members will look into the matter more closely. The Knowles party has made an exceedingly fair offer of 15 cents per foot and agreed if that price was not satisfactory to leave it to three disinterested parties, they to fix the amount per foot to be paid for the land. The land is said to be well worth 15 cents per foot and the lot is particularly well adapted for a school building. It would be hardly fair to select another site now when these people have made such a fair proposition to the city.

Councilman Green—The residents for Ward Two want this matter settled, to the end that something may be done at once toward the erection of a schoolhouse. The new building is a pressing need. I have favored the Knowles lot from the first, but as there seems to be no chance of getting an order through for its purchase, it seems necessary to select some other piece of land. The Harrington lot will suit the people of Ward Two very well and under the circumstances it seems better to pass the order providing for its purchase. In the upper branch, the Knowles lot order was taken from the table tonight and failed of a passage. It is better to terminate further uncertainty and get some order through at once.

Councilman Ross—The highway committee has never reported favorably on the Harrington lot. I don't think it is suitable and it doesn't seem to me that we should be obliged to take what we don't want because two or three men are bound to stand out against the purchase of the Knowles land.

Councilman Savage—The people of Newtonville are satisfied with the Harrington lot. It can be purchased for about $1000 less than the price asked on the Knowles' land. The owners of the latter came down in price only after the Harrington and other lots were offered at a less figure. Newtonville needs a schoolhouse and the Newtonville representatives in both branches of the city government are ready to vote for the Harrington lot as it will be acceptable to their constituents, who don't care so much about just what particular lot is selected as they do for obtaining a speedy relief for the overcrowded condition of the Newtonville schools. There are those who prefer the Harrington lot. It is, really, quite a desirable site for a school building.

After some further discussion, Councilman Green's motion prevailed and the order for the purchase of the Harrington land was taken from the table, seven voting in the affirmative, six negative, one absent.

Councilman Savage—Now that the order providing for the purchase of the Harrington lot is before us, I can see no reason why it should not pass. As a site for the needed schoolhouse it is satisfactory to those most interested in the matter, the parents of the pupils, and there is no good reason to urge for longer delay.

Councilman Bullard—I agree with the Ward Two representatives in this body. The residents of Newtonville will be perfectly satisfied with the Harrington lot. The real question of importance with them, just now, is to get a school site. Some very practical men believe that the Harrington lot is the best of all those offered for the purpose. Ex-Alderman Chadwick told me that it was well adapted and very conveniently situated for a school building. Now if that site meets the approval of the people of Ward Two, it seems to me that the plain duty should urge us not to delay this matter longer. In the opinion of real estate men, the price made on the Harrington lot is very low. I hope the order will pass.

President Knapp put the question and the order went through without dissenting vote. Clerk Brimblecom announced 13 yeas. There was one member absent.

On motion of Councilman Green, order 17,608 was taken from the table and passed. It provides for the issue of nine $1000 bonds, denominated Newtonville school loan, bearing 4 per cent interest, the principal thereof to be utilized for the purchase of 70,000 feet of land on Watertown street, between Walker street and Brookside avenue.

On motion of Councilman Green, order 17,609 was taken from the table and passed. It authorizes the public property committee to advertise for plans and proposals for the construction of a 12-room brick school building on Watertown street and provides for an appropriation of $100 therefor.

The common council adjourned about 9:45 o'clock and the Newtonville members at least returned home happy. They are able now to assure their constituents that the new schoolhouse for Ward Two is, at last, an assured fact.

Newton Christian Endeavor Union. The fall "rally" of the Union will be held with the "Pilgrim" Society at the Methodist church, Newtonville, on Monday evening, Oct. 15th at 7:45 o'clock.

This is the first public meeting of the season and a large and enthusiastic gathering is expected.

The feature of the evening will be the report of Miss Nelson, delegate of the Union to the Cleveland Convention.

The young people of the city and all interested in the Christian Endeavor movement are extended a most hearty invitation to be present.

DR. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

AUTHOR OF "AMERICA" PAYS FITTING TRIBUTE TO THE KINDLY PHILOSOPHER.

Of the class of 1829, Harvard University, from which Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes graduated, with 60 fellow-students, there are now only four survivors. These are Mr. Charles Storow of Lawrence, Rev. Dr. Cunningham of Newport, Rev. Samuel May of Leicester and Rev. S. F. Smith, D. D., of Newton Centre.

Dr. Smith, who attained fame as the author of "America," and whose contributions in prose and verse have brought him into prominence in American literary circles, has been a lifelong friend of Dr. Holmes. He was a frequent visitor at Dr. Holmes' house, and Dr. Holmes went over from Cambridge to Newton Centre very often to greet his old college companion and to chat about the scenes and events of their boyhood and student days.

Rev. Dr. Smith is now in his 80th year, vigorous, and with mental powers unimpaired with the burden of old age. When seen by a reporter, tears moistened his eyes as he spoke reverently of the distinguished American writer of that circle New England born and bred, of whom Holmes, Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, Whittier and Lowell were examples of high literary distinction. Of Dr. Holmes, he said:

"He was very popular with his classmates in college, and their affection toward him has been constantly increasing. He was diligent, faithful and successful as a scholar, and as teacher in the medical school he rendered even the dry subject of anatomy attractive. He had a kind word and a gracious look for everyone, and made himself accessible to all. He has left no one in the world to speak otherwise than good of him."

"He ranked high in college as a scholar, and his industry as a student continued throughout his life. He was an earnest and conscientious worker always. He looked on the bright side of life. His wit and humor were never labored, but, on the contrary, were the expressions of a cheerful, contented and vigorous mind. In his latter days he read and thought much on theological subjects, but he was always calm, reasonable and charitable to those whose education led them to adopt views different from his own. His mind, toward the last of his life, turned instinctively toward religion."

"In his study, at Beverly Farms, he generally wrote in great anxiety, sitting in a window and in sight of an immense rock 30 or 40 feet in height. Calling the attention of a friend to this rock, he once said, in the beautiful language of the Scriptures: 'When I am afraid, I will flee to the rock, which is higher than I.'"

"Upon the occasion of my 60th wedding anniversary, Sept. 16, I received through Hon. Horatio King, a note from Dr. Holmes, acknowledging the receipt of a poem, which I had written for my wife on that anniversary occasion. It contained a kind sentiment and a few words which I can always treasure, and which I can appropriately repeat in a eulogy of Dr. Holmes—'he deserves all the good that can be said of him.'"

His Fear.
(From Truth.)

Chisel (the tombstone cutter)—Have you selected an epitaph for Mr. Blackstone?

Mrs. Blackstone (relict of Blackstone)—How would this do, "Here lies a lawyer and an honest man!" That would tell the story, wouldn't it?

Chisel—Yes, but not quite clearly enough. I am afraid that strangers might think that there were two men buried in one grave.

SCHOOL SANITATION.

The neglect of repairs in the Davis school has had deplorable results, in the epidemic of diphtheria which it is said can be traced directly to that school. The board of health, it is stated, notified the public property committee that the floors in some of the school rooms in this building were so filled with disease germs that they should be replaced before another year, but nothing was done about it, and school began as usual. The recent cases of diphtheria are all traced, it is said, to the same room in which, last year, the pupils contracted scarlet fever. Of course, now that so many cases of disease have appeared the public property committee have been roused up to take the action they ought to have taken months before. Now that the committee see the importance of acting, it might not be a bad idea to have the board of health find out whether there are not other schoolhouses about the city that need attention.

There is no doubt but that crowded buildings need the most careful attention to be kept in a healthy condition. Buildings that are in such constant use by so many people are apt to become unhealthy, unless the greatest care is taken. Let any one visit some of our larger school buildings, after school is over for the day, and he will be convinced that there is no such thing as a science of ventilation. The air is so foul in most of the rooms that a grown person can barely endure it, and how those that remain in these rooms several hours a day escape the ill effects is a mystery. Those who have not time to visit the schoolhouses, might try the police court room at City Hall, some morning after a crowded session of the court.

In some of the schoolhouses, the teachers manage to keep the air tolerably pure by opening all the doors and windows at recess, several times a day, and this is the chief reason why there is need of recesses in schools. After school is out, also, the janitor should be required to open every door and window for at least an hour, so that the rooms could be purified for the next day. If both these things were attended to we should hear much less of sickness among school children, but it is said that there might be a good deal of improvement in these respects.

But no schoolhouse can be a healthy place when the sanitary appliances are in the basement. The foul air from them rises and can be detected on the upper floors by the visitor, and in some cases the odor is sickening. New and expensive schoolhouses are built with this arrangement, and they are just as bad as the old ones. In a neighboring town a costly and imposing brick structure has been put up and only used a few months, and yet in spite of the latest improvements in sanitary plumbing there is a sickening odor about every room on the first floor. The sanitary arrangements of a schoolhouse, with its hundreds of children, ought to be in a separate building, and if necessary a law should be passed making such a regulation imperative. It can be connected by a passageway and heated by stoves if necessary, but only in that way can our schools be made healthy, no matter how much money is expended for plumbing. The school buildings themselves should never be connected directly with the sewers, which always will be dangerous to the health of the pupils. If any more schoolhouses are to be built in Newton this matter should be seen to. One of the leading plumbers of the city, who has had a good deal to do with schoolhouse work, says too much importance cannot be made of this question, if we wish healthy school children.

Mr. J. T. LANGFORD has an article on another page, discussing the grade crossing question, in which he says that the question involved require "calm deliberation." That is about all we have had so far, and it looks as if the deliberation would be "so-so" that nothing will ever be done. The danger seems to be that there has been so much deliberation, and so many plans, that no one will ever be able to decide in favor of any particular one, the arguments are so strong in favor of each. If we could have a mayor and city council who would act, after the way is over, every one would feel relieved, no matter what plan was adopted.

The "No School" signal did not sound Wednesday morning, which caused surprise among those who did not happen to recall that the "no school" signals have been abolished by the school authorities, who decided to let the parents decide whether to send their children or not on stormy days, and to have the schools open every morning, whether it stormed or not. Fortunately most parents were sensible enough on Wednesday to keep their children at home, as unless people were entirely encased in waterproof garments on that day it was impossible to escape getting wet through. It was the worst storm we have had for months, but the rain was very much needed.

BENTLEY W. WARREN of Brighton was nominated by the Democratic Congressional Convention from this district, yesterday, to oppose Gen. Draper. He was nominated in a brilliant speech by Hon. Geo. Fred Williams, and was chosen unanimously. He is a lawyer with an office in Boston, and is a son of the late William Wirt Warren, who was elected to Congress from an overwhelmingly Republican district in the famous political landslide in 1874 that landed the late William Gaston in the gubernatorial chair. Mr. F. H. Howes of Newton is a member of the district committee.

THE Commission on "Greater Boston" will give a hearing at City Hall, Tuesday evening, Oct. 23rd, at 7.30, on the question of having one metropolitan system for police, fire department, schools, parks, etc., and also on annexation to Boston. We hardly think any one would favor the latter, as Newton does not care to become a ward of Boston, like Brighton, but possibly some may favor uniting on some of the departments.

THE weather bureau got left on the storm of this week and only issued its warnings on the morning after. The hurricane had evidently started in too much of a hurry to think of sending the proper notice to the weather doctors. The amount of water that fell was 1.25 inches, which with the rain of Monday night makes a good average for the week.

GREYSTONE, who will be remembered by many readers of the GRAPHIC, has one of his characteristic letters from "Cranberry Centre," on another page in which he calls attention to some of the great events in the history of that part of Newton.

THE State Republican Club have their fourth annual dinner in Music Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 24th, and distinguished speakers are promised although no names are yet announced.

Cereemonial tea at 5 P. M. Served to invited guests.
Stereopticon Lecture at 7 P. M. Home scenes in Japan, by Mr. Kijiro Nakamura.
Sale of Dishes cooked for display at 7.30 P. M. to the highest bidder.

Ladies on the Newton committee of assistant hostesses are Mrs. S. A. Shann, Mrs. J. L. Grandin, Mrs. H. N. Smith, Mrs. Byrne, Mrs. J. W. Parker. Badge for Newton people, a knot of dark blue and yellow ribbon.
Ladies on the Auburndale committee of assistant hostesses are Mrs. C. C. Bragdon, Mrs. Philip Butler, Mrs. F. A. Sawyer, Mrs. Edward Alm, Mrs. Charles Higgins. Badge for Auburndale people, light blue ribbon.

The Chief Bixby Memorial.

The Memorial committee held a meeting at City Hall, yesterday, as a preliminary to closing up matters, and it was found that the cash on hand amounted to $5,812.50 while the total subscriptions reported foot up $6957. Nine books are still out, and it is expected that these will bring up the total to $7500. The final meeting will be held next week. Those who wish to subscribe and have not yet done so, can send their names to Mr. Brimblecom, agent of the Board of Health, and it is the last opportunity to show honor to the memory of the late Chief Bixby.

No School Bell Wednesday.

For our teachers, as well as for our children, we would call attention to the fact, too well known to the mothers of Newton, that there was school Wednesday forenoon.

If it is considered best to give absolute authority to one person, let us see that with brain, they combine enough judgment and heart to make it impossible to order women and children out in a storm like that of Wednesday.

Senator Boynton for a Compromise Candidate.

Medford will without doubt present a candidate at the Councilor convention at Union Hall, Boston, tomorrow, as will be seen by the following circular which will be handed to the delegates at the convention.

TO THE DELEGATES TO THE THIRD COUN-CILLOR CONVENTION.

GREETING: The friends of the Hon. Eleazar Boynton of Medford, desire to call to your attention a few facts showing the qualifications of that gentleman to represent the Third Councilor District.

Senator Boynton was born in Rockport, Essex County, in 1824. He came to Boston at the age of twenty-one and entered the wholesale grocery and ship chandler establishment of Boynton & Miller. The firm's business flourished and grew and the name changed, until today the firm of S. Boynton & Co. of which the subject of this sketch is a member, is the largest cotton duck manufacturers in the country.

The success of this firm is largely due to the sterling business integrity of Eleazar Boynton.

Mr. Boynton was a member of the School Board in Boston for some years when he resided in that city, and when he moved to Medford he was honored with a similar position. In 1861 he was a member of Medford's board of Selectmen, and in 1862 was chairman of the board. In 1863 he represented Medford in the legislature, and the First Middlesex District in the senate in 1883 and 1886.

He is a vice president and trustee of the Medford Savings Bank, a director of the Blackstone Nat. Bank of Boston, Pres. of the United States Cotton Duck Manufacturers Ass'n, Pres of the United States Cotton Duck Dealers Ass'n, and president of the Russell Mills, of Plymouth.

He is a lifelong Republican and has served his party faithfully, whether on town, county, senate or congressional or state central committee.

In addition to the above record of the man we present as a candidate, we ask you to consider that Medford never has had representation on the Governor's Council.

Medford's delegates were solid for Councilor Leeson a year ago and here is an opportunity for Newton's delegates to not only return the compliment, but vote for an able man to succeed the favored son of Newton.

Lassell Notes.

Last Monday a party of Lassell students, numbering nearly a hundred, under the conduct of Mr. Bragdon, visited the city by the courtesy of Prof. Dunham, Prof. Bragdon and party, on the Monday previous, enjoyed recently a fine organ recital at Shawmut church.

The new teachers, Mrs. D. Curtis and Fraulien Von der Kall, are reaping golden opinions from their respective classes. toric towns of Concord and Lexington and such noted places as were to be seen on the way thither. On the Monday previous, Bunker Hill and the Navy Yard furnished a valuable object lesson to an interesting party.

Mrs. J. G. Hauser, who for twenty-six years has lived in India, and thus has had excellent advantages for the study of that interesting country, gave a novel and highly entertaining lecture at the seminary Thursday last, her subject being the "Indian People and Customs."

Miss Ransom and the members of the Canoe Club enjoyed an evening on the Charles, on the occasion of the last band concert of the season at the Newton Boat Club. Mr. Bragdon also took a party of the students upon the river on that evening.

On Wednesday evening last, in the seminary gymnasium, Mr. Leland T. Rovers read "The River." Among these is a large silver punchbowl and silver of elegant design, and bearing the inscription, "Professor and Mrs. C. C. Bragdon, 1869-1894. From Auburndale Friends, Gloucester." There is also a handsome silver coffee urn, engraved with names and date presented by the students of the seminary, and a no less beautiful salad bowl and spoon, bearing the letters R. and B. Mrs. Bragdon's maiden name having been Ransom. This was the gift of the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church of which Mrs. B. is president. From Mr. Philip Butler, the Newton High School, came a beautiful bouquet of roses and a portfolio of unique design.

Peculiar to itself.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself, in a strictly medicinal sense, in three important particulars, viz: first, in the combination of remedial agents used; second in the proportion in which they are mixed third, in the process by which the active curative properties of the preparation are secured. These three important points make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar in its medicinal merit, as it accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

But it is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. What Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others is reason for confidence that it is the medicine for you.

Our "KNOCKABOUT"

School and Play Suits for Lads.

SIZES 4 TO 16 YEARS.

$5 00.

The name "Knockabout" is original with us, being our own idea and copyright, and the cloth used in the manufacture of the suits, which is made especially for us, is subjected to the most rigorous examination and test for purity of fibre, strength of weave, and careful blending of its non-soiling and non-fading colors, before we allow a yard of it to be cut.

The suit is substantially trimmed with tough and durable linings, threads, etc., and the seams are double stitched and stayed with tape, rendering them impossible to run.

The trousers are fitted with our patent "Cavalry," or double knee, and extra pieces and buttons accompany each suit.

Our "Knockabout" suit is gotten up to resist hard and unremitting usage, and parents will find it a most satisfactory investment.

CLOCKMATE.

My lady spent a golden hour
Last night with me at chess,
And only those who know her power
Ye dire result can guess.
Ye little lady, like a host of fates,
Can send destruction woe,
I have those dear eyes a magic light,
A might untold doth lurk!

My lady loves ye game of chess,
Ye little contested field;
Yet smileth less when harder they press
Than when my cohorts yield.
Ah, if I dared to press my suit
Would she be cold and grave?
Or would she smile in sweetness mute,
Ye answer I do crave?

My bishop good my love shall please;
My knight ride on her quest;
My pawns shall be her slightest need;
My castle guard her rest;
My king whom erst she did dethrone,
Shall bow a willing knee;
My queen—nay, one is queen alone—
She plays at chess with me!

DESERTION.

The sun was just rising as the small tublike steamer, or, to be more correct, steam barge, the Bulldog, steamed past the sleeping town of Gravesend at a good six knots per hour.

There had been a little discussion on the way between her crew and the engineer, who down in his grimy little engine room did his own stoking and everything else necessary. The crew, consisting of captain, mate and boy, who were doing their first trip on a steamer, had been transferred at the last moment from their sailing barge, the Witch, and found to their discomfort that the engineer, who had not expected to sail so soon, was terribly and abjectly drunk. Every moment he could spare from his engines he thrust the upper part of his body through the small hatchway and rowed with his command.

"Ahoy, barge," he shouted, popping up like a jack in the box, after a brief cessation of hostilities.

"Don't take no notice of 'im," said the mate. "'E's got a bottle of brandy down there, an 'e's 'alf mad."

"If I knew anything of them blessed engines," growled the skipper, "I'd go an hit 'im over the head."

"But you don't," said the mate, "and neither do I, so you'd better keep quiet."

"You think you're a fine fellow," continued the engineer, "standing up there an playing with that little wheel. You think you're doing all the work. What's that boy doing? Send him down to stoke."

"Go down," said the skipper, grinning with fury, and the boy reluctantly obeyed.

"You think," said the engineer pathetically after he had cuffed the boy's head and dropped him down below by the scruff of his neck, "you think because I've got a black face I'm not a man. There's many a hoily face 'ides a good 'art."

"I don't think nothing about it," grunted the skipper. "You do your work, and I'll do mine."

"Don't you give me none of your back answers," bellowed the engineer, "'cos I won't 'ave 'em."

The skipper shrugged his shoulders and exchanged glances with his sympathetic mate. "Wait till I get 'im ashore," he murmured.

"The b'iler is wore out," said the engineer, reappearing after a hasty dive below. "It may be at any moment."

As though to confirm his words, fearful sounds were heard proceeding from below.

"It's only the boy," said the mate. "He's scared—natural."

"I thought it was the b'iler," said the skipper, with a sigh of relief. "It was loud enough."

As he spoke the boy got his head out of the hatchway, and rendered desperate with fear fairly fought his way past the engineer and gained the deck.

"Very good," said the engineer as he followed him on deck and staggered to the side. "I've had enough of you lot."

"Hadh't you better go down to them engines?" shouted the skipper.

"Am I your slave?" demanded the engineer tearfully. "Tell me that—am I your slave?"

"Go down and do your work like a sensible man," was the reply.

At these words the engineer took umbrage at once, and scowling fiercely removed his greasy jacket and flung his cap on the deck. He then finished the brandy which he had brought up with him and gazed owlishly at the Kentish shore.

"I'm going to have a wash," he said loudly, and sitting down removed his boots.

"Go down to the engines first," said the skipper, "and I'll send the boy to you with a bucket and some soap."

"Bucket!" replied the engineer scornfully as he moved to the side. "I'm going to have a proper wash."

"Hold him!" roared the skipper suddenly. "Hold him!"

The mate, realizing the situation, rushed to seize him, but the engineer, with a mad laugh, put his hands on the side and vaulted into the water. When he rose, the steamer was 20 yards ahead.

"Go astern!" yelled the mate.

"How can I go astern when there's nobody at the engines?" shouted the skipper as he hung onto the wheel and brought the boat's head sharply around.

"Get a line ready."

The mate, with a coil of rope in his hand, rushed to the side, but his benevolent efforts were frustrated by the engineer, who, seeing the boat's head making straight for him, saved his life by an opportune dive. The steamer rushed by.

"Turn 'er ag'in!" screamed the mate. The captain was already doing so, and in a remarkably short space of time the boat, which had described a complete circle, was making again for the engineer.

"Look out for the line," shouted the mate warningly.

"I don't want your line," yelled the engineer. "I'm going ashore."

"Come aboard!" shouted the captain imploringly as they swept past again.

"We can't manage the engines," said the mate. "Put her round again," said the mate. "I'll go for him with the boat. Haul her in, boy!"

The boat, which was dragging astern, was hauled close, and the mate tumbled into her, followed by the boy, just as the captain was in the middle of another circle, to the intense indignation of a crowd of shipping, large and small, which was trying to get by.

"Ahoy!" yelled the master of a tug which was towing a large ship. "Take that steam roundabout out of the way. What the thunder are you doing?"

"Picking up my engineer," replied the captain as he steamed right across the other's bows and nearly ran down a sailing barge, the skipper of which, a Salvation Army man, was nobly fighting with his feelings.

"Why don't you stop?" he yelled. "Cos I can't," yelled the skipper of the Bulldog as he threaded his way between a huge steamer and a schooner, who, in avoiding him, were getting up a little collision on their own account.

"Ahoy, Bulldog, ahoy!" called the mate. "Stand by to pick us up! We've got him."

The skipper smiled in an agonized fashion as he shot past, hotly pursued by his boat. The feeling on board of the other craft as they got out of the way of the Bulldog and nearly ran down her boat, and then in avoiding that nearly ran down something else, cannot be put into plain English, but several captains ventured into the domains of the ornamental with marked success.

"Shut off steam!" yelled the engineer as the Bulldog went by again. "Draw the fires then."

"Who's going to steer while I do?" bellowed the skipper as he left the wheel for a few seconds to try to get a line to throw to them.

By this time the commotion in the river was frightful, and the captain's steering as he went on his round again something marvelous to behold. A strange lack of sympathy on the part of brother captains added to his troubles. Every craft he passed had something to say to him, busy as they were, and the remarks were as monotonous as they were insulting. At last, just as he was resolving to run his boat straight down the river until he came to a halt for want of steam, the mate caught the rope he flung, and the Bulldog went down the river with her boat made fast to her stern.

"Come aboard, you—you lunatic!" he shouted.

"Not afore I know's 'ow I stand," said the engineer, who was now beautifully sober and in full possession of a somewhat acute intellect.

"What do you mean?" demanded the skipper.

"I don't come aboard," shouted the engineer, "until you and the mate and the boy all swear as you won't say nothing about this little game."

"I'll report you the moment I get ashore," roared the skipper. "I'll give you in charge for desertion. I'll—"

With a supreme gesture the engineer prepared to dive, but the watchful mate fell on his neck and tripped him over a seat.

"Come aboard," cried the skipper, agitated at such determination. "Come aboard, and I'll give you a licking when we get ashore instead."

"Honor bright!" inquired the engineer.

"How bright," chorused the three.

The engineer, with all the honors of war, came on board, and after remarking that he felt chilly bathing on an empty stomach went down below and began to stoke. In the course of the voyage he said it was worth while making such a fool of himself, if only to see the skipper's beautiful steering, warmly asseverating that there was not another man on the river that could have done it. Before this insidious flattery the skipper's wrath melted like snow before the sun, and by the time they reached port he would as soon have thought of hitting his own father as his smooth-tongued engineer.—W. W. Jacobs in Short Stories.

Italian Art Has Spent Its Force.

In the nature of things it was not to be supposed that much excellence of painting could come out of Italy, says Mr. John C. Van Dyke, in writing of the display of painting at the World's fair in The Century.

As well expect fine marbles from modern Greece or bas-reliefs from Mesopotamia. The flower is blown, and even the stalk is in a dry rot. The art genius of Italy typified itself in countless forms during the renaissance. It spent its force, culminating with Titian and dying with Tiepolo in an art peculiar to its age and people. The present race cannot repeat the triumphs of the past, nor have they the versatility or strength to produce a new art in keeping with new tastes.

The attempts of most of the moderns are pitiful in their weakness. Pictures of the Roman Campagna, with ruined aqueducts, pictures of the pyramids, St. Peter's, the Forum, Pompeian flower girls at fountains, monks, fruit sellers, beggars—how much better are they than the tourist pictures of castled Chillon or the Jungfrau, with an Alpine glow collar around its top! Penelope's suitors with the bow of Ulysses and the modern Italians with the palette of Titian! What could they do that would not seem petty by comparison? That which is Italian is mediocre in quality, and that which is very good is not Italian.

A Convalescent's Bedtime.

A convalescent patient should never be permitted to sit up late at night. After the evening meal it is well for all visitors to be excluded from the room, and the patient's mind should be kept as free from excitement as possible. The hour for retiring should be early and such means employed for aiding sleep as may be directed by the physician. A glass of hot milk at bedtime is often a good device for promoting sleep.

VOICE CULTURE.

THE COPLEY SQUARE SCHOOL OF MUSIC AND LANGUAGES.

Probably no similar institution in the country is better equipped for imparting a correct knowledge of singing than is the Copley Square school, located in the Pierce building, Boston. Special care is exercised in placing the tones of the beginner, and few teachers equal Mrs. Katherine F. Barnard in this particular, and the finish in voice culture, under the skillful methods of the instructor in opera and oratorio is unsurpassed by any musical college in the country.

One of the first entertainments given to pupils and their friends will be a concert by the instructor and the advanced pupils, it being a part of the plan of the school to put its pupils before the public as often as possible. The entertainments are always overcrowded, and only those who apply early in the season will be able to secure an invitation.

NONANTUM.

—Mrs. James Quirk of California street is ill with typhoid fever.

—Mr. J. Heafus and family have moved from Westboro to this village.

—Dr. Stearns has recovered and is able to be around once more.

—An orchestra has been formed in Nonantum consisting of some of the finest players outside of Boston.

—A party of members from the Nonantum club formed a theatre party last Friday evening. They saw Richard Golden in Jed Prouty.

—The storm Wednesday morning blew over several of the Italian palaces on the banks of the Charles. Several of the inmates were slightly injured.

—Some of the youngsters about here have been in the habit of taking the boats along the banks of the river and enjoying themselves. Tuesday they borrowed a sailing dory. After being out a few moments the sail dropped, then a gust of wind came and capsized the dory. Luckily the boat was not far from shore and the boys were enabled to make their way to the shore.

—Last Saturday afternoon a match was played between the eleven picked from the cricket club for a supper. After an interesting contest lasting over two hours it was declared a draw. The players then went to the Parker house and enjoyed a plentiful repast. At the conclusion of which the party adjourned to Lyman's hall, Watertown, and enjoyed dancing until 11.30 o'clock.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address: F. J. —Mr. Stephen Hunter, now of New York, is visiting his father, Mr. S. V. A.
Hunter, Lake avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clement returned from a two weeks' sojourn in New Ham-shire this week.

—Mr. Joseph Cousins has the cellar staked out for a double house on Willis street.

—Quite a delegation from this place went to the "Hub" Tuesday to take in the features of the parade of the state militia.

—Miss Jennie Degen, niece of Councilman Degen, is here for a short stay prior to her return to Natick, where she is teaching in the public schools.

—Dr. Martin has purchased from Henry Paul a lot on Centre street as a site for a building which is intended to accommodate for head of young cattle.

—Mr. Webb, Bray's engineer, has leased
one half of the Woodbridge house on Beacon street. Both apartments are now rented.

—Wind and rain played mischief with the gates at the crossing near the ice houses, Wednesday. The iron castings were snapped and all trains were of necessity flagged.

—The bowling alleys in Bray's block
were in possession of Mrs. S. V. A. Hunter and a party of ladies Monday evening.
The fad is as much of an attraction for
the fair sex here as elsewhere in the city.

—Mr. Daniel Pond of Paul street is to get his city water free from the city for a year to repay him for the loss of his water that went away for all flesh when the sewer was put in.

—Rev. Mr. Montague's wife and two children were baptized prior to the morning service in the Baptist church last Sunday morning, the pastor conducting the very impressive ceremonies.

—Mr. Bray's new well in the rear of the big block is not appreciated altogether by his neighbor, J. C. Farrar. Mr. Farrar has a well too, but when they pump water from
Mr. Bray's, his, he says, goes dry.

—There was a sociable in the Methodist church Tuesday evening. A very enjoyable musical program was provided,
a feature being selections by a male quartet,
comprising Messrs. George and Horace Walton, Fred Russell and Harry Cooper.

—Newton A. A. defeated the Worcester
eleven here last Saturday in a lively game of football. Its next scheduled game on the home grounds is with Hyde Park, Oct.
27. The visiting team won about everything last season and is one of the strongest amateur eleven in the state.

—Residents of Trowbridge street are happy. For the first time in three years
there was no big mud puddle and inundation of water following the storm. The provision of sewers has remedied that misfortune, at least, and naturally it causes no small amount of satisfaction to those whose homes are on that thoroughfare.

—The storm inflicted some damage here Tuesday. The high wind during the forenoon blew off limbs of trees and stripped off the autumn leaves as swiftly as the chill frosts of winter. There was a spot near the ice houses on Centre street where the ground was covered to the depth of more than two inches with leaves and twigs.

—A huge limb which fell from a tree
on Station street destroyed a section of fence skirting Mr. Trumbull's grounds, and like damage from the cause was reported in other sections of the ward.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bishop held their second at home reception Wednesday. The Bishop residence on Beacon street was the scene of the very interesting affair and the inclement weather proved no obstacle to the enjoyment of those who came from the Newton, Boston, Brookline and vicinity to welcome and congratulate the young couple. The apartments were very tastefully decorated for the occasion. Florist Farkes equaling his previous efforts in providing an attractive ornate. Judge and Mrs. Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. S. V. A.
Hunter assisted in receiving. After the presentation the guests were escorted to the dining room where an elegant collation was served.

—H. Y. Corey and wife, formerly Miss Clara W. Long, both graduates of the Newton Baptist Theological Seminary, set sail on the ocean steamer Bothnia from Boston, last Saturday, for London. Many relatives and friends gathered at the wharf to see them off. Mr. Corey is a native of New Brunswick and a graduate of Acadia College, N. S. His wife, a Maine lady, he first met at the Newton Seminary. She was preparing for the same missionary work they had become acquainted, and graduated at the same school a little more than a year ago. The marriage took place at the home of the bride, Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 23, since which time they have been visiting relatives and friends on both sides of the line and preparing for their long missionary journey. They will spend two weeks in England, visiting London and other places of interest. They then sail to Madras, India, and thence to Balacanda, about 500 miles inland. The latter part of which journey they make in a small steamer up the river and finally over land by local conveyances in the form of ox teams,
etc., till they reach a home provided a couple of years ago for another missionary who was taken ill and died ere he reached the place. This, therefore, is a new field where no missionary has yet been settled.

Many good wishes go with them from the home land for their consecration and labors
of love.

—Rev. J. J. Lewis will deliver a course of four lectures in Associates hall, 1120
tickets are purchased in advance.

—The pastor-elect, Rev. Edward M.
Noyes, will preach in the Congregational church Sunday morning and evening.
Public cordially invited. Seats free. Installation service will be held Oct. 31.

—Mr. W. S. Appleton is having the city water brought to his summer residence, Hulbrook Hall, and the city is laying a main that will have to be 3,000 feet long
from the street to the house.

—The Waltham Electric Clock Co. has just put an elegant time piece up in the banking rooms of the Newton Centre Trust Co., Bray's block. The case, in antique style, was especially made to match the interior fittings of the Trust Co's finely equipped offices.

—Services at the Unitarian church next Sunday at 10.30. Subject, Oliver Wendell Holmes, poet and teacher. Sunday school at 12. Hark Union conducted by young people at 7.30. Emerson class, Tuesday, 7.45. Study of Tennyson's in Memoriam.
All are cordially invited.

—On Sunday at the Baptist church, the pastor, Dr. Montague, will preach on "Is Heaven a Place?" at 10.30 a. m., and will give an address with numerous stereopticon views, on the Bible lessons of the past quarter, devoting special attention to illustrations from Assyriology at 7 p. m.

—L. Edwin Chase, the violin teacher, is studying with C. M. Loeffler of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. This is an unusually good chance to receive at very low terms
in Newton, the benefit of the best instruction that can be obtained in Boston at much higher price.

—The dancing class at Bray's new hall,
commenced last Tuesday afternoon at 4.30
with a large number of pupils. The class is matronized by Mrs. J. W. Parker, Mrs.
H. W. Mason, Mrs. E. A. Ellis, Mrs. D. B.
Harding to whom application may be made for membership. Prof. H. E. Munroe is instructor, class meets every Tuesday afternoon at 4.30.

—Thursday evening a musical audience
at the Associates smaller hall greeted Mr.
Stanton as he presented the strains of classic music. His explanation of the sonata form and musical illustrations from Beethoven, Grieg, Godard, Floersheim and Chaminade were evidently much appreciated.
The second talk upon the same subject will be given, next Thursday evening
at a quarter to 8 o'clock.

—Miss Mary Alice Corney and Mr.
Wesley Ellsworth Hineley were married
Wednesday morning in the Church of the Sacred Heart. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Whoney, who also conducted the marriage service. The young couple held their reception at the home of the bride's parents, Boylston street, Newton Highlands, Wednesday evening, and reside in the Highlands after a short wedding tour.

—While suffering from an attack of influenza, Chesley Secord, who for a long time has been coachman for Dr. Sylvester, became insane and it was found necessary
to send him to the hospital at Westboro for treatment. He is now doing well and likely to be about again in a few weeks.
His faithful service and excellent habits earned the confidence and esteem of his employer and all who knew him, and his sympathy is expressed for him in his illness and all hope that he may soon be restored to health.

—Oxford road, the new street running from Paul to Parker streets, is about as active just now as any section of the city. Four houses are nearing completion, and we understand that two more are to be started shortly. Alford Bros. & Co.
report the sale of a lot of 9000 square feet
to Benjamin Hammond on this street.
The firm is about to open an office in Bray's block opposite the station, where they will be found for the prompt transaction of business in their line.

—A plan under discussion is the widening of Centre street between the new boulevard and the centre of the village. It is supposed to be a 60 foot street now, but
at one point, the corner of Bowen street, it is only 47 feet. Through it runs the track of an electric street railway. This makes the driveways very narrow, and on account of the large trees along the roadway it is impossible for two carriages to pass on the same side of the track. With the increase of travel anticipated two tracks will be a necessity, but at present the street could not accommodate them. One plan proposed is to widen the street to 100 feet.
This would require the moving back of three or four houses. The other calls for 60 feet, and if made on both sides of the street no houses would be disturbed, and if entirely on the west, only one need be moved back.

—The Newton Centre Improvement Association invite the citizens of Newton Centre to be present at a meeting to be held in Associates Hall, Wednesday, Oct.
17th at 7.45 p. m., and to express their views
upon the subject of electric railroad location between the central boulevard and this village. The following locations have been brought to the attention of the Association, to wit: Centre street route, leave boulevard at Centre street, widen for double tracks to Beacon street. Irving street route, leave boulevard at Irving street, widen Irving to Marshall street,
cross private property to Gibbs and Everett streets, Chesley road to Beacon and Centre streets. Grant avenue route, leave boulevard at Grant avenue, widen Grant avenue
to Beacon street, Beacon to Centre street.
Plans of the proposed routes have been prepared by the city engineer, and will be enlarged for inspection at the meeting.
Realizing the importance of the issue, and with the interest of the community as a whole in mind, the Newton Centre Improvement Association appoint this hearing and urge the attendance of all citizens.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—The Chautauqua Circle will meet next Monday with Mrs. O. E. Gilbert.

—Mrs. J. F. C. Hyde is spending a few days at Manchester, N. H.

—The next meeting of the Monday club will be with Mrs. Hodson, Lincoln street.

—Mrs. McCallum is confined to the house
by illness.

—Keys made and locks repaired at Sherman's hardware store.

—Mr. George May is moving into the house he recently purchased on Duncklee
street.

—Rev. Mr. Phipps has returned from East Gloucester. Mrs. Phipps is at Jamaica Plain.

—Mr. Hoffman from Chicago has leased
a part of Mrs. Wade's double house on Eric avenue.

—Plans are now being made for a fine
house on Griffin avenue, one of our residents for his own occupancy.

—A good number from the Congregational church attended the meeting of the West Suffolk Conference, which was held on Wednesday, at Rev. Dr. Thomas' church, Brookline.

—Mr. E. W. Kent, a brother of Mrs.
Pennell, who has been visiting here and at Portland for several weeks, has gone to his home at Colorado Springs, and his mother, Mrs. Kent, will soon go to spend the winter with her son.

—M. E. services in the new church next Sunday at 10.45 and 7 o'clock. Sunday school at 12. Epworth League at 6. All who have been accustomed to attend these services are invited to renew their attendance. And all Methodists and all who have no church home in this place, are urged to cast in their lot with this society.

Every one is cordially invited to all services.

—Mr. A. Hooper, Jr., has leased the Bragdon house on Hartford street.

—Mr. Alexander Tyler has closed his house, and his daughter will spend the winter in Boston.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hanson have commenced housekeeping at their new house at Eliot.

—Mr. F. R. Moore and family are at home again, after a few days absence visiting friends.

—Money for good mortgages at low rates
by James F. C. Hyde & Son, 31 Milk street, Boston.

—The Bragdon family expect to occupy their fine new house at corner of Lake avenue and Hyde street, sometime next week.

—Mrs. Pettie has returned from Bath,
Me., where she had been to be with her mother in her illness, and whose death occurred at an advanced age.

—The Ladies' Society of the M. E. church will have their annual harvest supper in the ladies parlors of the new church
on Wednesday evening of next week.

—If current rumors are true, Ward Five
will have a strong representation at City Hall next year. Thomas White is mentioned for alderman. David Bates and L.
F. Everett for the common council. A stronger delegation would be hard to name.

—Miss Louisa Pierce, as she was going out of the store of Mr. Brickett, on Monday, stumbled and fell on the sidewalk,
cutting her head badly, and bled freely.
She was taken to her home and was attended by Dr. Deane. Her injuries are not serious and she is able to be about.

—The "Neighborhood" club met at the residence of Mr. E. Moulton, Monday evening and organized for the ensuing year. It has been the custom of this club as with most others, to give prizes to the successful players, but on consideration of the matter it was voted to donate the assessments for benevolent purposes.

—An amicable agreement having been entered into between the city and Mr. B.
Dickerman, in regard to the drainage of that portion of Lincoln street between Woodward street and the railroad station,
and a petition for its acceptance having been signed by all the abutters, the probability is that the street will be accepted.
An effort is also to be made to have Harrington street accepted, on which six houses have been built.

—The Methodist Episcopal Society dedicated its new house of worship Wednesday evening with appropriate ceremonies.
The sermon of dedication was preached by Rishel, John P. Whoney, Rev. W. W.
Hamilton followed with an appeal for funds for the liquidation of the building
debt. Hon. Alden Spear of Newton Centre spoke briefly of the organization and the services of the church, and the dedication of the new building. The church was formally dedicated by the presiding
elder of the district, Rev. George F. Eaton, of Boston, and the services closed with prayer and the benediction by the pastor, Rev. C. A.
Shattor. Immediately after the formal dedication the entire edifice was thrown open for inspection. The exercises were continued last evening, and again this evening.

—Miss Minnie Conway has returned from a short stay at Weymouth.

—Mr. Morton of Ellis street is quite seriously ill.

—Mr. Richard Worcester is laid up by an attack of malaria.

—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Murphy will spend the winter abroad.

—Miss Jennie Hill and Miss May Sullivan entertained friends from Weyland this week.

—John Smith, having entirely recovered
from his recent severe illness, has resumed his duties as local agent here for the Adams Express Company.

—The corporation houses of the silk
mills are being again thoroughly renovated and put in first-class shape under the direction of the new superintendent.

—Miss Sweetland, formerly bookkeeper
at the Newton Rubber works, will be married, Oct. 17, to the Rev. Mr. Everett, pastor of the First Congregational church.
The young couple are to reside in that city upon returning from their wedding tour.

—Just now the Pettie Machine Works
are running nights. This is to make up for time that will be lost in moving and installing the machinery in the new buildings, which will probably necessitate a brief shut down.

—The Young Men's Association will inaugurate a series of assemblies in Prospect Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 12. They are to be given every Friday evening during the winter, and are to be as popular as those of last season. Levy's orchestra will furnish the music, and first-class management is assured.

—James Jones, a carpenter fell from the roof of a new building which is being erected on the property of the Pettie Machine Works, Tuesday afternoon, at a distance of about thirty feet. He struck on his head and was taken up in an unconscious condition and attended by Dr.
Thompson. It was found that he had sustained a number of severe cuts and bruises,
and internal injuries are feared.

—Poor old Bill is no more. "Bill" was probably the greatest favorite in the village, and the cleverest and most gentle bit of horseflesh for miles around. He was the property of Mr. Bernard Briggs, but the children claimed ownership and flocked to greet their dear, old dumb friend whenever the opportunity was presented. It pleased Bill, who seemed to be immensely fond of the village youngsters,
from whom he daily received contributions of good will and affection, generally in the shape of candy. Rheumatism at last used him up, and down on the New Pond road Tuesday, he gave up the ghost as shot from a Winchester in the hands of an agent of the abattoir releasing him from his sufferings.

—Shortly before 11 o'clock Saturday night
several young men engaged in a lively dispute in a bar adjacent to Sullivan square in the Charlestown district, and went outside to settle it. When in front of the carhouse of the West End railroad on Main street they engaged in a free fight,
and during the melee one of the number received a knife thrust in the breast. He bled profusely and was carried into Nelson's drug store and Dr. John F. O'Brien was summoned. Upon examination it was found that the man had a very dangerous wound in the breast, just right of the median line, over an inch in length and extending into the lung tissue. The wound was inflicted with a sharp pocket knife.
The wounded man was removed to the Massachusetts general hospital. It was found that he was Daniel Collins, 25 years of age, a former resident of Charlestown,
but whose home at present is at Newton Upper Falls. His condition is serious, but it is thought that he will recover.

EXECUTORS SALE

—OF—Valuable Real Estate

—IN—
NEWTON CENTRE,

Will be sold at Public Auction on the premises,
Saturday, October 20,

at Three and one quarter o'clock in the afternoon, the following described real estate owned by Benjamin W. Kingsbury, late of Newton Centre, deceased.

Finely Located Estate on Bowen
Street.

The house and lot of land situated on the bend
of Bowen Street and overlooking the Newton Centre and Playground; the house contains 10 rooms, on the first floor are parlor, sitting room, dining room, sewing room and kitchen;
on the second floor four good chambers and bath
room, and on the third floor, servants room;
the cellar is cemented, has a good modern furnace,
and is light and dry; the house is in the best of order, and ready for immediate occupancy. The lot contains 7913 feet, with fruit and shade trees.
The situation and is in good repair. The lot of land very desirable and will commend itself to anyone.

Estate on Bowen Street,
PEAR HOMER STREET.

The estate No. 74 Bowen Street, and now occupied by Mrs. William Tomlinson, the house contains 10 rooms, viz., parlor, sitting room, dining room and kitchen on the first floor, and three good chambers on the second floor, besides bathroom; the cellar is cemented and has a good furnace and laundry; there is a lot of land of 10,000 feet with abundance of fruit, and good garden spot; the situation of this estate within a short distance of Homer street, and the electric cars, makes it particularly attractive.

Homestead on Homer Street.

The old Kingsbury Homestead on the Western side of Homer Street, and adjoining the First Congregational Church. The homestead contains 7 good rooms, with some of the modern conveniences and is in good repair. The lot of land of 29,274 feet, with its generous frontage on Homer Street, with its delightful old trees, and general situation, will certainly be appreciated
by those familiar with its value.

All of the above estates are offered to close
the estate, and will be sold in the order advised;
this property situated so near to the New Newton Boulevard, with the excellent facilities in the way of steam and electric cars, should attract the attention of not only the home seeker but the investor.

Terms $200 on each estate at sale, further
terms at time of sale.

shore.

—The engagement is announced of Miss Flora Pettigrew of West Newton and Mr.
Al. Moore of Boyd street.

—Mr. Frank G. Phelps of Hotel Hunnewell took part in the Press Club's Century
run, Tuesday, and on Wednesday morning
started on his wheel for New York city.

—Mr. Bentley Warren, the Democratic candidate for Congress from this district, is well known in Newton, he having married the daughter of ex-Secretary Windom, who was a frequent visitor in Newton.

—Members of Grace church choir guild have organized a foot ball team. Uniforms have been secured and the boys are now practicing assiduously, anticipating
the development of a first-class eleven.

—Prof. Munroe opened his select dance school in Armory Hall last Friday afternoon with a good attendance. The class will meet on Monday afternoons instead of Friday, in the future, commencing next Monday at 4:30.

—Mr. Edwin O. Childs, who was nominated by the Democrats of the city as a candidate for the House, has positively declined to allow the use of his name. It is not a remote contingency that the Democrats
here will place no candidate in the field against either Messrs. Hollis or Harwood.

—Mr. John B. Goodrich has been engaged as counsel to defend William Bassett,
the alleged burglar who is charged with shooting Constable James Farrar of Lincoln on the morning of May 17, last, while Farrar was arresting him. Bassett, it is claimed, led a sort of Jekyll-Hyde existence for many years.

—The cards are out for the wedding of Miss Alberta Brentwood, daughter of Mr.
L. S. Paige of Charlestown and Mr. Charles Henry Fewkes of this city. The ceremony takes place at the residence of the bride's mother, 210 Main street, Charlestown, Thursday evening, Oct. 25. The young couple will reside here.

—The hack used to convey patients affected with contagious diseases to the Hospital has been at Mr. Murray's shop for the past week, and the old linings have been torn out and the inside panelled with wood, with no linings of any kind. This will make it an easy matter to disinfect
the vehicle, and prevent the spread of contagion.

—Mr. P. A. Murray left Monday night for Philadelphia to attend the meeting of the National Association of Carriage Manufacturers. The session lasts three days, and is attended by representatives
from all over the country, who meet to exchange ideas and learn the newest things about their business. Mr. Murray will return tomorrow.

—Mr. James Chambers, for many years a resident of South Boston, died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Leighton, 211 Church street, Saturday evening. Deceased was born in Kittery, Me., and was 72 years of age. He was a ship joiner by profession, and was well known in the ship building circles of Boston. He was quite successful in business, and accumulated considerable property. Personally,
he was a man of very genial manners,
extremely kind hearted and hospitable, and devoted to his family. A son and three daughters survive him. Mr. Chambers had been in poor health for many years. Death resulted from a cancer in the stomach.

—A meeting was held in the parish house
of Grace church Monday evening to consider the advisability of forming a Men's Club.
A call had previously been issued, and signed by the rector and fifteen well known male members of the congregation, urging all the men to assemble there Monday evening and offer any suggestion they might wish. About forty men responded,
and a number of addresses were made.
After some deliberation a committee composed of the following gentlemen were appointed to meet in the parish room next Monday night, to discuss further consideration of the project. The committee were these: Mr. John Cutler, Mr. Hadley
Charles Kinder, Mr. J. W. R. Shapleigh,
Mr. E. E. Ems, Mr. Marcus M. Brown,
S. Edward Warren; Mr. Fred Brown of Newtonville was elected chairman.

—Miss Eleanor Beare Becket, daughter of Mrs. Caroline S. Becket, and Mr. Odlin
Dexter Livermore, were married last week
(Tuesday) in the Universalist church, Hannett. The ceremony took place at 1
p. m., Rev. H. S. Kimball officiating. Mr.
James C. Pearson of Wakefield was best man. The maid of honor was Gladys Chase, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Edward L. Chase of Hyanis. The ushers were Messrs. Arnold of Newton, W. R.
Field, W. J. Hallett and E. L. Baylestone of Hyanis. The bride was given in white satin, en-traine, wore a usual tulle veil and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Baker in Hyanis, at the close of which the young couple departed on their wedding tour. They will reside in this city.

—Mrs. Cleveland of Waverley avenue gives an explanation of the action brought against her and Mr. Lewis by the latter's mother: "Mrs. Lewis," said Mrs.
Cleveland, "was examined by physicians and sent to the Flatbush asylum till the court should decide permanently as to her sanity. Her personal property was in the rooms where she had been keeping house,
and something had to be done with it.
Mr. Lewis, as her son and only heir, took charge of them. So soon as she was released and the court had decided that she was recovered she began this action. Mr.
Lewis directly sent her watch and bank book, containing credits for $300, with interest, to her lawyer, and asked for her address. "He received no answer to the goods were packed waiting to be shipped.
We did not know till last night whether she lived on Sterling street or Willoughby place." He has been a member of my family for seven years. Till three years ago, when my husband died, he and Mr.

Cleveland were close friends.

line are the guests of Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Washington Warren, Centre
street.

—Mr. Harry Brooks Day with three of his choir boys went to Laconia Tuesday to take part in the services in connection with the dedication of a church there.

—Mr. C. A. Haskell and family have returned from Swampscott. During their absence extensive repairs have been made to their house on Sargent street.

—The Newtonville & Watertown Street Railway Company have been ordered by the Watertown authorities to remove their tracks from the centre to the side of Watertown street.

—An iron pole supporting the feed wire of the electric railway system, situated at the corner of Crescent and Watertown streets, became charged last night through a break in the insulation. Several persons received slight shocks.

—Miss Bertha Thomas of Pearl street,
daughter of Mr. Thomas of Brattlemarket, left Tuesday for a six weeks' visit to her sister, Mrs. Hadley, of Indianapolis, Ind.

—The choir of Grace church rendered the full choral evening service in a most beautiful manner at the Church of the Ascension, Waltham, last Wednesday.
The church was crowded.

—They want to call Nonantum street Norfolk Road. Why not Indian lane in order to preserve that memory of the red man of whom we have some interesting legends? The Nonantum tribe, according to Elliott the apostle and others, did not comprise a very bad lot.

—Master Freddie Green of Washington street, who was hurt some time ago in a West End electric car accident, has returned from an outing at Beachwood, North Cohasset. He is very much improved in health and has entirely recovered
from the shock.

—J. Henry Bacon is giving away to his customers a fine assortment of oak furniture consisting of chairs, tables, easels, screens, bookcases, etc. Every customer (who wishes it) will be presented with a ticket. And by having the amount of your purchase punched out each time you go,
to his store you will soon procure the choice
of one of these articles.

—Almost six months ago the city council voted to recommend the depression of the tracks to the commission to be appointed by the superior court, and the court was already petitioned by both the road and city to appoint such a commission. The Boston & Albany has, it is understood, intimated that it will consider no other plan for the separation of the grades but the elevation from Faneuil station to Riverside. Public sentiment in Newton is strongly against the elevation of the tracks, and in view of this feeling the city government is anxious to have the appointment of a commission delayed until after the next Legislature is convened, when an effort will be made to obtain the passage of a bill which will give the city more voice in determining the method to be adopted. The city favors depression even if it becomes necessary to pay a larger proportion of the expense. It is understood that the chief objection of the railroad to the depression of the tracks
is that of the cost of the work.

—The 2d Middlesex Democratic senatorial convention was held in A. O. H. hall, Waltham, Wednesday afternoon. William F. Rooney of Waltham called the meeting to order, and J. H. Vahey of Watertown was chosen chairman. Henry C. Hall was nominated by acclamation as candidate for senator. The fight was on the choice of a member of the state central committee.
M. L. Halleran of Waltham and John E.
Bri-ton of this city were the candidates.
On the first ballot Mr. Halleran had 25 and Mr. Bri-ton 18. The informal vote was then declared formal, and Mr. Halleran was declared elected. Michael Bergin, J.
F. Connelly, W. V. Hyde, C. J. Leary of Waltham, Thomas Coughlin, J. E. Briston, Dennis Linnehan, P. McVicker of Newtown, M. J. Green, C. D. Reagan of Watertown, E. C. Small of Lexington and P. T.
Sheehan of Belmont were elected a district committee, and the convention then adjourned.

—A social gathering in the form of a progressive whist party took place at the residence of Mr. Edward E. Howard, Wednesday evening and proved a great success.
The young ladies present were Miss Blanche Perkins of Melrose, Miss Emma Ford of Cambridgeport, Miss Lillian Henderson of West Newton, Misses Ida and Florence Hutchinson and Miss Edith Drury
of Newtonville, and Misses Florence Keith and Edith Benjamin of Watertown. The gentlemen present were Messrs. Chester Hitchings and Alfred Drury of Newton-ville, Mr. Edgar Viles of Waltham, and Messrs. Marcus Springer, Howard Mason, Henry Crowell and Dudley Hornbrook of Newton. Miss Perkins was the guest of the evening and the prizes were awarded to Misses Florence Keith, Edith Drury and Lillian Henderson and Messrs. Henry Crowell, Howard Mason and Dudley Horn-brook. During the evening a collation was served by Faxon. The next gathering will take place at the residence of Miss

Perkins at Melrose, and the party will be coveyed there by Potter's barge.

—The schoolship Enterprise has arrived home after a long cruise in foreign waters.
Mr. Arthur Field and Mr. Carl Forsene,
who were cadets on this ship, have returned to Newton, and Mr. Field has returned to Mr. Cutler's school.

—Mr. John Souther of Fairview street was out riding on the Arsenal road Tuesday, accompanied by his daughter when a nut slipped off and one wheel followed in short order. The carriage was dragged quite a little distance on the remaining wheel and axle. Miss Souther was thrown out, but not much injured. The horse was stopped by Thomas J. Gavin.

—The Unitarian Club held its first meeting for the season at the Channing church parlors, last evening. After the supper, Rev. Mr. Ames, pastor of Rev. James Freeman Clarke's church, Boston, gave an address on "Applied Christianity," and Dr.
E. W. Hill of Kenrick street gave violin
solos, accompanied on the piano by Mr.
Geo. H. Brown. The selections given were De Bire's Fantasia and Vieuxtemps's Reverie, and for the closing solo a Baccarolle by Spohr. Dr. Hill studied music abroad under one of the leading German violinists and his playing was so excellent
in every way that it called forth great enthusiasm, and at the close of the meeting
the club tendered him a very hearty vote
of thanks for the pleasure he had given them.

—The Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society.
A meeting of the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society was held on Oct. 10th,
at the residence of Mr. T. W. Trowbridge.
President Walter U. Lawson occupied the chair. Mr. F. W. Gaffield was made clerk pro tem.

The principal business for the consideration of the meeting was the question of the general improvement of Charles river as advocated by the Metropolitan park commission and the state board of health. A committee composed of President Lawson, and Messrs. H. R. Mandell, A. Byfield and Dr. Geo. W. Shinn was appointed to represent this society before the Harbor and Land Commissioners at an adjourned hearing to be held Oct. 18th. Messrs. J. C. Ems, Sr., T.
W. Trowbridge and Judge J. C. Kennedy were also appointed as substitutes on this committee.

The following resolution was adopted:
Resolved, That the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society is in favor of a dam to be situated near Cragie bridge for the purpose of establishing the Charles river basin substantially as proposed by the joint-board consisting of the Metropolitan park commission and the state board of health.

The following resolution was adopted
and the secretary instructed to forward
a copy to the school board of the city of Newton:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Hunnewell Improvement Society the street lights of the city of Newton should be lighted on each and every night of the year, from sunset until midnight, and that (inasmuch as the city is entitled to street lights should be at once removed.

It was also voted that the committee

SECOND CHURCH REMODELLED.

CHANGES THAT HAVE GIVEN A LARGE AND TASTEFUL AUDITORIUM—GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE IMPROVEMENTS, ALTERATIONS AND ADDITIONS TO THE STRUCTURE—BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL WINDOWS AN ATTRACTIVE FEATURE.

For several months, improvements have been in progress which have completely transformed the interior of the main audience room of the Second Congregational church in the West Newton district. The last touches were applied on Saturday with the idea of getting everything in readiness for the re-opening services on Sunday. The renovated and enlarged edifice is now regarded as one of the most attractive and beautiful in the city.

The exercises Sunday were informal in character. There was the usual sermon by the pastor, Rev. Theodore P. Pruder, and an especially interesting musical program by the new quartet-choir, comprising Miss Maude Stevens, soprano; Mrs. D. M. Drown, contralto; Mr. C. Frank Hunting, tenor; Mr. W. H. Haywood, bass.

The auditorium has been enlarged by an addition of 91-2 feet on each side from the transepts and the roof is now supported at the sides by columns where the old walls were removed. The old pine pews have been taken out and new ones supplied, constructed entirely of black walnut. There has been, too, an entire rearrangement of the pews, so as to form one central group across the space originally comprised in the broad aisle. Instead of three aisles, as formerly, there are now four. Prior to the alterations, there were eighty-six pews in the audience room besides those in the transepts. Now there are 169 pews, those on the sides being small. The seating accommodations have been increased from about 600 to something over 700.

The decorative treatment was placed in the hands of Miss Terry, a New Jersey artist, who also had charge of the selection of the new memorial windows. There is an evidence everywhere of refined taste. Modest and harmonious effects in wall and ceiling tones have been sought for. The ornament is consistent with that ideal and there is, in fact, a graceful symmetry in the frescoing, stenciling and general coloring suggestive of restfulness and a true artistic conception of the fitting adornment of God's house of worship.

The organ from its lofty position above the pulpit platform stands out in its new dress of harmonizing colors. It has been put in first-class shape and the pipes redecorated in accord with the general scheme of the interior. The gift work is in a fine taste.

There are six memorial windows, two small stained glass windows in the rear of the church and one over the pulpit. The memorial windows commemorate Lawson Valentine, Ira Hunter, B. F. Whittemore, Joseph A. Newell, J. B. Whitmore and B. F. Houghton.

The gas fixture in the auditorium have been remodelled and some new ones have also been added. The floor has been new carpeted and the pews supplied with new cushions. A new library room has been constructed between the church and the chapel and the entire church structure put in thorough repair. The cost of the improvements will be in the vicinity of $6500. The work has been carried out under the direction of the committee on repairs, comprising Messrs. C. M. Whittelev, H. B. Day, Charles R. Fisher and S. E. Howard.

Sterling Elliott for Chief Consul.

Nearly a month has passed since the name of Sterling Elliott was mentioned as the popular choice for the chief consularship of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W. Since this time no other candidate has appeared in the field to contend against him as the regular nominee.

Mr. Elliott enjoys the reputation of being a man of original ideas, and the assurance that he will work conscientiously and with the best interests of the division at large is the guarantee which goes with him into office. While it is yet early to speak of what possibly may result when he comes into office and the closing hour for independent nominations has not yet arrived, it is safe to assume there will be no opposing candidate in the field, and that "Old Hickory" will go in with flying colors.

When interviewed as to what he would do in the matter of reforms, Mr. Elliott, the present incumbent, has been exceedingly reluctant to speak, preferring to be in the chair before saying how the new broom would sweep.

It has been the custom to give the chief consul an appropriation of $400, to be used for expenses. This, I believe, Mr. Perkins, the present incumbent, has been opposed to. The secretary-treasurer has an appropriation of $500 for the expenses of his department, which is further increased by address work outside by the mailing company. Mr. Elliott is opposed to the division making this appropriation for chief consul, believing it unnecessary in its entirety and thoroughly believes a better place for the money can be found in the interests of recruiting.

This idea of Mr. Elliott is not unlike that of other league politicians. An issue which to all appearance will come up before the first meeting of the division board of officers is the doing away of the chief consul's and secretary's appropriation, the utilizing of a portion of these sums for the establishment of a division headquarters where a clerk will be in constant attendance ready to attend to the wants of wheelmen and a headquarters in every sense of the word where at certain hours the consul and the secretary can be interviewed and will welcome wheelmen. The scheme has much to commend it from an economical as well as progressive standpoint.

F. H. RAYMOND NOMINATED.

COUNCILLOR CANDIDATE OF THIRD DISTRICT REPUBLICANS.

The Republican delegate convention of the 3d councillor district, which had a several hours' session last week Thursday, resumed its work at Union Hall, Boylston street, Boston, on Saturday, and nominated Mr. F. H. Raymond of Somerville.

Mr. Edward S. Barrett of Concord was chairman, and Mr. C. E. Sayward of Waltham was secretary.

"Time" was called at 12.15, the hall being well filled.

There were three candidates at the former session—Messrs. G. N. Swallow of Charlestown and A. S. Burnham, who were the leaders, and Mr. F. H. Raymond of Somerville, who had a good showing at first, but whose forces gradually dissipated.

Other candidates appearing Saturday were H. V. Fletcher of Belmont, Willard Howland of Chelsea, J. F. Dwinell of Winchester, Edward S. Barrett of Concord and J. C. Loud of Chelsea.

On the last formal ballot in the session of last week Mr. Swallow had 106 votes.

Mr. Burnham had 104, and Messrs. Howland and Raymond had 4 each.

Nine ballots were had yesterday afternoon, 11 having been had at the former session. One of the ballots yesterday, the 14th of the series, proved illegal, and was thrown out. The others were as follows:

Real Estate Changes.

T. E. Clark has sold in West Newton three lots of land situated on Jerome avenue, aggregating 8000 square feet. One lot containing 2000 square feet was purchased by E. M. Perry of Everett at 10 cents per foot. F. R. Durkee was the buyer of another lot of the same area at 10 cents per foot, and the third lot was purchased by Henry Durkee, also at 10 cents per foot. The new owners will build upon the land a house for their own occupancy.

Alvord Bros. & Co. report the following sales on Oxford road, Newton Centre, for Luther Paul: A lot of 9000 square feet to Benjamin Hammond, and one of 7500 square feet to Wm. A. Lee on private terms. Four houses are nearing completion on this street, and two more are to be started soon.

Cummings & Ware have sold for Peter S. Roberts of Wakefield a lot of land of 8775 square feet on Rowe street, in Auburndale, to William Barrett of Everett on private terms.

A QUEER STORY.

WARREN COON CLAIMS HE WAS SEIZED BY A STRANGE MAN—TAKEN IN A CLOSED CARRIAGE THREE MILES AND THEN RELEASED.

Warren Coon, the 16-year old son of Rev. G. W. Coon of Lowell street, Newtonville district, tells a peculiar story of an alleged attempt at kidnapping, which he claims was made last Friday.

He says that about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon he was returning from the library, where he had gone to exchange a book. He came up Newtonville avenue over Mt. Ida, and was nearly at the corner of Bellevue street, when a hack drove up to the side of the street and a man inside spoke to him quickly, asking if he wanted to ride.

Not quite catching his meaning he replied, "Why, what do you mean?" "Do you want a ride?" said the man gruffly, and before the boy could reply jumped out of the hack, seized him and pushed him in, followed himself, shutting the door and drawing the curtains.

The driver of the hack whipped up his horses and drove rapidly away, but in what direction they were going Coon could not tell.

He was taken so completely by surprise he says, that he hardly realized what was being done until he was shut into the hack with the man sitting opposite and holding the door shut.

The hack was driven for upwards of 15 minutes, as near as he could judge, at a rapid pace, and during this time his captor neither spoke nor changed his position, but eyed him sharply all the while.

At last the man signalled the driver to stop and then asked Coon his name. The latter had been collecting his scattered wits during the drive, and seeing a possible chance of escape through a mistaken identity, replied "John Ryan."

The answer to this was a rough "You are not the boy I want; get out of here," and glad at the chance of escape, Coon states that he got out, and started for home.

The carriage left him on Oak street, Newton Upper Falls, near the Billings stone barn, fully three miles from where the seizure was made.

He walked home, arriving there about 7 o'clock, and detailed the occurrence to his parents, giving a good description of the man in the carriage. He was about 35 or 40 years of age, according to his story, with black hair and eyes, smooth shaven, wore a silk beaver, suit of dark clothes and a light face overcoat.

Peer Digestion

Leads to nervousness, fretfulness, peevishness, chronic dyspepsia and great misery. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy. It tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives a relish to food. It makes pure blood and gives healthy action to all the organs of the body. Take Hood's for Hood's Sarsaparilla CURES.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries them. 25c.

Use it in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Elly's Catarrh Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

Political and Otherwise.

Last Saturday, the Globe printed quite a string of paragraphs under the caption "Newton." Upon investigation, I found that they were pinched and the readers of that hustling daily, with its fabulous circulation, given a sort of resume of some of the most interesting bits of gossip published in the local papers the day before. If the Globe wants belated news, would it be consistent with its dignity to recognize the enterprise of its little suburban brothers by giving them due credit? I am afraid that somebody has fooled the corpulent, good-natured Globe man, and sprung chestnuts for seemingly live, fresh matter.

Person's monthly published the following in its humorous column last month:

Jones—There's one sign that should be placed over every letter box in the country.

Smith—What sign is that?

Jones—Post no bills.

A great big 16-year old lad came near being kidnapped here the other day, they say. What is the favored suburb of Boston coming to? It was a case of mistaken identity according to the reports in the daily papers. I should think so. The victim must have been suspected of not being himself and there are those who believe that he was under the spell of hypnotism and conceived details of an affair that seemed real enough, but that had no foundation in fact. Such uncharitable remarks savour of incredulity, but its hard to make up your mind to swallow these fairy stories nowadays, although they may be founded in fact and not in fiction.

The A. P. A.'s are to take a hand in the coming municipal campaign. When you stir up religion with politics, you take all the good from the one and force into prominence the most degrading phases of the other. In a free country, a man should have the privilege of worshipping God according to the dictates of conscience. If there is an intolerant spirit in any creed, it must be cured by the incursion of the liberal. The whole trend in this country today is toward greater liberality in matters religious. The Romanists are accused of secretly working to increase their power and influence in this country. A. P. A.'ism is working in secret too. That is the reason that it does not appeal so strongly for support. To start right on any movement looking toward a moral or religious reform, secrecy must be eliminated if the goal of success is desired. The way to convince a man that he is wrong in a religious view or in fact on almost any subject, is to show him that his reasoning has developed by influences that he believes to be wholesome, is to present the cold facts without prejudice. The A. P. A.'s I'm told won't support Mr. Bothfield for mayor in the event of that gentleman's nomination because they think that he won't agree to oppose the selection of an Catholic for public position. No sensible man could do that and it is senseless to expect it. It is a position as intolerant as that espoused by the most bigoted religionist.

The story about the man who had to make use of the friendly illumination of a lantern to travel through the streets of the city the other night could not have been altogether the mere suggestion of fancy. It is not in reality so fanciful as the belief that the moon is sure to rise on certain nights and scatter about a flood of light for the convenience of belated travelers. Such optimistic hopes are so frequently dashed to the ground hereabouts that the disposition toward dependence on artificial illuminations should not be too severely censured. After a fellow has barked his shins on projecting fences and stone walls and been scared by a dog, or if his boots by greasy shadows, say a score of times, his stock of courage may safely be described as on the ebb. You have some sympathy for him then when he espouses that policy of perfectly reckless extravagance that argues the moon be jiggered and clamors for an expenditure for street lighting that will provide either gas or electric lamps for every day in the week, including the Sabbath. Such notions are not in accord with truly rural simplicity, but they will fasten upon one when his teeth are chattering and his knees shaking as he wends his way to his cozy nest through impenetrable darkness.

This is the time for the annual band shake of the office seeker. Such a cordial fellow on the eve of an election. One would almost fancy himself on the ascendant in the social world by the attentions which some of these ambitious fellows dispense unstintingly. It is not a striking characteristic of Newton politics but it has figured in past campaigns. I rely upon the old timers in municipal warfare to back up this statement. I have their word for it and many a good story has been told of one man who attained quite a degree of popularity in office by the employment of the hand shaking artifice. Its a great bore, of course, but it works well with some people.

The tariff reform party in this city believes that its mission has been fulfilled and the Democrats don't appear to be hustling much. Have the big Republican majorities had an operating effect or is there to be a lussanding of resources for the great contest for national supremacy in 1896?

There may be need of a new City Hall but there will be some very pleasant memories associated with the old building when at some, perhaps, not distant day in the future it will be replaced by an imposing pile of granite. The offices in the basement are cheerless and gloomy and it seems sort of ridiculous to find the apartments of the board of health in a situation that has all the symptoms of unhealthfulness. On the floor above there are some pleasant rooms, notably the city treasurer's and city clerk's quarters. These apartments get plenty of sun light and, I suppose, are fairly well ventilated. The new plate glass windows are up to date in style and the interior, somehow, has been completely transformed since they were placed in position.

The efficient agent of the board of health very kindly gave the reporters notice of an important meeting of that body this week. Through an oversight, I presume, he forgot to furnish the tip to the GRAPHIC. It is not his business to do that sort of thing, one will admit, but if out of goodness of heart he sees fit to take the trouble, I feel sure he would not care to discriminate. QUERIES.

Human life is held too cheaply when the individual who needs a tonic for his system, seeks to cover his wants by purchasing every new mixture that is recommended by the "Dr. Who." Remedy's Sarsaparilla has a well earned reputation of fifty years' standing.

THE PIERCE SCHOOL.

The schoolhouse question in West Newton bids fair to become a political issue, it is said. It will be remembered that the scheme was to have the city buy the "common," as the vacant land is called, bounded by Elm and Webster streets and Oak Avenue, at a cost of about 20 cents a foot, which would make the cost to the city about $15,000, the land being assessed for only 8 cents a foot, use part of it for an $80,000 school house and the rest for a playground. Owing to the opposition of Councilman Bullard the scheme did not succeed.

As Alderman Hunt has announced his intention of retiring at the end of the year, Mr. Bullard is naturally talked of as his successor, as he has fairly earned the promotion by his faithful work and the ability he has shown in caring for the city's interests. It is now stated that those who favor having the city buy this lot at this price, are to carry the fight into the city election, and that they have decided upon Mr. James T. Allen as their candidate for alderman, he being in favor of the city's buying the lot. Many people say that 20 cents a foot is more than any other land in that section is worth, and the contest will be a very interesting one if it comes off, although we should say that most of the taxpayers would support Mr. Bullard on such an issue.

About the schoolhouse itself, there is a wide difference of opinion about the wisdom of building a twelve room building, and also about spending so much money for it. It is said that school-houses have been built in other places, of brick, and with all the modern appliances, for half that sum, and a prominent member of the school board, who favors economy, is said to be collecting statistics on the subject from other cities.

As to the size of the building, many are enquiring what all this extra room is for. In the present building there are sittings for 278 scholars, the average attendance is 195, and there are 212 pupils of grammar school age in the district. The proposed building will have seats for 600 pupils, and evidently some one expects an enormous increase in the number of children in that district.

A large number of the pupils, some say a majority, come from the other side of the track, and as there seems to be no probability of having the grade crossings abolished, parents not only object to having the younger children cross the track, but they say that the location on Elm street is far removed from the centre of population and also from the centre of the district. The number of children on the Hill is so large, that there will soon be a demand for another school on the Hill, especially if the Boulevard proves the success in developing that part of the city that people anticipate. For this reason it seems foolish to build so much larger than the district promises to need for many years to come.

GREATER BOSTON.

The hearing at City Hall next Tuesday evening, on questions connected with the development of greater Boston, does not promise to have any strong advocates for a change in the existing order of things. Newtonians are too well satisfied with their position as the leading suburban city about the "Hub," to wish to sink their identity in a mere ward of Boston, and they cannot see how the change would in any way benefit us. We are getting public improvements now quite as rapidly as they are needed, and it is doubtful if we could get as much for our money if we were joined to Boston.

We have a part of Boston lying next to us for a long distance, and careful observers do not see that when they cross the boundary line they find any striking signs of improvement. The condition of things is quite the contrary, and in the adjacent parts of Brighton, for instance, everything seems to be left at loose ends, in a way that Newton people would not tolerate. The sidewalks, the streets, and even the street lights are in no way equal to those of Newton, while as far as the police control is concerned, there are plague spots just over the line in Brighton, which Boston police pay very little attention to, in spite of Newton's frequent remonstrances.

Again, our city elections are clean and honest, and politics do not enter into the contest to any extent, and all this would be changed if we were joined to Boston. The latter city is very ambitious to be big, but Newton does not care to join so very mixed a company.

It is doubtful even whether on full and careful consideration, there will be any very earnest advocates of a union of the police and fire departments, as some favored before they considered all the drawbacks.

The board of harbor and land commissioners gave a hearing on the construction of a dam and lock in the Charles river basin yesterday. City Solicitor Slocum represented Newton, and had quite a tilt with ex-Governor Long, who appeared for some of the remonstrants, and it was evident that Mr. Slocum had a good deal the best of the argument. Mr. E. B. Haskell and Mr. S. L. Powers appeared for the Garden City Improvement Society, and endorsed the plan. Mr. Walter U. Lawson, for the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society, also endorsed the project. Watertown's representatives said the sentiment of their town was also unanimous in favor of the proposed improvement.

The Democrats have nominated Messrs. P. C. Bridgman of Newtonville and E. O. Childs of Newton for representatives, two gentlemen who are well and favorably known, but they probably recognize that they lead a rather forlorn hope in a contest with the Republican candidates, Messrs. Hollis and Harwood. As Gen. Hancock said of the tariff, it is a local issue, and the world will probably go on just the same whoever is chosen. There are no signs as yet of any work on either side, probably because in a state election in Newton, the Republican ticket always gets the most votes, but Mr. Childs has declined to lead a forlorn hope. It is only in city elections that the issue is doubtful.

There seems to be every indication that Alderman Bothfeld will receive a unanimous nomination for Mayor. No other candidate is spoken of and one hears of no success attending any effort to find an opposition candidate. Such efforts are very few, as the people generally have evidently made up their minds that Mr. Bothfeld deserves the honor, and they would like to see him at the head of affairs. It will be an unprecedented honor for a new man to receive a unanimous nomination, but it is one that is well-deserved, and evidently the great majority of the voters are of this opinion.

The leading article in The Forum for November will be "The Political Career and Character of David B. Hill," by an anonymous writer, who will attempt to make an independent measure of Sen. Hill. What has become of that Non Partisan Organization that was started with such a flourish last year? As far as heard from the committee has held no meeting and there are no signs that the organization is still living. If they intend to do anything this year, they have only about a month in which to do it, and they should wake up and get the machinery in motion, and also complete the business of last year.

In this Congressional district it has been unusual for any man to get a second term, no matter on which ticket he stood, but this is such a phenomenal year, that Gen. Draper will probably not be called upon to make a very expensive or earnest campaign in order to win. The last state appointment was believed to have added to the political stability of this district.

Appleton street is evidently going to be widened and the necessary orders have passed the Board of Aldermen. One thing that makes people favor this improvement is that it is not made for the benefit of any street railway company, and the presence of the street railway on a narrow street like Walnut street makes another thoroughfare a necessity.

Mr. Hill's position and influence in national politics. In the same number, ex-Senator Edmunds will discuss the question of the popular election of United States Senators—a noteworthy article from perhaps our highest constitutional authority, and a man who has himself had long Senatorial experience.

The new boulevard in the vicinity of Walnut street has led to quite a building boom. Mr. Henry F. Ross has contracts aggregating $80,000 for five new houses, and ground has already been broken for them.

The prohibitionists have taken out nomination papers for Mr. George S. Houghton of West Newton and Mr. Edward D. Conant of Newton, for representatives.

NONANTUM.

A number of gentlemen of this village attended the meeting held in Grace church, Monday evening, regarding the formation of a men's club.

A dog broke into the henry of Mr. Frye on Bridge street, Sunday night, and killed thirty-two hens. Constable Laffie, Officer Conroy and Mr. James Bailey apprised them at $1 apiece. The county will settle for it. This awful slaughter of hens is supposed to be the work of a bird-dog as all the heads were bit off, a systematic way of killing.

Lasell Notes.

Prof. Hill's new instruction book, "Special Pianoforte Techniques," recently published, was printed in Leipzig, and is a model of typographical beauty. The press work is the finest we have seen in a work of its kind.

On Monday morning a party of twelve, with Mr. Rich as escort, went to Newport, where they spent a pleasant day sight seeing. In the afternoon of the same day, Mr. Bragdon and about twenty-five students visited Cambridge and Mt. Auburn.

Among photographs recently added to the art collection of Lasell are Bonheur's "Plowing in the Nivernais," Wilkie's "Blind Fiddler," Gainsborough's "Mrs. Siddons," Hals' "Family of Reubens," Corat's "The Pond," Cuyk's "La Promenade," and Delacroix's "Princes in the Tower."

Major and Mrs. Benyon and Captain Gradwick, an English officer, a friend of the major's, visited Lasell on Thursday afternoon last. After an informal reception of the guests, they were shown through the building by several of the students, officers of the Lasell battalion. Capt. Gradwick unhesitatingly commends military drill for girls, mentioning especially the improved gait and carriage which it secures.

TOTAL LOSS OF 94 VOTES.

HARDLY 70 PER CENT. OF THE TOTAL POLLS OF NEWTON ARE ON THE LISTS.

The registrars' lists in Newton show a total loss in registration of 94 since December 1893.

The total number on the lists is the smallest for a number of years, and hardly 70 per cent. of the total polls are on the lists.

The new registration is very small, and the losses have been unusually large.

The appended table shows the losses, gains and total registration by wards in 1893 and 1894:

Wards.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	Total
On list Dec. 1, 1893.	556	908	714	604	661	720	514	4677
Losses.	57	83	49	61	59	74	32	417
Gains.	43	70	33	44	54	60	19	323
On list Oct. 17, 1894.	542	893	698	587	656	706	501	4533

The losses are mainly in the Democratic precincts, and the Democratic leaders apparently paid little attention to the registration of their voters.

Real Estate Changes.

The estate of D. O. Clark has sold its property on Abundant Avenue and Pleasant Street, Abundant, consisting of 500,000 square feet of land, a house and stable. The same purchaser, whose name is withheld, bought the lot of 100,000 square feet on Abundant Avenue and Rowe Street. J. Murray Howe & Bradley were the brokers, and both estates will be divided into lots and placed on the market.

Nathan L. Eaton has rented his house on Grasmere street, Newton, to Mr. J. H. Christie of Boston through the office of Henry W. Savage.

Henry W. Savage has rented Mr. E. A. Phelps house, 140 West Newton, to Mr. C. A. Aiken of Worcester.

Mrs. T. L. Rogers has sold her place on Summer street, Newton Centre, consisting of a 13-room house and 11,000 feet of land, to W. P. Marden.

The B. W. Kingsbury homestead on Homestead street, Newton Centre, advertised to be sold at auction next Saturday by J. F. C. Hyde & Son, has been purchased at private sale in the interest, it is said, of the Congregational church. The other parcels will be offered at auction.

Use it in Time.

Cataract starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede cataract, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of cataract will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and sometimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

He was not aware that the gates were being lowered at the time. He was thrown to the ground, but quickly got upon his feet and was able to take the next car home. It was thought that his injuries were of a trivial character, but they turned out to be more serious than at first supposed.

—A St. Bernard dog whose acquaintance any one might be proud to make, has lately given evidence of unusual canine intelligence, says the Boston Herald. Once or twice he has accompanied his master to Newtonville, the latter riding out on his wheel, and both returning by rail and getting out at Huntington avenue station. The other day the dog in some way missed his master in the park and proceeded onward to Newtonville as had been his wont. Whether he did not enjoy his call, or, perhaps, felt anxious about the one who always looked to his welfare, is uncertain, but after waiting a proper time Mr. Dog trotted off to the station, jumped on the first inward train that stopped, and when it reached Huntington avenue got off, and went home like other folks. The only thing about the performance that reflects

THE EARLY BIRD CATCHES THE WORM.

A bird once read this cute old saw,
"Then I told him," he said,
"If I can catch that same old worm I'll leave my bed."
And so he did, but that old worm
The same one saw had read,
Then sagely took his morning snooze,
And bird sneaked home unfeared.

MORAL.
The maxims lack consistency
Whichever way you squint,
For what is good advice for "bird"
Is bad advice for "worm."

A WILD RIDE.

"It's now scarcely 12 months ago," said Jack Coleman as a party of us drew around our campfire, "that I was piloting a small party of Uncle Sam's men up to one of the new forts on the upper Brazos—I believe they called it Fort Belknap or some such name. The sojers was a precious set of greenhorns—new recruits, I should think.

"Well, these fellows were under the command of a white skinned, girlish looking young chap, fresh from West Point. But young and green as he was the lieutenant was a gentleman and at heart as good a fellow as ever lived.

"The party was mounted on such nags as the quartermaster could purchase for them in a hurry, for though they were infantry the journey before them was too long to be undertaken afoot over the grassy prairie.

"Scarcely any of the men had ever before thrown leg over hogskin, but the lieutenant knew something about riding. I believe he said he had been learned it where he learned sojering, and after a few days could sit his saddle and bear the fatigue as well as any old Texan.

"I'd been down to San Antonio about three weeks, and when the quartermaster engaged me to pilot the sojers Strawberry had had the quiet range of the prairie all that time, and when we took the trail he was in prime order.

"The more I got acquainted with the lieutenant the better I liked him. But the fellows he had along with him were of no account, and I knew if the Comanches or Kiowas should cross our trail they couldn't be depended on.

"We journeyed with the Brazos on our left and in a northwest direction till, after about a week or so, we reached the headwaters of the Leon river, and as we'd discovered no signs of Indians I was glad to think we'd have no occasion to try the spunk of our greenhorns in a fight.

"We had reached the foot of the Black Hills, where the country is badly cut up with deep barrancas, crossing each other in every direction, and having had a hard day's travel I proposed an early camp. While looking for a suitable spot I discovered fresh horse tracks and knew that a large party of Indians were in the vicinity. I informed the lieutenant of my discovery and advised him to select his men as soon as possible, for as yet I was convinced our approach had not been detected.

"But as soon as the men heard the word 'Indians' they set up such a hurrah that you'd 'a' thought them the bravest chaps in the world, and it was not long before I knew that the Indians had discovered us, for we could hear them calling to each other in the bottom of one of the deep gulches, and presently a score or two showed their heads above the edge of the bank, and letting fly a volley dodged out of sight again.

"I was for getting out of the prairie as soon as possible and reaching a spot among the rocks at the commencement of the rising ground, where we could receive them at a better advantage, but the lieutenant was so greedy for a fight that he wouldn't listen to me a moment and gave orders for his men to dismount and form in regular line and await the attack.

"But scarcely had some of them obeyed the order than we heard a yell, and the next moment the prairie was covered with a host of mounted Kiowas that came pouring out of a barranca and charged right down upon us. The sojers who had not obeyed the order, trusting more to their horses' heels than to their rifles, put spurs to their broken down nags and attempted to escape. But they might as well have essayed to fly from the swift tornado as to get beyond the reach of those wild riders. A part of the whooping savages made a dash for the cowardly Kiowas and soon had their scalps, while the rest, ranging past us with a headlong gallop and lying over upon the further side of the fiery little mustangs, sent a volley into our ranks. And now, taking my advice, the lieutenant ordered his fellows to remount and in close order make an effort to gain the rocks. But two of the men were past mounting, and we had to leave them.

"We had about half a mile to go to get among the nearest rocks, but to do so we had to run the gauntlet of the Indians, who kept up a hot discharge which made desperate work in our little ranks. We spurred through the savages, who attempted to cut in ahead of us, and with our sabers and revolvers kept the track clear till we had reached the rocks.

"Having gained the spot, however, we found to our chagrin that our situation was but little improved, for the reckless and undisciplined men in their eagerness to escape had thrown away their muskets and were now, with the exception of their sabers, entirely unarmed. But the lieutenant and myself, besides our revolvers, had each a heavy deer gun.

"In the meantime our pack mules had fallen into the hands of the savages. I reckoned we were within about 20 miles or so of the fort and proposed to the lieutenant that while he set his poor fellows to work gathering up the loose rocks and making a barricade I would endeavor to dash through the Indians, and after reaching the post return as rapidly as possible with a sufficient force to relieve him.

"As this seemed to be the only feasible plan, the lieutenant approved of it, and waiting only for the cover of the approaching night I was prepared to make the desperate attempt. I tightened Strawberry's saddle girth and during the short twilight led him carefully under cover of the scattered rocks and mesquite bushes to smooth ground, and after I had turned the projecting point of high rocks mounted, and with an encouraging hint from my heel gave him the rein.

"But cautious as I had been, the wily Indians had been watching all my motions, and scarcely had I emerged upon level ground than, filling the air with derisive yells, a score or two of the painted rascals, mounted on their fleetest mustangs gave chase.

"Yet I knew gallant little Strawberry could outrun any Indian nag I ever had a trial with, and without pushing him overboard I flew out over the prairie. The Indians on each flank of me continued to rise apparently from out the earth.

"Scarcely had the brief twilight ended than the rounded disk of the full moon peered over the crest of the hills and streamed a silver flood of light over the wild scene.

"But presently I had other objects to contemplate, for in the light of the rising orb I could perceive that I was approaching one of those deep, almost bottomless barrancas, while the Indians, yelling excitedly, gathered closer upon me.

"I was fairly entrapped! Should I draw rein and turn upon my pursuers or sink my rowels into the flanks of my fearless little charger and seek death with him in the yawning chasm below? 'I had but a breath to decide, and as I would at least thus save my scalp from my hated pursuers I resolved to brave the latter and closed my eyes and clinched my teeth for the awful leap.

"Without swerving an inch or evincing the least fear the noble animal dashed on. I felt the yielding air rush with lightning speed past me, my breath was taken from me, and then, quicker than the flight of thought, I felt his fore feet strike upon the solid earth, then an instant's struggle with his hind feet, as if the ground was crumbling beneath them, and then—heaven be praised!—I saw that we were on the firm, level ground of the prairie, with the frightful ravine between us and our baffled pursuers.

"We were safe, for not even the bravest of the Indians dared to make the desperate leap, and as the barranca doubtless extended for miles into the prairie further pursuit was out of the question.

"In less than two hours I reached Fort Belknap, and before the light of the next morning broke over the green expanse a party of troopers had followed me to the spot where I had left the brave young officer and the remnant of his men.

"But we had arrived too late. The spot was silent, and the ground so recently occupied by the Kiowas was vacant, while among stones of the demolished barricade were found only the scalps and mangled remains of my late companions.

"That little Strawberry," concluded the guide as he threw aside his extinguished pipe and proceeded to move the animal to a fresh grazing spot, "is worth his weight in gold, and I reckon if any beast ever deserved kind treatment at his master's hands it's him."—New York News.

"Seven and Six." English newspapers in the days when advertisements were heavily taxed published the titles of books reviewed in their columns, but never the prices, because the excise office held that an annexed price was an advertisement and as such taxable. The custom continued for a long time after the tax on advertisements had been removed.

The London newspapers also made a distinction between a simple notice of a death, for which they charged 5 shillings, and a brief obituary, for which they demanded seven and sixpence.

One day Dr. Thomas Hume, a grave, satirical London doctor, called at the office of a morning journal and silently placed upon the counter the announcement of the death of a friend, together with 5 shillings. The clerk glanced at the paper, tossed it one side and said gruffly, "Seven and six!"

"I have frequently," answered Hume, "had occasion to publish these simple notices, and I have never before been charged more than 5 shillings."

"Simple!" repeated the clerk without looking up. "There's an added line, 'universally beloved and deeply regretted,' isn't there? Seven and six."

Hume produced the additional half crown and laid it deliberately by the others, observing in his most solemn tone, "Congratulations, sir, that this is an expense which your competitors will never be put to."—Youth's Companion.

A Chinese Superstition. Chinese junks and boats have eyes carved or painted on the bows, which are usually supposed to be a mere fanciful form of ornamentation. But they have a real meaning, as a recent traveler found. In going up one of the rivers from Ningpo he was startled one day by seeing a boatman seize his broad hat and clap it over one of the "eyes" of the boat, while other boats on the stream were similarly blinded. Looking about for an explanation, he saw a dead body floating past, and he was told by the boatman that if the boat had been allowed to "see" it some disaster would surely have happened either to passengers or crew before the voyage was ended.—Family Magazine.

A Woman With Nerves. Let no nervous man ever say again that feminine "nerves" will interfere with feminine success in business. At the recent decapitation of the Anarchist Henry in Paris one of the most interested spectators was Mme. Yver, the representative of a French paper. She is said to have written "calmly yet busily" throughout the scene.

BOARD OF HEALTH IN SESSION.

GIVES A HEARING ON PETITION OF JOHN JOYCE TO KEEP TWELVE HORSES. MR. SAMUEL FARQUHAR APPEARS IN REMONSTRANCE.

The board of health gave a hearing Tuesday afternoon on the petition of John Joyce to keep twelve horses in his stable on Thornton street.

Mr. Samuel Farquhar appeared in remonstrance. He owns houses near the barn and said that it would be unendurable. His tenants, he stated, had complained of the stench from the stable, particularly during the summer months. That with the stamping of the horses caused those living near by considerable annoyance, and the latter not infrequently disturbed their slumbers.

One of my tenants believes that the stable was responsible for a period of illness and threatened to leave if something was not done to abate the nuisance.

Mr. Joyce said that he had been obliged to keep an additional number of horses in order to fulfill a city contract, but intended selling some of them. He thought that no one had been very much annoyed on account of his stable. It, said he, kept very clean and the surrounding yard received the best of care. The manure is kept outside the stable only for a short time, not long enough to cause offence to anybody.

Mr. Joyce expressed the opinion that Mr. Farquhar's objections were more of a personal matter than a belief that anything of a nuisance existed. He was not permitted to give his views further in relation to that point, the board not caring to entertain personal views in its consideration of the case. The hearing was closed.

NONANTUM.

—The managers of the flying horses have engaged Stevens' field for two weeks.

—Dr. P. Coady of Watertown street has returned from a most enjoyable trip to Nova Scotia.

—Mr. J. L. Ballantyne and family have removed from their residence on Bridge street to Allston.

—The many friends of Driver Curtis of Hose 8 are glad to see him on duty again after his two weeks' illness.

—Mr. P. Gibson, the grocer, of Watertown street, who has been suffering with typhoid fever, is now convalescent.

—Mr. Battles, the new superintendent of Nonantum Worsted Mills, has taken the house formerly occupied by Mr. J. L. Ballantyne and will move in next week.

—Mr. M. Mahoney has begun the erection of a new house on West street. The foundation is finished and the carpenters have started on the frame. Mr. Gillespie of Waltham is the builder.

—The main sewer on Pearl street has been stumped up by some obstruction, and the diggers were unable to locate the spot until four trenches were dug. The banks of earth, caused by the digging, have been the source of complaint among teamsters.

—The sidewalk in front of the vacant lot on Watertown street, opposite Murphy's store, is being repaired. Many residents hoped that, perhaps, a concrete one was to be laid, but this will not be until the lot is built upon.

A WOMAN HATER DISCOMFITED.

He Had Reason to Expect Asking a Question About Eve.

There is a crusty old bachelor on Fourth street who is a confirmed woman hater and who never misses an opportunity for saying something sarcastic and disagreeable about the fair sex. But he met more than his match the other day in a plucky little woman, who, metaphorically speaking, wiped up the earth with him, much to the delight of his friends, who were greatly amused at his discomfiture.

The old bachelor inquired why, when Eve was manufactured of a spare rib, a servant wasn't made at the same time to wait on her. The little woman responded promptly: "Because Adam never read the newspapers until the sun got down behind the palm trees, and then, stretching, yawned out, 'Isn't supper more ready, my dear?' Not he. He made the fire and hung the kettle over it himself, I'll venture, and pulled the radishes, peeled the potatoes and did everything else he ought to do.

"He chopped the kindling, brought in the coal and did the chores himself, and he never brought home half a dozen friends to dinner when Eve hadn't any fresh pomegranates."

The little woman stopped a moment for breath and went on with renewed vigor: "And Adam never staid out till 12 o'clock at a political meeting hurrahing for some candidate and then scolding because poor Eve was sitting up and crying inside the gates. He never played billiards, rolled tennins and drove fast horses nor choked Eve with cigar smoke.

"He never loafed around the corner groceries and saloons while Eve was rocking little Cain's cradle at home. In short, he didn't think she was especially created for the purpose of waiting on him and wasn't under the impression that it disgraced a man to lighten a wife's cares a little. That's the reason that Eve didn't need a hired girl, and with it is the reason that her descendants do."

She drew another breath and was about to continue, when the bachelor pulled his hat down over his eyes and sneaked away amid the laughter of the crowd.—Louisville Post.

The Mexican Agave. The Mexican agave is a vegetable growth used in making an intoxicating wine. According to a tradition of the country, it was the first plant God made. Another species of the agave is used for the same purpose as soap, its leaves when broken and rubbed together producing a cleansing lather. It is also employed in poisoning fish to be eaten, this poison, like so many others, having no effect upon the person who eats the fish.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE—"In Old Kentucky" is the name of the latest play which bears the proud distinction of having made a great New York hit, having run nearly the entire season at the big Academy of Music, to very large audiences. It is a very elaborate production, and will be seen at the Boston Theatre beginning next Monday night, Oct. 22, with all the original scenery. It is described as a cleverly written story of Kentucky life, strong in plot and development of character, brisk in action, thrilling in situations, and novel in treatment. It is a heavy scenic production, comprising many scenes of rare beauty and originality. Chief among them is a complete representation of the Lexington race-track, with its grand stand, judges' stand, tents, bookmakers, jockeys, and others who congregate at such places. This scene is so big and complicated that it is necessary to remove every piece of stuff from the stage before it can be put on; a band of youthful darlings is an odd and catching feature, and there are many scenes and incidents of historic life in the state wherein the story of the play is laid.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—One of the events of the season will be the presentation of "Sowing the Wind" at the Columbia, Monday, Oct. 22, by Charles Frohman's company, headed by J. H. Gilmour and Mary Hampton. It comes to us with the prestige of two hundred nights at the Empire Theatre, New York; one hundred nights in Chicago, and several weeks in San Francisco. It is nearing the six hundredth night in London. Apart from its beauty as a play, the powerful dramatic situations that it offers and the charming pictorial treatment which is given to it, there is just now much public interest in the "sex against sex" question which the dramatist has made his theme. There are always hundreds of wet eyes in the house during the "sex against sex" duel between Rosamund and Dr. Brabazon, who afterwards turns out to be her father. This will be the first presentation of the play here.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—When Manager Brady was abroad last spring he witnessed a production of "The Cotton King," the great London success then holding the boards at the Adelphi Theatre, the home of melodrama. His judgment dictated that there was a good thing for his countrymen, and he secured the American rights. Sutton Vane, the author of the play, subsequently told Brady that he had written the melodrama quite as much with a view to the approval of American audiences as of those of London and that it was one of his ambitions to have it produced in the United States. Both Manager Brady and Manager Atkinson have presented it in superb shape at the Bowdoin Square Theatre and it is attracting audiences limited only by the capacity of the house. Matinees are given on Wednesday and Saturdays. Mrs. Selden Irwin, who years ago was the most popular actress on the Pacific Coast, is in the cast of "The Cotton King." Mrs. Irwin is a Bostonian and many persons will remember her from her connection with the Boston Museum. Then, she was known as Maria Rutherford and her stage debut was made at the Museum where she played juvenile, soubrette and boy parts for three years. She has also played leading parts with E. L. Davenport, and in Daly's, Wallack's and Frohman's companies, and was Dame Barbara in the Black Crook.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—The engagement of Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theatre Company here, which will continue throughout the coming week at the Hollis Street Theatre, is of interest to all theatre-goers. But few of them have not heard of this standard New York organization, and many have seen them either in their home theatre in New York, or in some one of the half dozen cities only which they visit in their annual early autumn tours. The novelty which it has offered Boston at this time is "The Amazons," which was the most pronounced success of the New York season, and which, during its long run at the Lyceum Theatre, received the most unqualified commendation of both press and public, as a model play and production. It is very light in nature, and was intended to be a series of smiles from beginning to end. The company includes Georgia Cayvan, Herbert Kelcey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walcott, Katharine Florence, Fritz Williams, Beatie Tree, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Mr. Thomas Whiffen, Robert Weed, Ernest Tarleton, Maude Odell and Ida Andry. All the original New York cast and every particle of the original scenery is carried on tour by the company for this visit.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—Messrs. Mansfield & Magee announce that commencing Monday evening, October 22d, John L. Sullivan, a native Bostonian, and for 12 years the champion pugilist of the world, will present for the first time at the Grand Opera House and the last time in this city, his new play, "A True American." The play is from the pen of Edward E. Price, Esq., one of New York's most prominent lawyers, and was by him especially constructed to fit the capabilities of Mr. Sullivan. As the forthcoming engagement is the first which Mr. Sullivan has ever played at this theatre, the management desire to announce that on the occasion of the aforesaid engagement, in order that their patrons may have no feeling of dissatisfaction such special arrangements will be made as will insure the observance of perfect decorum at every performance. Equal vigilance will be observed at the matinees, and ladies and children may come unattended without fear of even the suggestion of annoyance. The company engaged to support Mr. Sullivan includes many prominent stage favorites. The comedy element of the play is strong and refined. Specialties will be introduced by Nellie Lawrence, Bobby Mack, King Sisters and the Barrows' children.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

"The Impotence of the Churches in a Manufacturing Town" (Fall River, Mass.) is the subject of an article in the forthcoming number of the Forum by the Rev. Wm. B. Hale, author of the recent article on the religious analysis of Middleboro, Mass. Mr. Hale, in the service of the Forum, has made a personal study of the moral condition of Fall River to ascertain to what extent the churches, divided as they are, are equal to the demands made on them by the conditions of a modern manufacturing community. The Rev. John W. Chadwick will contribute an article on Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Other articles will be "Thackeray's Place in Literature," by Frederic Harrison; "The Temperance Problem: Past and Future," and high license, and an argument for the Gothenburg system; "The Contented Masses in the West," by Chancellor J. H. Canfield of the University of Nebraska; "How the Infant Death-Rate Was Reduced in New York," by Nathan Straus; "The Wage-Earners' Loss in the Business Depression," by Samuel W. Dike; and "Facts Touching a Revival of Business."

THE GREEN CARNATION.

is the title of a book that has been making a great sensation in London and has just been published in attractive form by D. Appleton & Co. No author's name is given, but there is a strong suspicion that Oscar Wilde is the writer, although it satirizes him in the person of the leading character, but Oscar likes to do that kind of thing. The book is a masterpiece in its way, and those who do not read between the lines and think it amusing, as the audience did the absurd talk of Esme Amariath at the mothers' meeting, the mothers being the average English peasants. It defies all the proprieties in a very innocent way, and every one of note in London is unblushingly satirized. Some people regard it as a rather daring parody on the popular novels of the day, and others are shocked by the immorality of the absurd and tawdry views of the chief character. Every character but one in the book is always popular, and Londoners who know the men satirized find it very amusing.

It is learned that a third edition of Hall Caine's successful romance, "The Manxman," has been called for. The publishers, D. Appleton & Co., announce the new and uniform edition of "The Deemster."

A Conan Doyle's new book, "Round the Red Lamp," is to be published immediately by D. Appleton & Co. The "Red Lamp," the trade-mark, as it were, of the English country practitioner's office, is the central point of these dramatic stories of professional life. There are no secrets for the surgeon, no evasion, no self-dramatization as a novelist, the author has made a most artistic use of the motives and springs of action revealed to him in a field of which he is the master.

"The God in the Car" is the title of Anthony Hope's new novel, which is to be published immediately by D. Appleton & Co. This is the first novel that the author has written since "The Prisoner of Zenda." It is a story of the times, fresh in motive, subtle in its portrayal of character, and dramatic in its effects. "The God in the Car" will enlarge the circle of this popular novelist's readers.

"The Lilac Sunbonnet" is the title of the new novel by R. S. Crockett, author of "The Stick Minister," which is to be published immediately by D. Appleton & Co. This is the first novel which the author has published since "The Riders," and it is said to show a delicacy and charming humor which will place the story at the head of this author's work.

Two famous Yale athletes, A. A. Stagg and H. L. Williams, have utilized their experience in the preparation of a work which must be the standard guide to football. Their "Treatise on American Football" is to be published immediately by D. Appleton & Co., contains instructions for beginners, hints on training, separate chapters for all the positions, and chapters on team-play, signals, etc., with 69 full-page diagrams of plays, showing the positions to be occupied by each man. The amended rules of the game are added, and the book, while invaluable for players, is hardly less useful to spectators who wish to understand the plays. Messrs. Hinkley, Bliss, Cunnock and Casper W. Whitney are among the experts who recommend this timely work.

ROUTES FOR STREET CAR LINE.

TOPIC FOR INTERESTING DEBATE IN NEWTON CENTRE, WEDNESDAY EVENING.

A gathering of citizens filled Associates' Hall, Wednesday evening, responding to a call issued by the Newton Centre Improvement Association, to consider several routes proposed for street car lines to connect Newton Centre with the Central boulevard.

The three routes considered were Centre street, Irving street and Grant avenue. In each case extensive widenings were proposed. The wishes of the citizens of Newton Centre in this matter are expected to be consulted by the city government in granting street railway locations.

A large number from the 500 or more gentlemen present took part in the discussion, which was exceedingly lively at times.

Mr. H. N. Wood, city engineer, showed a plan of the streets to be considered and the present location of the electric street railroad. The object of the proposed changes, he said, was to free Willow, Pleasant and Homer streets from car tracks and connect the village with the line on the boulevard. If Centre street were widened to 100 feet from the village to Commonwealth avenue a double line of tracks could be constructed. Another proposition was to run cars through Beacon street, Irving street and Chesley road, and the third suggestion was to widen Grant avenue to 70 feet and run a line through Grant avenue and Beacon street. In each case a few houses would have to be moved.

The cost of widening Centre street, exclusive of land damages, was estimated at $6000. If the Irving street route was adopted, the cost would be $8500. The cost of widening Grant avenue would be about $5500. If Centre street was widened the land would be taken on the western side.

Avery L. Runt said Commonwealth avenue was promised to Newton Centre for a means of rapid transit to Boston. The corner of Commonwealth avenue and Centre street was near enough to the village, and he did not think a connecting street, 80 or 100 feet in width was needed.

Mr. J. M. Mick thought it would be a good plan to consider such a location for the electric road as would permit of its extension through Dedham street through the Oak Hill district.

George Ellis was opposed to the granting of any location.

Hon. A. C. Walworth was opposed to the Centre street route, on account of the great injury the location of a street railway on Centre street would be to that thoroughfare.

E. S. Gilbert was also strongly opposed to giving up the streets of Newton Centre for the benefit of the electric car company.

W. K. Webster thought a connection with the boulevard would soon be a necessity. Several others spoke on the matter, and it will be given further consideration at a future meeting.

$100 Re rd, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J. —Mr. C. F. Ford is making a change in residence to Mr. Gilbert's house at Pine Grove.

—Mr. Slennan, a former superintendent at Bishop's paper mills, is again serving in that capacity.

—Job. Monagan has the work of building a brick enclosure about the new pump set up at Sullivan's mills.

—Sergeant F. M. Mitchell returned Monday from a two weeks vacation at Colchester, Vt.

—A newly organized club, known as the Riverside Club, will hold a dance at Freeman Hall this Friday evening.

—Mr. Matthew Manning has taken an agency for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York.

—Mr. P. C. Baker's aunt of Colorado started for her home there, Tuesday, after spending the past five months with his family here.

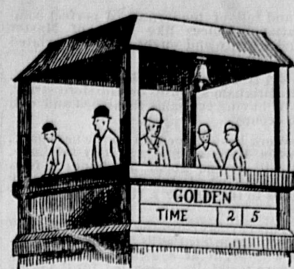

—Mr. Daniel Warren has dug over 200 barrels of potatoes, fine in quality, from an acre of little over two acres of planted ground, which comes near beating the record for yielding in these parts.

—Mr. W. B. Atherton removed to Randolph, Mass., this week. It is understood his whole property here, comprising four houses and about two acres of land, is for sale.

—The tenants of the Yellow block are making preparations for removing since the board of health have reasons for thinking it unfit for a dwelling house by a recent examination of it. The board were to take final action at a meeting sometime this week.

—Chas. Harris has become quite prominent recently, by depositing with others, $50 for a contract on paper for $20 a week with a theatrical company. The manager of the troupe left for parts unknown with the funds rather suddenly which may be of service in their next attempt in this line.

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason of Chilton, Carter Co., Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

A RECORD.

of twenty-five years of cures is made by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In all blood disorders, this remedy has numbered its cures by the thousands. Years of uninterrupted success long ago led the proprietors to sell this remedy as no other blood-purifier can be sold. They have so much confidence in the "Discovery" that they guarantee it in all diseases that come from a torpid liver or impure blood. As a blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength-restorer, nothing like the "Discovery" is known to medical science. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, or Scrofulous Affections, quickly yield to its purifying and cleansing properties.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

For every case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to pay $500 in cash. You're cured by its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties, or you're paid.

—John Berry, who was away from his home here a few days, gave his relatives
quite a scare. Last Monday, the rumor reached them that he had been in Boston in a dying condition. His mother went to that city at once to investigate. She learned that the body of a man who expired on the 10th inst. had been taken to the morgue. Then she ascertained that it had been claimed by relatives. She returned home, her fears somewhat allayed.
The other inmates of her family were sorrowing over John's demise, when the worthy arrived upon the scene safe and well. Of course, he was given a cordial reception and a house of sorrow was turned into a place of joy and thanksgiving.

—Miss Mabel Frances Rowe, daughter of Mrs. C. H. Rowe, and Mr. Harry Maynard
Fowler, were married Wednesday evening in the Baptist church here. The audience room was decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and pink and white chrysanthemums. The ceremony occurred at 7.30 o'clock. Rev. Richard Montague, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hughes of the Methodist church.
Miss Grace Rowe, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Julia Fowler, Miss Starline Glidden, Miss Martha Rising and Miss Lucy Hart-
well. The groom's cousin, Mr. Fred Rising, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Taylor, Will Rising, Arthur Fowler,
Will Rogers, Edward H. Spear and Clayton Freeman. The bride was gown in white satin, en-traine, wore the usual tulle
veil, caught up by a spray of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bride roses.
The maid of honor wore white crepe over pink and carried a bouquet of Catherine Mermet roses. The bridesmaids were attired in muslin gowns lavishly trimmed with pink ribbons. Their bouquets were made up of pink and white chrysanthemums. Following the ceremony a reception for the relatives was held at the residence of the bride's mother on Institution avenue at the close of which the young couple departed on their wedding tour.
They were the recipients of a large number of useful and beautiful gifts. Upon their return from the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will reside here.

—U. O. Tucker & Co. are selling sugar
for 5 cents per pound.

—In Grey stone's letter last week, "Peek's Hill and the adjoining globe" should have read "glebe."

—The pastor, Rev. Edward M. Noyes, will preach in the Congregational church
Sunday, Oct. 21st, morning and evening.
In the evening the seats are free and all are invited.

—At the Baptist church Sunday morning Dr. Montague will preach on "The Inauguration of Heaven," in the evening at 7 he will begin a series of lectures on the people on "Character Building," subject,
"The Relation of a Sound Body to a Right Character."

—The Young Ladies' Singing Class has resolved itself into a club. One evening of each month is to be set apart as Program Night, at which will be given a paper on some musical subject, with illustrations.
The club will meet as last year with Mrs.
Bird of Pelham street.

—Services at the Unitarian church next Sunday, Oct. 21, at 10.30, "The gains of 25 years." Full choir, organ and cornet. Sunday school at 12. Classes for all ages.
Evening service at 7.30, "Sons of the Prophets." Emerson class Tuesday 7.15.
Study of the Memorial. All are welcome.

—On the evening of the 13th inst., the children, grandchildren and immediate members of the family of Joshua Loring met at the residence of his daughter, Mrs.
Lyman B. Brooks, in Boston, and celebrated him upon reaching the ripe age of eighty-two years. Mr. Loring's life has been given largely to the Blackstone Bank.
He was its first cashier, and subsequently its president, making a continuous service in its behalf of more than forty years. He retired two years ago from the presidency,
but remains in its directory, and may be seen there daily.

—There was a large gathering in the Baptist church, Melrose, Wednesday evening, to witness the marriage of Rev. Herbert S. Manley, librarian of the Newton Theological Institution, and Miss Anna B.
Loring of 265 Upham street, Melrose. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. K.
Wilson. The maid of honor was Miss Mary L. Loring. Miss Florence E. Manley was bridesmaid and little Arline Felt was flower girl. The best man was Mr. Fred Harper of Walpole, and Messrs. Melvin Choate of Fitchburg, George L. Bartels of Waverly and J. Walter Newhall of Melrose were the ushers. The reception was held at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs.
Manley will reside here upon returning from their wedding tour.

—The "Euterpe," a club composed of the best young singers of the south side of Newton, has just begun its third year. It is actively engaged in the preparation of Pinafore, and will have the privilege of opening the entertainment season in this alliance as well in Newton Highlands.
To say that Mr. F. H. Wood is its musical director gives the assurance of its success
musically. Mr. J. C. Bartlett, Boston's well known tenor, who takes the part of Ralph Rockstraw, also gives the club his stage training. The other solo parts are to be taken by singers well known in this locality. These two performances are looked forward to with great anticipation.
The "Euterpe" hopes to be able to receive the congratulations of its friends
upon the success of this, its first opera.

—The Ladies Society of the M. E. church held their annual harvest supper last Wednesday evening. The parlors were gayly decorated with autumn leaves and fruit. The entertainment consisted of music and readings, especially of Mother Goose rhymes, describing the ways in which the ladies had each earned a dollar
during the summer. The fruit and vegetables were sold at auction at the close of the evening.

—At the concert given in Wellesley, Oct.
10, by the choir of Grace church, Newton, Master Franklin L. Wood of this village was the soloist. The "Wellesley Review"
of Oct. 13, in speaking of his singing, says,
"The recitative and aria from 'Emanuel'
revealed a voice of wonderful sweetness
and richness, full of sympathetic qualities like a woman's. The second encore 'The Sea hath its Pearls,' which the audience
demanded with much enthusiasm, confirmed this impression still further. The high notes in it were clear and true and satisfying, while the low tones were vibra-

ing and full of tenderness, a perfect combination. Voices like those of Master Wood are rare and ought to be appreciated
more than they are."

—Mr. Hobart, who has leased one of Mr.
L. K. Brigham's houses on Hartford street, is now having the same furnished and will soon occupy.

—Work has commenced on the new park,
between Lake avenue and Crystal Lake,
and will extend about five hundred feet.
The acquiring of this land by the city
secures to the public a right of way to the lake.

—This (Friday) evening "Harvest Home"
will be kept in St. Paul's church. The service will begin at 8 o'clock. The church has been tastefully decorated for the occasion. Arches of bright autumnal foliage
span the aisles and a rood screen encloses
the chancel. Abundance of fruits and vegetables gives character to the decoration. Under the direction of the new choir master, Mr. Peter Willgoose, the vested choir of men and boys will lead the music
and will observe the following order: Processional, "Come ye thankful people,
come," Sir G. J. Elvey Magnificat. Dr. Gilbert
Nunc Dimittis. Dr. Gilbert
Aubert, "Te shall dwell in the Land of the Living." "Praise to God, immortal praise." Kicker
Offertory, Anthem, "Seek ye the Lord,"
Hymn, "Praise to the holiest in the height,"
Anthem, "Inspire and hearer of prayer," Williams

Several visiting clergymen are expected
and the Rev. Geo. W. Swinn, D. D., rector of Grace church, Newton, will be the preacher. After the service there will be an informal gathering at the rectory. The seats in St. Paul's church are all free and strangers are cordially welcome.

—The dedication of the Methodist Episcopal church here, Oct. 10, 11 and 12th, was an occasion of unusual interest, from the fact that the initial sermon was preached by Bishop Newman; his subject was "Character," and it is needless to say, that he was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. The fact that he was willing to undertake the long journey for the express purpose of preaching in the newly dedicated church, is a proof of the standing of this society, and the enterprise of its pastor and members. Following the sermon was a short address by Hon. Alden Spear, in which he reviewed the history of the Methodist churches of this city in a most interesting way, and congratulated the church on its handsome building, and prosperous outlook. After this came the services of dedication and later in the evening
the building was thrown open for the inspection of the public. All agreed that it is a most charming church home, and many compliments were showered on the Pastor, the Rev. Charles A. Shatto, who has worked so hard and successfully for its completion. The second evening the congregation enjoyed a sermon by Rev. Edw.
M. Taylor of the Winthrop street M. E. church of Boston on the text, "The Christian in the World," which was well received by a large audience. The sermon of Friday evening was by Rev. J. W.
Hamilton, whose main text was "The Preacher of today," and it is unnecessary to add that the genial Dr. delighted his hearers.
The thanks of the society are due to Miss Mary Merrill for her charming contralto voice of the first evening, to Miss Fanny Stevens
and Mr. S. Adams for the music of Thursday, and to the friend of Newton Methodism for the beautiful choir work on Friday evening. It is an occasion that will long be remembered in the history of the church, and has given this society a hold on the hearts of the community. The amount realized by subscription was $500.

—The station agent at the New England
depot reports exceptionally good business
the past month.

—Miss Eva Barrows of Cambridge is working for W. O. Coleman in the capacity of Clerk.

—Mr. Charles E. Trask has moved to Medford on account of business changes.
His mother, Mrs. Trask, has lived here
seventy-eight years.

—Mr. Geo. Fish of New Jersey, formerly a well known pitcher with the New England Base Ball League, is in town and his old friends are glad to see him.

—Mr. George Brewer of Boston, formerly manager of Echo Bridge Park, was in town yesterday and met his old friends. He is connected with the Castle Square Hotel.

—Mrs. Mary Mahoney of Hale street, for a long time a resident of this village,
has just moved to her new home this week.
She had been in firm for the last few years.

—The Young Men's Association gave its first assembly in Prospect Hall, last Friday night. It was largely attended, about 50 or 60 couples being present. The assembly tonight will be postponed for a week
on account of a party at the Lower Falls.

—The police raided the premises of Michael O'Grady and James Haley last Friday night. At the former place a quantity of whiskey was seized and at the latter some ale and beer. The value of $65 in the police court and O'Grady's case continued.

—Poor old Kate, the horse owned by Mr.
Charles Chamber, and used by him in carrying mails, was shot last Thursday.
She has been suffering lately with pron-
tism and was mercifully killed to end it.
She was 19 years old and had carried the mails for years. The horse was a great favorite with everybody and it is felt that Uncle Sam has lost one of his most faithful servants. She will be greatly missed. Mr.
Chambers has bought a new horse to fill
her place.

—At the annual meeting of St. Mary's Guild, the officers elected were Rev. H. U.
Munroe, president; Dr. F. W. Freese, vice-president; Mrs. W. R. Dimond, secre-

trip.

—A movement is in progress to unite the vested choirs in Newton and Waltham for social services, concerts and social gatherings.

—The annual burning of leaves seems to be a greater nuisance than ever this year, owing to the heavy atmosphere. It would seem as if leaves could be put to some better use than to burn them.

—Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bartlett and Dr.
Sidney R. Bartlett left Monday night for Philadelphia to attend the latter's wedding,
which took place Thursday evening at 7.30.
The bride was Miss Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac E. Landell.

November. They will interest non-churchgoers.

—Mrs. Francis W. Bentley and daughter Miss Bertha M. Bentley, who have been spending the summer in Halifax, have returned to Newton. The passage home was an extremely rough one as the tail end of a storm was met with on the way.

—The engagement is announced of Miss
Lucy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Francis C. Davis of Pembroke street, to Mr. George Richardson of Commonwealth avenue, Boston. The announcement is calling forth the warmest congratulations
as both are well known in social circles.

—Mrs. Mary Stebbins, with Mr. and Mrs.
Harry Stebbins, recently returned from a delightful four days' backboard drive, visiting points of interest at the White Mountains. Mr. Stebbins is the junior partner in the firm of Howe & Stebbins, engaged in a prosperous lumber business.

been connected with Jones, McDuffie & Stratton for twelve years and was a trusted and valuable clerk.

—Mr. Henry E. Cobb of Bellevue street has been entertaining Dr. L. Hirschmann of Budapest, Hungary. The latter has been sent to this country as a representative of Hungarian interests for the purpose of investigating various industries in the United States with a view to establishing manufacturing similar lines in Hungary.
He has letters of introduction from Count Deutsch, whose acquaintance Mr. Cobb made while in Europe. Dr. Hirschmann has visited the American "Water Com-
works" at Waltham, and the Silver Lake
Cordage Works and Nonantum Worsted Works in this city.

—The following list of evening entertainments have been prepared by the board of directors of the Choir Guild of Grace church for the members of the choir: Wednesday, Oct. 24, entertainment in Guild hall; Wednesday, Nov. 21, Christmas tree; Wednesday, Jan. 2, annual winter concert; Thursday, Jan. 17, annual dinner, Woodland Park Hotel; Thursday, Feb. 14,
annual election of officers; Wednesday, Feb. 20, entertainment in Guild hall. The date of the annual choir concert will interest many people as that event has come to be looked upon as a great pleasure and the concert on that date promises to excel any others.

—The residents of Watertown were much excited over a raid made by the police early last Sunday morning, and the arrest of several citizens on the charge of being present where gaming implements were found. The raid was made at about 1.30 o'clock in a small room in Dana block, located on Main street, in the most central portion of the town. There was no game in progress when the police entered the room, nor any money or chips on the table.
The men were placed under arrest and the premises searched and contents seized.
Beside the furnishings of the room, there were found a bag containing more than 70
chips, several packs of playing cards,
several cases of empty beer bottles, a jug
containing a little whiskey, a few bottles containing lager beer, eight nickel in the slot machines, etc. The furnishings included a regular gaming table, eight chairs,

a smaller table, stove, curtains, cuspidors,
eye shades and a lounge.

entertained a small party of ladies last Thursday.

—Work has been commenced by the highway department on the brick drain
through Brook, Elmwood and Centre street.
The excavation for the drain started at Brook street.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Currier (nee Lane)
have returned from their wedding tour.
They visited New York and other places of interest.

—If you are fond of fine, juicy beef,
lamb, pork or sausages, stop at Fresh Fish
oysters and vegetables, give Our Corner Market near the bank a call. Telephone to 224-2.

—Rev. Wolcott Calkins, D. D., delivered a sermon last Sunday morning on the subject of "The Lord is my shepherd." He held the close attention of his auditors during the discourse.

—The first winter sociable of the Eliot Congregational Society was held in the church parlors last evening and there was a very good attendance notwithstanding the inclement weather. The usual social and entertainment features were enjoyed and refreshments were served by the young people.

—Mr. George Hudson, who has been clerk for G. P. Atkins the past two years, died last night of typhoid fever at his home on Oakland street after an illness of only three weeks. He was a native of England, and came to this country in 1893.
He leaves a wife, who was Miss Cunningham of Upper Falls. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 2 p. m.

—Music in Eliot church Sunday evening:
Organ Prelude, Mendelssohn
Anthem, "Abide with me," Bainby
Quartet, "O Loving one divine," Piusini
Hymn, "The Lord is my shepherd," Korbet
Anthem, "I will Magnify Thee," Oliver King Organ Postlude, Weber

—A very pretty home wedding took place at 78 Bennington street, Wednesday evening, the contracting parties were Mr.
Wm. J. Little and Miss Alice A. Duff.
Rev. Dillon Bronson officiated. After the ceremony a reception was held, about 75
friends of the young couple attending to extend congratulations and good wishes for a happy union. Mr. and Mrs. Little will reside in this city.

—The Y. M. C. A. boys' meeting at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon will be addressed by Rev. Geo. E. Merrill, pastor of the Baptist church. All boys are invited. Dr.
Stuart, medical missionary to China, who has recently returned from the Flowery Kingdom, will conduct the men's meeting at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon. This will prove a very interesting meeting and all men are cordially invited to attend.

—Mr. Horton S. Allen, manager of the telephone exchange here, has returned from a pleasant trip through the Connecticut river valley. He visited Springfield, North Hampton, East Hampton and other places in the vicinity mentioned. The various telephone exchanges were, of course, the object of his scrutiny and particular attention paid to all recent improvements.
Mr. Allen says the foliage through the section which he visited was magnificent.

—Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Trowbridge celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary last week at their pretty new home on Hunnewell avenue. There were five tables of whist, and, unlike the usual custom, prizes were awarded to each person. Refreshments were then served and a very pleasant evening enjoyed by those present. Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge were the recipients of many handsome presents.

—Things are booming just now at the central telephone exchange. Quite a number of new telephone calls have been put in and several more are to be placed in position as soon as possible. Some changes from ground to metallic service are shortly to be made. The exchange now has 220 subscribers, the largest of any in its history. A third operator will soon be added to the force, which now comprises Horton S. Allen, manager; Miss Hartwell, chief operator; Miss Gordon, assistant;
Charles Corney, night operator.

—Verdicts for the defendant were rendered Monday in the second session of the Superior Court before Judge Richardson
by the jury in the suits of John Cody and his wife Mary against the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company. Mrs. Cody sued to recover $3000 for personal injury sustained Feb. 5, 1893, by reason of the alleged negligent condition of the car
step. Her husband sued to recover $2000
for the loss of the services of his wife.
The railroad denied any negligence.

—The business of Atwood's market has increased so largely under Mr. Atwood's management, that it has been found necessary to enlarge it, and the store is now being increased about one half, by the addition of an extra room from the other part of the block. This will allow of the store being extended the full length of the building, and will give plenty of light from the rear. The ice storage room is to be enlarged to double its present size, and set in a recess of the new addition, and the interior of the store will be renovated and improved, so that its old patrons won't know it.

—John F. Clark, representing the district attorney's office of Kings county, New York, appeared before the board of application for a requisition upon the Governor of this state for Edwin C. Lewis and Corinne
M. Cleveland of this city, under indictment in Brooklyn for grand larceny. Ex-Gov.
Long as counsel for the accused, requested
a hearing, but did not appear, sending instead letters and affidavits setting forth his case. Mr. Clark, in view of the absence of opposing counsel, merely submitted the minutes of the grand jury of Kings county, which presented the indictment. Gov. Flower then granted the requisition. It is regarded as highly probable that the legal fight will be carried on in Boston. The affidavits were prepared by Gov. Long and William Schofield, who is associated with him on the case.

—Miss Alberta Brentwood, daughter of Mrs. L. S. Page of Charlestown, and Mr.
Charles Henry Fewkes of this city were married last evening at the home of the bride's mother, 210 Main street, Charlestown, Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke officiating.

The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret C.
Whiting and Miss Emma F. Fritz of Charlestown, and the best man was Mr.
Chauncey Allen of this city. The bride was attired in a gown of white corded silk, with veil and lilacs of the valley. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends and as followed by a reception. The ushers were Mr. Frank R.
Fritz of Charlestown and Mr. Frederick
Rogers of this city. After a wedding tour,
Mr. and Mrs. Fewkes will be at home on Maple street.

—Miss Florence H. Kendall, daughter of Mrs. H. H. Bartlett of Richardson street, and Mr. Francis H. Franklin were married Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride, Rev. Wolcott Calkins, D. D., pastor of Eliot church, officiating. There was a reception for relatives and friends after the ceremony, at the close of which the happy couple departed on their wedding tour. They will reside in this city. The groom is one of the popular clerks in the grocery house of C. O. Tucker & Co. Mr.
and Mrs. Franklin received the customary pleasant congratulations and were the recipients of many useful and valuable gifts.

—A social and business meeting of the officers and teachers of the Eliot Sunday school was held at the residence of Mr.
Charles E. Eddy, Franklin street, Tuesday evening. After entertainment features and the interchange of social greetings, the transaction of business was proceeded with.
These officers were nominated for the ensuing year: Charles E. Eddy, superintendent; D. B. O. Bardon, assistant superintendent; Wallace Wales, secretary;
George R. McFarland, treasurer; Horton
S. Allen, librarian; Edward G. Robinson and George N. Putnam, assistant librarians.
Primary department—Mrs. W. I. Howells, superintendent; Mrs. F. W. Stearns, assistant superintendent; Miss Flora Wise,
librarian. The reports of the secretary,
treasurer and library committee were received. The usual appropriations were made for benevolent objects. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers of the primary department. After the business meeting, a dainty collation was served and at the close of this agreeable feature, the company departed wishing success to the superintendent, whose hospitality they had enjoyed.

Municipal Lighting.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Through the columns of your paper I desire to express briefly some reasons
which, it seems to me, point out the undesirability of carrying out the Municipal lighting scheme which was presented to the initial stage through an order introduced by Alderman Koffe at the meeting of the city council Monday evening. This order, tabled for one week, in order to give
a hearing to parties interested, if passed, places the city on record as favoring the responsible undertaking of manufacturing and distributing gas and electricity under the authority given in Chapter 370 of the acts of the Legislature of 1891, permitting
cities and towns to establish or purchase existing plants of private companies for that purpose. The law requires the submitting of the question to the voters
after it has been adjudicated upon by the city or town governments.

The chief objection to the scheme in Newton is the immense cost involved in the undertaking. It annihilates the company now supplying the city with gas and electricity and puts the whole control in the hands of the city. It provides for the appointment of a commissioner necessitating a considerable item for salary. In many ways it offers very serious objections and involves considerations that should receive most careful thought.

The order is brought forward, too, on the eve of election with, seemingly, the purpose of rushing it through before the character of its provisions have been thoroughly discussed. Great haste in a matter of such magnitude, affecting the interests of every tax payer, would be most unwise and even hazardous. Newton is becoming a most expensive place of residence
owing to the great expenditures for late improvements. What with boulevards, new highways, costly school houses
and other enterprises under way, to say nothing of the big sums that must be appropriated for widening Washington street,
paying the city's proportion for the separation of the grades along the line of the Boston & Albany railroad, providing additional new school houses, meeting the expenses of sewer construction and finding the wherewithal to meet the requirements of departmental expenses in a city of great territory, which looks to the future for a return for vast amounts invested, the prospects for any significant decrease in the tax rate does not look very promising. In fact, every indication points toward increase in that direction.

The citizens want the best, including lighting, but are they prepared at this time to dive down deep into their pockets and pay the cost which the establishing of the city's own gas and electric plant will involve? As one of the Newton taxpayers,
I feel constrained to entering emphatic protest. Think for a moment what this scheme means. The city must take the plants already established at the city, and fix upon a fair offer within 30 days of the passage of the measure. It will be necessary in Newton to build both new gas and electric power houses. That, of course, calls for the expenditure of a very large sum.

There is another thing to be considered.
There is some doubt about the practicability of the plan from an economic standpoint. The experiment has not been attended with the greatest success in some places. There is every reason to be urged for the most cautious and careful consideration of the subject before action is taken,
and it is to be hoped that no attempt will be made to railroad the scheme through.
The fullest opportunity should be afforded for expression of opinion, and any hasty action would be an injustice to the citizens
and bring a burden upon the city that it can ill afford, under existing conditions.

Report of the Nonantum Boy's Club.

For week ending Oct. 20th, boys enrolled 122; aggregate attendance, 294; average attendance 49; number of classes (industrial) 4; number of boys in classes 30.
Classes are viz. carpentry, printing, cobbling and drawing.
The club is indebted to Mr. Morton for his services as instructor of the carpentry
class. Also to Mr. Edward Redfern of H.
H. Tuttle & Co., for part of the cobbling tool. Mr. Hugh Campbell has given a set of cobbling tools. We are unable to find out to whom we are indebted for a ton of coal.

A SCHEME TO HAVE THE CITY ENGAGE IN GENERAL GAS AND ELECTRIC LIGHT BUSINESS—NEW ORDINANCE RELATING TO TRUANTS RECOMMENDED—MORE MONEY APPROPRIATE FOR USES OF THE SCHOOL BOARD—ROUTINE BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Both branches of the city council met again Monday evening.

Mayor Fenno announced the appointment of these election officers to fill vacancies: Ward 6, precinct, 1, H. B. Waters, clerk; Thomas Woodman, deputy clerk; C. E. Ward, P. E. Lueban, deputy inspectors. Precinct 2, W. S. Buckley inspector; L. T. Paul, H. T. Hesse, deputy inspectors. The election officers appointed at the preceding meeting were confirmed.

The quarterly report of the overseers of the poor was received and placed on file.

A communication from George G. Curry, counsel for Thomas Riley, who claims to have received injuries for which the city is responsible, was referred to the committee on claims. It was a bit peculiar in its wording and concluded with the suggestion that the attorney would be pleased to hear what the city had to say about the case.

Several hearings were given. The first was on the order authorizing the laying out of Berwick road. No one appeared and it was closed. On the hearing on the petition of the New England Telegraph & Telephone Company for locations for poles on Hunnewell and Forest streets, Washington and Forest streets, Mrs. White appeared. She objected to the location of poles on Forest street. The hearing was closed.

The next hearing was on the petitions of the Newton & Watertown Street Railway Company for locations for the extension of their tracks, beginning at the corner of Walnut and Watertown streets in Newtonville, at a junction of the tracks of the company located at that point; thence in a westerly direction through Watertown street to West Newton; thence through Washington street in a westerly direction to Newton Lower Falls, to dividing line between the city of Newton and the town of Wellesley. A location is also, asked for an extension of their tracks, as now laid on Walnut street in Newtonville, from their present terminus in a southerly direction on Walnut street to the tracks of the Newton & Boston Street Company on said Walnut street; also the right to make a rail connection at the corner of Washington and Walnut streets in Newtonville with the tracks of the Newton Street Railway Company, now located on Washington street; also the right to erect the necessary poles and wires for the operation of their cars by electricity on said locations.

President Parker, representing the railroad company, appeared and asked for a postponement. The request was granted and the hearing set for the first Monday in November. Later, at the suggestion of Mayor Fenno, the date of the hearing was again changed and ordered for Tuesday evening, Nov. 6.

The hearing on the petition of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company for locations for four poles on Griffin avenue was closed. No one appeared in remonstrance.

Nellie L. Doherty was granted a license to keep an intelligent office. The following resolution adopted by the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society was read by Alderman Bothfeld and on his motion referred to the street light committee.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Hunnewell Improvement Society the street lights of the city of Newton should be lighted on each and every night of the year, from sunset until midnight, and that foliage tending to obscure certain street lights should be at once removed.

A communication from Frederick Johnson, et al., was received and referred to the highway committee. It was an offer of land for the Auburndale section of the boulevard.

Petitions were referred of Joseph W. Farmer for license for a billiard room in Associates new block and of John Hiltz, et al., requesting the acceptance and laying out of Harrison street. On the former, a hearing was ordered for Monday evening next at 8 o'clock.

Orders were adopted authorizing the laying of sewers in Henshaw street, easterly and private way off Webster street; requesting the committee on ordinances to report an amendment to the ordinance relating to truants to provide the use of the Middlesex County truant school at North Chelmsford instead of the Norfolk Bristol school in Walpole; authorizing the construction of concrete sidewalks on Lowell, Bacon, Coppin, Washington and Carlton streets; and Hillsdale avenue; authorizing the widening of the central boulevard near the Boston line to provide for an exit to Chestnut Hill reservoir; authorizing the laying out as a public way of Mt. Vernon street from the west end of Appleton to the corner of Mt. Vernon and Allston streets; authorizing the issuing of the warrant for the state election; authorizing the placing of oil and gas lamps on Nonantum, Valentine and Margin streets and Elm road; appropriating $3000 for the purchase of $3,490 feet of land of S. M. Aldrich for site for a stable for the highway department on Crafts street; $2500 for the construction of sheds adjoining the highway stable on Auburndale avenue; $525 for the purchase of twenty-three copies of Bromley's Atlas of Newton; $750 to be added to the appropriation for school and districtals and to be used to replace blackboards and repair desks damaged in the Adams school fire.

On this latter order Alderman Bothfeld stated that it had been so drawn by the finance committee that the money could not be used for any purpose except that named.

Alderman Roffe presented an order relative to municipal lighting. It provided that the city should exercise the authority given under Chapter 370 of the acts of the Legislature of 1891, permitting cities and towns to establish plants for the manufacture and distribution of gas and electricity. He requested that the order be laid on the table until Monday evening next in order to grant a hearing to representatives of the Newton & Watertown Gas & Electric Light Company and others interested. The board so voted and fixed the date of the hearing for Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 7:30 o'clock.

On motion of Alderman Bothfeld an order was adopted appropriating $7802.92 to be added to the appropriations for highway general repairs and drains and culverts.

W. D. Shaughnessy was refused a permit to build a stable on Washington street.

Alderman Thompson submitted a report for the highway committee. It was in substance that it was not feasible to erect a building at a cost of $50,000 which would provide for the necessities of the Peirce school district, as that amount would be inadequate.

The hearing on the petition for location of telephone poles on Forest avenue and other streets was re-opened. Messrs. Puffer, G. T. Lovett and J. E. Lockett opposed the granting of locations for poles on Forest avenue. It was stated that there was no call for additional telephone service and that additional poles would greatly injure the street. The hearing was closed.

The board concurred with the common council in referring to the highway committee petitions for the widening of Erie avenue and the change of the name of Nonantum place to Norfolk road.

SCHOOL BOARD PROCEEDINGS.

ANNUAL REPORT SUBMITTED—COLIN S. OBER RESIGNS AND IS CHOSEN TO FILL THE VACANCY UNTIL THE EXPIRATION OF THE PRESENT YEAR—SANITARY CONDITION OF THE SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The school board held its monthly meeting in the old Clafin building Wednesday evening, Chairman E. J. Hollis presiding.

The report of the inspector of buildings relative to the sanitary condition of the school houses was received. In it, he gave the results of an inspection of all the school buildings in the city. The ventilation at the Bigelow school, he said, could be improved. Better ventilation was required, also at the Lincoln school. The sanitary condition at the Barnard school was not the best. Quite a number of the school houses were reported as not being connected with the sewers. On the whole, the inspector thought that the sanitary conditions, (considering the age of some of the buildings and the character of material used in their construction,) was pretty fair. In the sanitarium, a more liberal use of water was recommended and it was suggested that the use of a stiff broom in the urinals would be found desirable toward the attainment of the greatest cleanliness.

Mrs. Martin offered an order providing for the appointment of Fred Keyes and Willard A. Marcy as assistants in the Clafin evening school, with compensation at the rate of $3 per night.

Mr. Boyden—Do these nominations come from the committee?

Mrs. Martin—There has been no meeting of the committee.

Mr. Boyden—It seems to me that we should live up to the rule which requires that nominations shall be endorsed by the committee. I don't want to oppose, particularly, this order, and I, therefore, move that the rules be suspended that it may take passage at this time.

There not being members enough present to secure a majority vote of the full board, Chairman Hollis ruled that the motion was lost, only seven voting to sustain Mr. Boyden.

The report of the superintendent of schools was next presented. It contained some statistics relative to enrollment of pupils for the semi-quarter. The total enrollment above the kindergarten grades was 4165, a net increase of 174 over the corresponding period in 1893. The enrollment for the first semi-quarter in 1892 was 4420. For the first semi-quarter this year, there were 182 more pupils than in the corresponding period of any preceding year.

Considerable was said in the report about the Peirce school district. Its enrollment in 1893 was 766; this year, 794, an increase of 28. There had been a decrease in the enrollment in the Peirce building, due to the fact that some pupils who belonged there had consented to go to the Barnard school in order to assist in providing a way for some relief for the crowded condition of the former school house. There are 18 school rooms available in the four buildings in the Peirce district, and these, the superintendent said, were taxed to the utmost. As it would take, if the work was commenced at once, from 12 to 18 months to provide a new building needed, Mr. Aldrich said he could not see how any one could take the responsibility of further delay in the erection of a structure to replace the Peirce building, especially as it would simply mean the deprivation of time to pupils to which they were entitled, but which could not be given under existing conditions.

The report was received and placed on file. For the committee on annual report, Mr. Smith presented an interesting document which he read in full. It commenced by congratulating the citizens on the increased accommodations for pupils and the prospects for the provision of still more. The delay in providing a school house to replace the Peirce building was commented upon. It was to be regretted and to be regretted that action would not be longer put off. It costs money to provide first class accommodations, but if the school buildings of the city are to be improved, an expenditure of a considerable sum is necessary. One trouble is that there are few suitable buildings. The committee wants the city to have the best possible buildings with every necessary sanitary appliance and to secure these at the lowest expenditure consistent with a view to practical economy.

The committee urges upon parents the desirability of attending the schools, getting acquainted with the teachers and co-operating with them in their work. The committee expressed the opinion that the new studies introduced in the grammar grades had improved them and that the schools as a whole were on a high grade of efficiency. The expense per capita had been increased $2.80 over last year. This was due to the introduction of the new studies in the grammar grades and the increase in attendance at the High school, calling for the employment of a larger staff of teachers.

The report was accepted and thereby becomes the official report of the school board. On motion of Mr. Boyden, an order was adopted authorizing the printing of 3000 copies of the annual report together with that of the superintendent of schools.

Mr. C. S. Ober presented an amendment to section 4, chapter 4, of the laws and regulations, to provide that substitute teachers be paid the same salaries as those paid to teachers whose places they fill, and to provide for some other changes affecting salaries. On his motion, the amendment was referred to the committee on rules and regulations.

Mr. Beck gave notice of his intent to move an amendment to the amendment and some discussion followed as to what action the committee on rules could take on Mr. Ober's amendment. The matter was finally disposed of by the adoption of an order offered by Mr. Smith requesting the committee on rules to report such amendment or substitution therefor as might be deemed advisable.

An order was adopted authorizing the closing of the primary and grammar schools Nov. 6 in order to give teachers the opportunity of attending the Middlesex County Teachers' Association.

Mr. Colin S. Ober offered his resignation to take effect at once. It was accepted.

The action on the resignation was necessary in order to legally prepare for filling the vacancy at the city election. Mr. Ober's term of office does not expire until Jan. 1, 1896. He was elected to fill the vacancy by unanimous vote of the board the present year.

An order passed providing for the forwarding of notice to the city council of Mr. Ober's resignation and its acceptance, and of the existence of a vacancy in the school board from Ward 4.

The board at 8:35 o'clock adjourned.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION.

ITS REPRESENTATIVES FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE STATE ENTERTAINED BY MRS. ALEXANDER M. FERRIS AND MRS. WILMOT R. EVANS AT "THE ELMS" LAST FRIDAY.

The Daughters of the Revolution, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, met with Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris and her sister, Mrs. Wilmot R. Evans, at the residence of Mrs. Ferris, "The Elms," Hunnewell Hill, last Friday, to commemorate the surrender at Yorktown. From every section of the State came members to participate in the celebration of the anniversary of the breaking of the backbone of the War of the Revolution, which event caused great rejoicing in the colonies 113 years ago.

As the appointed trains rolled into the station here, carriages flying the society colors were in waiting to transport invited guests to the place of their destination, where the familiar buff and blue again greeted the eye. In the hall was the motto "Yorktown, 1781," in gold letters on a blue background. The front drawing room was decorated with the national colors, while the back drawing-room was in the Continental colors, as was also the dining-room and the upper floor.

Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. Evans were assisted in receiving by Mrs. William Lee, regent, Mrs. D. B. Stedman, Jr., secretary and Mrs. Leslie C. Wead, treasurer of the state organization.

The pourers were Mrs. F. Goss, Miss Evans of Brookline, Mrs. Wm. Ferris of Newton and Miss N. E. Caine of Miss Theo. Smith presided at the frappe table. Little Miss Rene Hardenbrook, in pale blue and pink, and Miss Florence Evans of Everett were the ushers.

Mrs. Vaseburgh of Pa. recited "The Ferry," and other recitations were rendered by the members of the society. Interesting relics were passed about. There was a star from a British flag surrendered at Saratoga, and a bit of the white of the flag. Four heliotypes of the commissions granted to Hugh Maxwell were also shown.

The Massachusetts grant of history was related in one and another group of eager listeners just as it had been handed down from father to child for several generations.

The special guests were: Rev. Dr. E. E. Hale, chaplain of the Massachusetts Society; Rev. Dr. An. de Water, rector of St. Ann's church, New York, and chaplain of the general society, together with the officers of the general societies and the 22 state societies belonging to this organization and including Mrs. E. P. Steers, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. J. Hood Wright, Mrs. Montgomery Schuyler, Mrs. D. Phoenix Ingraham, Mrs. Lyman Abbott, Mrs. Horatio C. Grover, Mrs. Inness, Jr., Mrs. Chas. W. Dayton, Mrs. Louis DeB. Gillion, Miss L. V. Steers, Miss Adeline W. Torrey of New York, and Mrs. Thomas Hill and Miss Anna B. Hill of New York.

The Massachusetts invitations were confined to the members of the society, and included, besides those already mentioned: Mrs. F. L. Abbott, Mrs. C. L. Adams, Miss Clara B. Adams, Mrs. Joseph Austin, Mrs. Bardwell, Miss A. L. Bell, Mrs. Chas. H. Bond, Mrs. George C. Bossen, Miss M. H. Brzler, Mrs. E. E. Edson, Miss H. E. Emery, Miss Foster, Mrs. George F. Lounsbury, Mrs. L. Wyman Harris, Mrs. Fred W. Hatch, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. S. P. Fiske, Mrs. B. C. Humphreys, Mrs. Louis G. Brockway, Miss Keene, Mrs. Chas. A. Burdett, Miss Lillian Keene, Mrs. George F. Choate, Mrs. L. D. Kimball, Mrs. Chas. A. Crowell, Mrs. Floyd G. Lewis, Mrs. Chas. Cundy, Mrs. A. J. Littlefield, Mrs. George F. Daniels, Mrs. M. E. Meredith, Miss Grace L. Diggles, Mrs. Merrill, Miss Clara B. Dobson, Mrs. Moseley, Mrs. Amos E. Dolbear, Mrs. Chas. Parker, Mrs. Arthur C. Dow, Misses Philbrick, Mrs. Chas. J. Pickford, Mrs. Abijah Thompson, Mrs. Alfred Peirce, Mrs. Chas. M. Thompson, Mrs. F. A. Peirce, Mrs. Chas. F. Tinkham, Mrs. H. Pukham, Mrs. C. W. Underhill, Miss Emily E. Pope, Mrs. L. W. Wheeler, Miss E. M. Porter, Mrs. E. A. White, Mrs. Henry E. Raymond, Mrs. E. A. Willard, Mrs. Margaret Ray, Mrs. E. B. Wilson, Mrs. Frances Raymond, Mrs. Chas. F. Wittington, Mrs. David Hall Rice, Mrs. Wm. Ruddick, Mrs. Wm. E. Russell, Mrs. Fred B. Smith, Mrs. E. Frances Sneathings, Miss Alice Stedman, Miss Miriam Stedman, Miss Tarr, Miss Alice M. Tarr, Mrs. P. Weston Thayer.

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia, quickly treated, promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. NEWTON CLUB GOSSIP.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS—RESCUE OF THE WINTER'S PROGRAM—WHAT THE BOWLERS ARE DOING—ANNUAL MEETING—INTERESTING NOTES CONCERNING NEWTON'S FOUR HUNDRED.

Bowling for the season of 1894-95 at the Newton Club started off Monday evening with a match between a picked team of Newton men and a quintet representing the Codman Club of Dorchester. The club tourney commences next week, with 12 teams entered in the competition. The schedule has been arranged to provide for a short series of games lasting about a month. After that there will be an individual tournament, and probably a series of invitation matches, in which the notable experts of the state league will compete for valuable prizes. The picked team of the Newton Club will meet most of the league club in a series of home and home games during the winter, and the matches that they have played against each other in the past furnish history of some of the most exciting and closely contested battles that have ever been waged for supremacy on the regulation alley. There will be, it is thought, fully as much interest in the games as there is in those of the league itself, and they will, of course, be notable in a social way, for the smart set always turns out to witness the contests in which these old-timers try conclusions. The Newton Club alums were never in better condition. They have been in thorough repair, and are superbly lighted. Some changes have been made, which will make them faster, and 2500 team scores will be more easily obtained than they were a year ago.

In the club tourney, four teams will play each night except those evenings allotted to club entertainments. The tourney will be completed Dec. 10. The bowlers have been rated 150, 140, 130, 120 and 110.

Suitable prizes are offered and will be awarded to the first, second, third, and fourth, making the highest three strings and the highest single string totals in competition.

A dinner was given by Mr. Geo. W. Morse last Friday to the American Whist Club team of Boston, comprising Messrs. L. M. Bouve, P. C. Howell, Chas. M. Clay, W. S. Allen. The Newton team were Messrs. Geo. W. Morse, H. P. Perkins, Jr., Herbert D. Kingsbury, Fisher Ames. The guests of honor were Mr. Henry E. Cobb, president of the club, and Mr. W. J. Follett. The same teams played in the national tournament in Philadelphia, the Newton team playing also in the semi-finals for the N. E. League trophy. This match was entirely informal, no prize being given and the Newton team not having practiced since playing in Philadelphia. The Boston team won by six tricks out of 24 played.

Last Saturday evening at the meeting of the club W. H. Emerson, G. P. Bulard, H. W. Mason, H. S. Pearson, F. J. Hale and Geo. B. Jones were elected a nominating committee to nominate officers for the ensuing year to be voted on at the meeting in January.

The dancing class for masters and misses, which is patronized by Mrs. Fred E. Whiting, Mrs. F. J. Wetherell, Mrs. Herbert S. Pearson and Mrs. Chas. W. Avery opened last Friday afternoon with a large attendance. An advanced class is being formed to meet on a separate day from the beginners. For further particulars see the matrons at once. Prof. H. E. Munroe has been selected as instructor.

A valuable handicap bowling trophy is to be offered as a special prize this winter. Six other prizes will be offered in the individual handicap competition. The preliminaries begin Nov. 1, '94, and close Feb. 28, '95. Bowling in the finals will begin on or about March 11, '95, and continue until all games shall have been rolled, each member bowling one (1) game of five (5) consecutive strings against all the others. The finals shall be composed of those making the most improvement or winners of their respective classes in the preliminaries. They shall enter at the average shown upon the books of the club, Feb. 28, '95. A schedule will be arranged and published, giving dates of meetings, with the order of bowling, immediately after the closing of the preliminaries, Feb. 28. The bowler winning the greatest number of games will be declared the winner of the tournament, and the owner of the "grand handicap bowling trophy" for the season of '94-'95.

The fixtures at the club for the season of 1894-95 are given below:

Oct. 27, Gentlemen's Night, Temple Quartet.
Nov. 5, Ladies' Matinee, Mrs. Sherman Raymond Quintet; Nov. 6, Election Night, election returns in the assembly hall; Nov. 10, Gentlemen's Night, J. F. B. April 3, Assembly, dancing 7.30 to 11 p. m.; April 8, Ladies' Matinee.

NEWTON A. A. TEAM.

MADE UP OF A CLEVER AGGREGATION OF FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

The make-up of the Newton A. A. football eleven will furnish interesting reading for the lovers of that popular amateur sport in this vicinity.

C. D. Barton, captain, and right end, is 20 years old and weighs 150 pounds. He is very much interested in all forms of athletics and puts up a great game of football, either behind the line or in his regular position. Tackling and breaking up the interference are his strongest points, and opposing teams will find it hard work to make gains around his end of the line. Last winter he was a member of the Revere Bank bowling league team and played short stop this season on the Newton A. A. base ball nine, which won the Suburban league championship.

Tarbell will be found in his old position at the other end of the line, where he promises to do even better work than last year.

Dexter is substitute end. Carter, who played guard last year, and Fuller of last year's Needham team, will play the tackles. They are both strong, well built men, and should keep their opponents hustling. The centre is well supplied with heavy men, who understand the game thoroughly. Paul, Carr and Eddy, as guards, and Kimball and Gilman at centre can be relied upon at all times. Paul played guard on the eleven last year. This season he is captain of the Newton high school eleven and is putting up a great game.

Behind the line, Newton A. A. is specially strong. Smith at quarter-back is well known. He played that position for West Roxbury last year. Fitz and Shinn are substitutes.

The backs are Knight, Wales and Bask, who played last year, and Nichols, Sars and Johnson. Nichols played full back and captained last year's West Roxbury eleven, and caught for the N. A. A. base ball nine this season. He weighs 190 pounds, is a fine line breaker and a hard man to stop. Sears and Johnson have both had considerable experience. Johnson was captain of the Brookline high eleven last year.

Knight is the best kicker among the Suburban league backs. He distinguished himself last year by kicking a goal from the field, from the 35-yard line in the Hyde Park game. The great match will be played on the home grounds at Newton Centre next Saturday afternoon. The visitors will be the strong Hyde Park eleven. The championship of the suburban league will probably be dependent upon the result of this game. On Nov. 10, Newton meets Dorchester in a league contest and on Nov. 17, the Lynn A. A. team.

A second eleven has been formed. Its first match was played last Saturday with a team representing the Needham high school. All who desire to play on the second eleven will be offered the chance to show their place in trials for positions. Their addresses should be forwarded at once to F. C. Rising, secretary of Newton A. A., Newton Centre.

The Major-ship of the High School Battalion.

To the readers of the Newton Graphic:

The non-appointment of a major in command of the High school battalion last year was made the occasion of considerable criticism by certain members of the High school, and others professing to have an interest in the welfare of our school military organization. Although it has again been decided to dispense with the office of major, many still question the wisdom of the decision. While the writer does not pretend to know the motives which have led to this change, nevertheless there are many reasons which would show to anyone giving the matter careful consideration, that the non-appointment of a major is beneficial to the welfare of the battalion.

In the first place it gives an additional responsibility to each and every officer of the battalion, which is in itself highly beneficial. It necessitates a more comprehensive knowledge of military regulations and gives the different officers a wider field to work in. It teaches the captain to feel at ease in commanding a comparatively large body of men, and gives to the lieutenants an opportunity to manifest their ability to control their fellows in the capacity of company commanders. In short, it widens the field of action for the officers and gives them, one and all, a broader experience of military tactics.

In the next place, the office of major is apt to demoralize the average individual. Except in preparing for, or upon the occasion of a prize drill, the major has but very little work or responsibility, or, at least, is very apt to take that view of the matter. The result of this feeling, however natural it may be, is of necessity demoralizing, both to the battalion and the individual. Although he may win glory for himself in the prize drills, yet, the lack of work and care in the bi-weekly routine is harmful in its efforts upon the average major. With the work and responsibility of the officers more widely and evenly distributed, and with better opportunities offered for the cultivation of that invaluable talent, the power to control bodies of men, the welfare of the battalion, individually and collectively, will most certainly be promoted. A HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE.

The conductor—Twenty-seven, sir, not counting a tariff argument with the brakeman at Brown's crossroads.

ELDRIDGE STREET BOULEVARD.

REMONSTRANTS APPEAR AGAINST IT ON ALL SIDES.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

It is interesting to note that, according to the Journal of a recent issue, the scheme of constructing a new avenue between Newton Centre and Newton at the expense of the city, for the sole purpose of installing an electric road thereon, although it has been kept very quiet of late, is yet alive, and its promoters are hugging themselves because there has not been a large number of remonstrants against it. Remonstrants? Why, the city, as well as the woods, are full of them.

It is a waste of energy to fight a shadow. When this threatened raid on the city treasury and invasion of the rights of property owners, in the interest of a private enterprise, assumes definite form, then, remonstrants will stand like a stone wall in its way.

In view of this proposition for a new avenue, the question naturally follows, what need has arisen that demands its construction? What relations, business or otherwise, already existing or to be called into being, that the present means of communication between the two points, via Centre street and also the cars of the circuit railroad do not abundantly satisfy. These ways of travel would be the ones made use of, even if a new way was opened.

In Park street and Waverley avenue, the city has two fine avenues at desirable distances apart, to the eastward of Centre street, and from this street to and beyond Waverley avenue, the land is occupied by a valuable class of houses.

The abutments on these streets protest in strong terms against a location upon them of an electric road. The opposition being too strong to face on these lines, the parties in interest turn their attention to what seems a feasible way of accomplishing their purpose, viz. a new route, availing of such streets as are possible, and turning into roadway what is now valuable taxable property, until Elmwood street is reached, in its tortuous course destroying the beauty of many estates from which land must be taken.

On Centre street there will be a thin fringe of houses extending from Hyde avenue to Franklin street, between two broad avenues. This property will be subject to the noise, dust and heat arising on either hand, and will be rendered less desirable for residence than at present.

Elmwood street is a very narrow street, it follows that it can be widened to a corresponding width with the proposed avenue, to form an outlet for it and enable its electric road to get somewhere, either to Centre street, Washington street or Tremont street; in whatever direction it may tend, widening of the street must be made.

Yet we are informed by the promoters of this scheme, that its cost will be but a trifle of fifty thousand dollars or so, that the convenience of Newton Centre and Newton people require it that those who now walk may ride if they will.

Let us glance at the source from whence money is derived for public use, viz. the real and personal property of the people of the city. $1,000,000 of value yields in round numbers, in taxes, $15,000. Allowing that the cost of the proposed avenue was but $50,000, the income of $15,000 is absorbed by it; multiply its cost by three or say $150,000, every dollar of which sum it would cost, and the taxable income of $10,000,000 is disposed of.

Citizens incline to a careful scrutiny of proposed expenditures of public money, for it begins to be generally understood that finally all the cost of the projects sanctioned and adopted by the city government, is drawn from the pockets of the taxpayers.

The times do not warrant the unnecessary expenditure of one dollar of the public money in any direction.

NEWTON CLUB BOWLERS WIN.

DEFEAT THE CODMAN CLUB TEAM ON HOME ALLEYS.

The bowling season at the Newton Club was opened Monday evening. A team of picked players representing the home organization played a match with the Codman club bowlers of Dorchester. The Newton men won by 82 pins. Dear born, who played last season on the Newton league team, was high man, passing the 500 mark for three strings. For Codman, Milliken rolled in good form. On a second ball roll, he knocked down pins 5 and 7 for a spare. The summary:

Mrs. Squeers—I can't make up my mind whether to vote for Tubbs or for Timmins.

Mr. Squeers—Decide on Timmins.

Mrs. Squeers—But I thought you favored Tubbs.

Mr. Squeers—I do. That's why I want you to select Timmins before you changed your mind.

When Others Fail

Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the shattered system by giving vigorous action to the digestive organs, creating an appetite and purifying the blood. It is prepared by modern methods; possesses the greatest curative powers, and has the most wonderful record of actual cures of any medicine in existence. Take only Hood's.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

Judge: "Do you" consider Mr. Knice a man of truth and veracity?"

Witness: "All I know is that he's got a baby at his house, a grandson, and besides he has a ways kept a dog."

Judge: "That will do. You can stand down. The jury will hear in mind what has just been testified to when they consider the evidence submitted by Mr. Knice."—Boston Transcript.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

A rather surprising order was introduced at the last meeting of the board of aldermen, providing that the city should exercise the authority given under Chapter 370 of the acts of the Legislature of 1891, to establish a plant for the manufacture and distribution of gas and electricity. The law provides that after a city council has acted favorably two years in succession, the matter shall be submitted to the people, and the intention is to bring the matter up at the coming city election, now about six weeks off.

The order was surprising, in that it was postponed to such a late date, instead of having been presented early in the year, so that the people would have had a chance to study up the subject and act intelligently. It is rather late to spring such an important question on the people, and the city council itself has hardly time to consider the question as fully as its grave importance demands.

Last year the order was passed in haste, and it was then said that this year opportunity would be given for full discussion, and therefore it went through without any debate. But this year instead of bringing it up in time to allow of a full investigation, the committee has waited till the last moment before bringing it up.

Possibly the committee has made such an exhaustive study of the subject, as the size of the scheme demands, and have examined into the methods of the cities and towns who do their own municipal lighting, and are so well informed that they can give all the advantages and disadvantages of the practical workings of the scheme, as illustrated in other places. There are advantages and there are disadvantages, and the citizens would like to know all about both sides before voting on such an important question. If the committee has made such a study of the question, they are probably the only city council committee in this country that has done so. It is easy enough to get up one side of a question in a superficial and general way, but to get thorough knowledge of both sides is a different and a difficult matter.

We should also like to know if the street light committee are willing to take the responsibility of advising the city to enter upon such a tremendous undertaking, as the wording of this order implies. Under this order the city is fully committed to undertaking the manufacture and distribution of both gas and electricity, not only for street lighting purposes, but also for private use, is compelled to take the plants already established at the price the gas company sets upon it, if they make a fair offer within 30 days of the passage of the measure, and to build a new power house and gas house of their own, as the present one of the company is in Watertown. This will involve a good many thousands of dollars, but if the measure is submitted to the people and carried, this year, there will be no evading all this expense.

The law also provides that all this enormous business, with all the details of management, shall be committed to one man, appointed by the mayor, who is, according to the provisions of the law, practically independent of the city council. The law is a curious one, but perhaps the street light committee can tell us what other cities have adopted just such an order as they have presented, what its practical workings have been, and whether in the cities that have tried it, the scheme is yet past the experimental stage and can be called a success by any dispassionate and disinterested investigator, and also whether such a man would not recommend that Newton should wait a few years till the success or failure of the experiment has been demonstrated. It costs a good deal of money to make experiments, and would it not be wiser to let other cities pay for this pleasure, while we wait and profit by their experience?

There has been a good deal of complaint about the lighting of the streets, but it is only fair to consider whether the blame is not quite as much due to the city council, who have introduced the present higgledy-piggledy system, mixing up are lights, gas lamp, incandescent lamps and oil lamps, without regard to results, as to the company furnishing the lights. Go from an arc light to any other lamp, and it appears dim and indistinct, although it may be all that the contract calls for. Drive from Newton to Wellesley on a dark night, and any one can see the difference between an intelligent system, and the one our street light committees have introduced to Newton, and which can never be satisfactory, under municipal lighting or any other. Most of the complaints one hears are due to the faulty system, more than to anything else.

If the street light committee had proposed to have the city take charge simply of lighting the streets by electricity, that might have been a practical scheme, and might have met with favor, but we do not believe that the citizens will favor anything so radical as the city's engaging in the general electric and gas business, especially when there is no time for any careful consideration of such an important matter. We doubt if even the members of the committee who are careful business men would advise such a wild undertaking.

As regards the cost of the present system, it might be said that the city is being lighted now under prices made five and a half years ago, and citizens who like to know all the facts in the case, may like to know what figures can be obtained of the company now, so as to estimate what, if any, saving would be made after all the great expenditure of money that the committee proposes. We suppose the street light committee is fully prepared to answer this question, in order to show that they have considered the scheme in all its bearings, and know exactly what can be saved under the proposed system.

JUDGE KENNEDY gave some very pertinent objections to joining our police department to that of Boston, at the hearing on Tuesday night, and he is in a position to know what the objections are. The chief objection is that it is the practice of the Boston Police Commission to exile to the suburbs officers who fall into disgrace, and therefore the men Newton would get would not compare with the present force, either in character or ability. Another reason is that our police department is so well managed now that the list of crimes committed in Newton is very small in proportion to those of Brighton, for instance, or any other suburb of Boston. In this connection it might be said that while the criminal cases in our district court have fallen off, under the strict sentences and certainty of punishment under Judge Kennedy, the number of civil cases has increased over 100 per cent, and cases are argued with some of the best legal talent of this vicinity as counsel. The compliment paid Judge Kennedy by Councillor Leeson was not undeserved when he said that Newton had one of the best judges in the country, and he would also say that even in England there was not a better administration of law in any of the local courts. That everything is going satisfactorily is evident from the fact that no complaints reach the local papers, and our local court is considered a model one. When everything goes on well, no one thinks of praising, but it is taken as a matter of course by the citizens. It will pay to once in a while publicly recognize merit, as Councillor Leeson did.

STRANGERS who read the Boston papers sometimes get an idea that every resident in Newton wants to sell his house, the advertisements are so numerous, but they do not understand that several hundred houses have been built in the city the past year, and these are the ones advertised for sale. The numerous advertisements are therefore a sign of the remarkable growth of the city, and instead of citizens moving away, new ones are moving in all the time. With the completion of the boulevard, the next few years promise to see great additions, both to Newton's wealth and to its population. More beautiful sites for buildings can not be found in any other suburb of Boston, than lay all along the new boulevard, and another year a good-sized boom is expected there.

A COMMUNICATION in another column shows that there is no diminution in the opposition to the scheme to provide a route for a street railway through Eldridge street. The sentiment seems to be growing that no more free locations shall be granted street railways, that would result in great expense to the city for street widenings. In Milton, the other day, the citizens turned out almost in a body to oppose the granting of another location for a street railway through that town, which shows that the feeling is not confined to Newton.

THE Harbor and Land Commissioners gave another hearing Wednesday on the proposed dam in Charles River basin. City Solicitor Slocum of Newton and Representative Abbott of Watertown appeared for the advocates of the scheme, and the remonstrants were represented by Ex-Gov's Russell and Long and Col. Wheelwright. It was the latter's day, and they put on the stand several experts to give their theoretical opinions against the dam. Expert testimony is usually paid for, and so does not command any very great confidence.

As was predicted last week, there were very few Newton citizens at the hearing on Tuesday night who favored annexation to Boston. The general sentiment seemed to be quite the other way, although some favored uniting with regard to parks and sewers. Greater Boston is all very well for those cities to whom it would bring any added honor or benefits, but Newton is not on that list.

The finance committee drew an order giving the school board $750 additional for incidentals, but providing that it could only be used for the repair of blackboards and seats in the Adams school, for which ostensibly this sum was asked. This action was very suggestive of the general feeling that a little economy on the part of the school board would not be out of place.

THE hearing on the Newtonville and Watertown Street Railway's petition to continue their tracks up Watertown street to West Newton, and from there through Washington street to Wellesley, was postponed on Monday night, to Tuesday evening, Nov. 6th, which will serve to pass the time, while the board of aldermen are waiting for the election returns.

GEN. DRAPER has been so busy at his mills, owing to the revival of business, that he has been so far unable to attend to his campaign, but it is said that he will open headquarters at the Parker House next week, and remain in Boston until after election.

THE FOOD OF THE FUTURE.

Not Unlikely That It May All Be Made by Chemical Processes.

"Do you mean to predict that all our milk, eggs, meat and flour will in the future be made in factories?"

"Why not, if it proves cheaper and better to make the same materials than to grow them? The first steps, and you know that it is always the first step that costs, have already been taken. It is many years, you must remember, since I first succeeded in making fat direct from its elements. I do not say that we shall give you artificial beefsteaks at once, nor do I say that we shall ever give you the beefsteak as we now obtain and cook it. We shall give you the same identical food, however, chemically, digestively and nutritively speaking. Its form will differ, because it will probably be a tablet. But it will be a tablet of any color and shape that is desired, and will, I think, entirely satisfy the epicurean senses of the future, for you must remember that the beefsteak of today is not the most perfect of pictures either in color or composition."

"Tea and coffee could now be made artificially," continued the professor, "if the necessity should arise, or the commercial opportunity, through the necessary supplementary mechanical inventions, had been reached."

"And what about tobacco?"

"The essential principle of tobacco, as you know, is nicotine. We have obtained pure nicotine, whose chemical constitution is perfectly understood, by treating salomine, a natural glucoside, with hydrogen. Synthetic chemistry has not made nicotine directly as yet, but it has very nearly reached it, and the laboratory manufacture of nicotine may fairly be expected at any time. Conceive, the poisonous principle of hemlock, has been made synthetically, and it is so close in its constitution to nicotine and so clearly of the same class that its transformation into nicotine remains to be mastered, a problem which is not very different when compared with others which have been solved. The parent compound from which the nicotine of commerce will be made exists largely in coal tar."

"From an Interview With Professor Berthelot, the French Chemist, in McClure's Magazine."

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

His Fondness For Little Children Gets Him Into Trouble.

"I always was fond of little children," said the retired burglar, "and once I served a term on that account. I had gone into a house in the western part of the state and rummaged about down stairs, and finally got up and got into a room where there was a man and his wife and a little baby all asleep. The baby was in a cradle that stood at the foot of the bed. Not far from the cradle, standing against the wall, was the bureau. I transferred whatever there was of value in the bureau, and then I turned to the baby. I couldn't help it. I turned my light on the kid to look at him, and he woke him up. He stared at me a little, and then he began to smile and double up his fists at me."

"Well, he looked so funny that I chuckled him under the chin, and that seemed to tickle him immensely. He threw up his legs and his arms and laughed more'n ever and tried to say something, but all he could say was 'Goo-o-o,' but that was enough. You have heard of women so tired you could not walk 'em up firing a cannon in the next room that would wake up in a minute if the baby turned in its cradle? Well, when this baby said 'Goo-o-o,' its mother not only woke up instantly, but she began to get up before she was fairly awake, and all the time she was looking toward the cradle, and she saw the light long before I could close it. Then she screamed, and I made a great break for the door."

"But the man got there before I did, and besides being very quick he was very able-bodied and not the least bit afraid. In fact, he was a better man than I was, and the upshot of this business was that I got four years and six months just for stopping to chuck a little shaver under the chin."—New York Sun.

VITAL QUESTIONS.

GARDEN CITY IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY FREELY DISCUSSES THEM.

An important meeting was held last evening in Elliot hall, under the auspices of the Garden City Improvement Association.

It was called to consider the proposed dam on the Charles river and proposed improvement of the river banks; the separation of grades along the line of the Boston & Albany railroad in this city; the proposed widening of Washington street and the taking of land therefor, and the granting of franchises to street railroad companies to cross the tracks of the Albany road at grade. Only the first two questions were considered, discussion on the latter being deferred to an adjourned meeting to be held in the same place, Nov. 8.

Mr. E. B. Haskell spoke in regard to the contemplated improvements on the Charles river. He thought it would be a difficult matter to carry out the plan of the Metropolitan Park Commission. It was not well to pin faith altogether on this one plan.

Ex-City Engineer Noyes of Newton thought the objections to the dam should have but little weight. The sanitary condition of the district would undoubtedly be improved. He was sanguine that the plan would eventually be carried out.

Resolutions offered by Mr. W. U. Lawson were adopted by the society endorsing the general plan of the commission for the Charles river improvement.

Mr. John T. Langford spoke on the grade crossing question referring to the unfair and dishonorable treatment of the city by the last Legislature and of the influence which the Boston & Albany railroad had in the Senate. He believed that the grade crossing matter should be made an issue in the coming municipal campaign. It would then be learned which plan was favored by a majority of citizens, that of elevation or depression.

Real Estate Changes.

Mr. C. J. Bailey has bought a lot of land from the George C. Lord estate, on the southerly side of Mt. Ida, of some over an acre to extent, located between Claremont and Langdon streets, and at the end of Lombard street. It will have a front of 300 feet on a new street to be built by the Lord heirs, and it is said Mr. Bailey intends to build a fine house there for his own residence.

No. 104 Church street, near Centre street, Newton, was sold at executor's sale by S. R. Knight & Co., Wednesday afternoon. It was purchased by J. W. French for $30,000. The house is an old two and a half story frame dwelling of 10 rooms, and the lot contains 11,488 square feet.

James F. C. Hyde & Son have sold the corner house of the Kingsbury estate to H. T. Wills, who buys for a customer on private terms. Both estates had a limit placed upon them and the limit was not reached at the auction last Saturday.

J. C. Perry is building two houses on Jerome Park, West Newton.

One of the Geo. P. Ridgway new houses on Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, has been sold to Mrs. Isabella F. Bigelow. Mr. Ridgway has built nine houses recently in Newton, and says this is his first sale.

First Ladies' Night.

The Newton Club opened its hospitable doors to the wives and lady friends of its members, Wednesday evening, the occasion being the first of the fortnightly "ladies' nights" of the season. Over 150 prominent society people of the Newtons were present.

The principal features of the evening's entertainment was a whist tournament, for which 26 tables were arranged in the large assembly hall. Music was furnished by the Ambition Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club. The prizes—handsome pieces of cut glass—were awarded as follows: First, Mrs. John Leavitt; second, Mrs. Fred Hartley; third, Mrs. W. M. Ferris; fourth, Mrs. H. L. Ayer; fifth, Mrs. Martial, F. Wood; sixth, Mrs. F. E. Bass.

—Ground has been broken for the foundations of a two-and-one-half story frame house to be erected on the corner of Walnut and Morse streets, by the Newton Land Company. Plans for the building have been prepared by S. J. Brown. The cost of the structure is estimated at $12,000.

—Suit has been entered by Mrs. Morrison against Messrs. A. R. Mitchell and E. F. Partridge on account of injuries which she alleges were sustained through a battle in which the dogs of the parties against whom action is brought were engaged. One of the canines, she affirms, rushed into the front of Partridge's store and killed her dog. This is denied by the defendants, who claim that Mrs. Morrison tripped and fell.

—There was some excitement for a while in the square here Wednesday evening, caused by the discovery of a big gas leak in the front of the building. The fire, it appears, had escaped from two cocks and in the store of an upholsterer on the first floor over 400 feet of gas had accumulated before anything was done to remedy the difficulty. Fortunately, no serious suits occurred. It offered an excellent chance for a fire and preliminary explosion, but word was sent to the company's headquarters in Watertown, and men were sent at once to shut off the supply to the building and attend to the stoppage of the leaks.

—Mrs. Arthur F. Jones gave an exhibition of her oil and water colors at her residence on Newtonville avenue Tuesday evening. Quite a company of ladies and gentlemen interested in art inspected her work which shows an improvement over that shown under such favorable circumstances here a year ago. There were many very cleverly executed pictures including several fine landscapes, some exquisite Southern views in water colors, depicting brilliant sunsets, and a beautiful landscape—An Afternoon in the Woods. The Southern views attracted a great deal of attention and won the praise of good critics who particularly commended the atmospheric effects. A group of figure pictures in water colors are thought by many to be the gems of Mrs. Jones' admirable collection. They were reproduced from the original French paintings and comprised "The Flower Girl," "The Girl With the Kittens" and "The Letter." The latter in a gilt circular frame, the faded now, was beautiful in design and coloring and gave evidence of true artistic conception. Most of the Southern views were taken from scenes in Tennessee. One of the finest water colors was entitled, "Off for a Cruise." A work in oil that was particularly praiseworthy was entitled, "Off from Marblehead," showing a group of yachts starting out on a pleasure trip under full sail. The paintings were found ready purchasers. Mrs. Jones is

He says that his plan is to run in an orderly manner to meet the requirements of desirable patrons. He states that no beverages of any kind will be sold on the premises. Mr. Farmer is a tenant of the Associates' now and bears an excellent reputation.

—Some improvements have been made in the postoffice. The business has increased so much that it became necessary to put in 100 additional call boxes. A good many of them have already been rented. A new stumpy window has been placed in a position easy of access, and other changes made that provide conveniences for the public and the postoffice staff. There are now four distribution windows.

—A very pretty wedding took place, Wednesday, Oct. 24, at noon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Maynard of Warwick, formerly of this place. The contracting parties being the eldest daughter, Miss Christine Emeline and Fred Seaver Delvey, a highly esteemed young man of Warwick. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Samuel Jackson of Waltham, a former pastor of the bride. She was very becomingly attired in white. The house was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and evergreen. Only a few intimate friends and the immediate families of the bride and groom were present. The presents were numerous and costly. The happy couple departed on a short tour and in their return will reside in Warwick.

quite a number did so. A heated argument occurred with several Catholics present.

—Admiral Fyffe has resigned his position as commissioner of the naval training school, because of his removal to Plover, Neb.

—Mr. Will Langley of Cherry street is one of the active men in the preparation for the Centenary of the Boston Bank Club's bowling league.

—The West Newton Co-operative bank met as usual on Wednesday evening, the fourth Wednesday in the month, at the police court room. $2800 was loaned at a premium of 5 cents. The bank is growing.

—The annual reception of the Woman's Educational Club will be held at the residence of Mr. K. A. M. and Miss A. M. on Wednesday, this afternoon, from 3 until 5 o'clock.

—A lady, who was visiting Mrs. Christie, Waltham street, was taken suddenly ill with diphtheria last week and was removed to the Cottage Hospital. She is reported as out of danger.

—Mr. Geo. W. Marsh picked some large ripe strawberries from the vines in his garden Monday. They being a second crop, show remarkable vitality of the plants, as well as an unusually favorable season.

—The cards are out for the wedding of Miss Emma, daughter of Ex-Alderman J. H. Nickerson, and Mr. Harrington of Wellesley. The ceremony takes place in the Unitarian church here Wednesday evening, Nov. 7.

—Mr. S. F. Cate has just added an elegant park wagon to his livery equipment. It is built with a canopy, accommodating twelve passengers and is provided with a canopy top. It makes a decidedly smart appearance, resembling a drag somewhat. The running gear is in red. It was designed especially for Mr. Cate by the builders, George Adams & Sons, of Merrimac.

—There are letters at the postoffice for J. H. Anderson, Mrs. E. M. Bishop, Miss S. J. Boudrat, Miss Susie Butt, Mrs. James Cox, Mrs. Maggie Connolly, Mr. G. H. Downs, Mrs. Lizzie Dunsmore, Mr. D. —There was a very large attendance at the union services of the Unitarian and Congregational societies in the church of the late Dr. Sunday morning. The congregation numbered between 800 persons. Rev. J. C. Jaynes, pastor of the Unitarian church delivered an able discourse. Union services of the two societies will be held in the same place Sunday. Rev. Theodore P. Prudden, D. D., pastor of the Congregational church, will deliver the sermon.

—The committee in charge of the Bixby Memorial fund held its final meeting in the City Hall, last Saturday evening. Chairman Arthur F. Luke presided. The chairman of the committee submitted their report, showing the total cash receipts to be $5508, and with donations yet uncollected the fund amounts to $7,148.50. The following committee was appointed to take charge of the fund and to make it safe and wholesome. It is to be used for the relief of the poor and the aged, and the committee is to be made up of the following: Arthur F. Luke, Chairman, Henry E. Cobb, N. H. Chadwick, Josiah E. Bacon, W. T. Farley, Frank J. Hale, Robert H. Gardner and W. F. E. Ison.

—The Davis schoolhouse was re-opened this week, following its renovation. New floors have been laid and the building put in as good sanitary condition as possible. It is regarded, however, by many parents as a "death trap" and a goodly number refuse to send their children. Genuis of disease they believe to be lingering about the old structure which they regard as unfit for occupancy, notwithstanding the efforts of the board of health and the city council to make it safe and wholesome. The old penicils used in the building were burned up, but it is said that the books formerly used there were re-distributed and that an objection was promptly made by parents of pupils. The school problem here is becoming serious and relief in the way of better and more healthful accommodations is becoming more and more urgent.

—The Davis schoolhouse was re-opened this week, following its renovation. New floors have been laid and the building put in as good sanitary condition as possible. It is regarded, however, by many parents as a "death trap" and a goodly number refuse to send their children. Genuis of disease they believe to be lingering about the old structure which they regard as unfit for occupancy, notwithstanding the efforts of the board of health and the city council to make it safe and wholesome. The old penicils used in the building were burned up, but it is said that the books formerly used there were re-distributed and that an objection was promptly made by parents of pupils. The school problem here is becoming serious and relief in the way of better and more healthful accommodations is becoming more and more urgent.

ANNEXATION NOT FAVORED.

NEWTON PEOPLE NOT ANXIOUS FOR THE CITY TO BECOME A PART OF "GREATER BOSTON"—SOME ADVANTAGES SEEN IN THE COMMISSION PLAN.

The hearing before the "Greater Boston" commission in the City Hall, Tuesday evening, brought out an unexpectedly large attendance. When Chairman Rice of the commission called the meeting to order at 7.45, over 100 representative citizens were present.

The consensus of opinion, as was expected, was against annexation, although several gentlemen expressed themselves in favor of the plan. A number of citizens favored a modified plan for a metropolitan commission.

After a few explanatory remarks by Chairman Rice, remarks from the citizens were called for.

Chairman Rice stated that the commission had no particular plan in view, but desired to get at the opinion of the people of the district relative to consolidation in order to present a report upon the subject to the Legislature in May. He said that the idea of general annexation had been practically abandoned and that no plan would be reported or recommended that would give a balance of power to the City of Boston.

Mr. E. B. Haskell, chairman of the Newton boulevard commission, said there were some general arguments in favor of a Greater Boston, but as regards Newton in particular, he saw no advantage in annexation or a division of government. An exception might be made in regard to the control of the metropolitan sewer and park systems.

In Newton the population was homogeneous, and such as gave an opportunity for pure government. He believed some interesting experiments in municipal government might be made in Newton to advantage. Newton was contented with its government, and had little desire to mingle in the less pure politics of Boston.

The infusion of new blood in Boston proper, continued Mr. Haskell, undoubtedly, would be a benefit to that city, but it is difficult to see how Newton is to benefit by the change. Newton's water supply is adequate and there is no reason why the city should be called upon in the future to pay, in part, for a water supply for places less favorably situated. In regard to the suggestion made by Chairman Rice that police officers under the metropolitan plan would be enabled to make arrests outside of the city limits, it seems to me that the necessary authority could be provided by statute. If a police force is established, its members should be appointed rather than elected.

Vernon E. Carpenter of West Newton believed in the annexation of all towns within a certain radius of Boston. None of the suburban towns would amount to much without Boston. Boston would be benefited and purified by annexation, and the outside towns, which reap the advantages of Boston's activity, should also pay the bills. He believed in annexation outright, but was opposed to a system of government by metropolitan commissions.

A. R. Mitchell of Newtonville did not favor the adoption of the commission system.

Ex-Alderman J. E. Hollis of Newton doubted the advisability of either annexation or the adoption of the commission system, and J. R. Smith of Newton Highlands expressed similar views. He said the facts about Boston police were not such as to make the merging of the Newton force in that body desirable. At some future time annexation might be the proper thing, but at the present time he believed it to be undesirable.

Mr. E. T. Wiswall of Ward Three thought annexation would benefit Newton, but would injure Newton, and Mr. C. W. Knapp, chairman of the common council, could see no particular benefit for Newton in annexation.

Councilman C. E. Hatfield of Ward Three favored a general system of government for the district, especially in the matter of highways, police, water and parks. He thought that taxpayers in Boston, residing in the suburbs, should be allowed to vote in municipal matters.

Ex-Representative E. J. H. Estabrook saw no necessity for annexation or any general commission. Special commissions could be appointed if necessary.

Judge John C. Kennedy said it would not be well to put the police departments of the various cities under one government.

The members of the Newton police force would compare more than favorably with those of Boston, and the total absence of crime of a serious nature in Newton, he thought, was due to the efficiency of the police force, and he could see no opportunity for improvement by putting the department under a general commission.

F. H. Howells of the Newton school board believed in some central governing commission to replace a multitude of individual commissions.

Hon. J. R. Leeson of the Governor's council said that sooner or later all those communities whose interests centre in Boston will be consolidated into a metropolitan district.

It is evident that greater efficiency is needed in the administration of the regulations aiming to protect the public health. Newton's supply of water must in the future be problematical, and a metropolitan water supply would be of benefit to the city. The health problem could be better and more economically handled under the metropolitan commission than under the present system. He was, however, perfectly satisfied with the administration of the city government of Newton, and of the police, and he thought no city in this country or in Europe had a better Judge than Judge Kennedy. He believed consolidation or annexation would result advantageously to Newton. Newton and other towns should help to purify Boston. He doubted if annexation at present was either possible or advisable, but thought some union in a few of the larger matters could be accomplished.

Ex-Alderman J. H. Nickerson of Ward Three thought Newton would suffer under annexation, but favored the commission system in part. Other gentlemen expressed their views and the hearing adjourned.

Catarrh caused hoarseness and difficulty in speaking. I also to a great extent lost hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Atty-at-Law, Monmouth, Ill.

I used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and have received great benefit. I believe it a safe and certain cure. Very pleasant to take.—Wm. Frazer, Rochester, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

DEATH OF JUDGE THACHER.

EMINENT JURIST PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME IN NEWTONVILLE.

Judge Peter Thacher, a prominent member of the Massachusetts and Maine bars, died at the residence of his son, Stephen Thacher, Lowell street, Newtonville, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He had been in failing health more than two years, and death was the direct result of a fall which he sustained about six weeks ago.

Mr. Thacher was born in Kennebunk, Me., Oct. 14, 1810. His father was Stephen Thacher, who came to Kennebunk from Lebanon, Ct. Stephen Thacher was fourth in descent from Rev. Thomas Thacher, the first minister of the Old South church. He was during many years postmaster in Kennebunk, and judge of probate for York county. In 1818 he was appointed collector of customs in Lubeck, and removed to that place, accompanied by his son, then 8 years old.

Mr. Thacher fitted for college at the Washington Academy, East Machias, and graduated from Bowdoin College in the class of 1831 at the age of 21 years. A number of his classmates have since become famous in law, politics and literature.

After leaving Bowdoin he took up the practical study of law in Portland, in the office of his uncle, Judge William Pitt Preble. He also received instruction from other prominent Maine jurists.

He was admitted to the bar in 1837, and at once commenced to practice in Machias, where he remained almost 15 years.

In 1841 he married the daughter of Judge Barrett Potter of the probate court of Maine, and president of the Canal Bank. Eleven years later he removed to Rockland, where he practised law 10 years.

Under the United States law of 1847 he was appointed commissioner of bankruptcy, and when the law was revised in 1861, he was appointed register of bankruptcy. He was also United States commissioner a number of years.

In 1871 he removed from Rockland to West Newton, and opened a law office on Court street, Boston. He practised law in Boston until 1892, when failing health compelled him to give up active work. He was chosen city solicitor of Newton by the city government of 1876, and retained the position until 1881.

He was a prominent member of the Massachusetts Historical-Geological Society, and was greatly interested in compiling the genealogy of the Thacher family. To complete the records of the family he at one time caused extensive researches to be made in England.

He was a man of quiet disposition, and mingled little in society. The whole life was spent in the active practice of the law, and he was regarded as one of the most eminent jurists in Maine.

The family home was on Winthrop street, West Newton, but two years ago he moved to Newtonville, where he had since resided with his son.

He leaves a widow and nine children—five daughters and four sons. One of his daughters married Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, another is the wife of Dr. Edward Channing, assistant professor of history at Harvard, and one married Rev. Herbert W. Lathe, who was at one time settled in Norampton, and later in Silverton, Col. The sons are Stephen Thacher, who succeeded his father in the law business; George W. of the firm of Wood Loring & Co., bankers, Boston; Henry W. L., a cotton broker, in St. Louis, Mo., and Rev. Francis Thacher, a Unitarian clergyman.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full Testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. Ed. Parker has secured a position travelling for a firm in Conn.

—Mr. Henry Vyett, barber, is quite ill from continued attacks of malaria. Illness causing him absence from business.

—Mr. Geo. Smith is making some repairs to Mr. Lyman's house and barn, the latter has been newly shingled.

—The Newton Hospital is now filled and almost crowded with patients, quite a few taken there last week could not be admitted for this reason.

—Officer Charles H. Tainter is moving into part of Mrs. P. C. Baker's double house on Grove street until recently occupied by Mr. C. F. Ford.

—Mr. C. F. Ford has recently become a partner in a dry goods business conducted at Watertown, although he will not give his direct attention to the business.

—Mr. J. Hyde has purchased and is occupying the Heckle house on Crescent street, Wellesley Hills, where Mr. F. F. Boyant resided prior to his change of residence.

—Mr. John McLaughlin has removed from the yellow block to one of the Atterton houses near the schoolhouse. The final meeting of the board of health, as to whether the building was properly fit for occupancy, resulted in ordering it to be vacated.

—The Wellesley selectmen, in behalf of the citizens of the town, are petitioning the R. R. Commissioners for lower and equitable rates of travel on the B. & A. from their three stations to and from Boston. There is no doubt the usual rates further than Riverside from Boston and the town people feel that they should have the suburban rate per mile as nearer villages have.

—Dr. F. M. Sherman is expected home from Germany this week, a trip taken about six months ago to pursue advanced medical studies. Dr. Chas. Gould, who has attended his practice here during the former's absence, it is stated, is to remove to Newton Centre. He has become very popular during his term of practice here and many regret news of his proposed change.

"She was completely prostrated and made very ill by her perfrid."

"Did she recover?"

"Yes; $10 a week temporary and $5000 in final decree."—Detroit Tribune.

Physicians endorse and use Hall's Hair Renewer to cure gray and faded hair.

NONANTUM.

—Mrs. James Murphy of Watertown street has been quite ill, but is now convalescent.

—The flying horses on Stearn's field are doing a good business despite the chilly weather and the alleged hard times.

—The many friends of Driver Curtis of Hose 8 will be very sorry to learn that he is again confined to the house with a more serious attack of malaria.

—The Bigelow school Foot Ball Eleven played the Mt. Auburn on Stearn's field last Saturday afternoon. After some very good playing on both sides, when neither scored, the game was called a draw.

—Letter-carrier Sinnott, who delivers in this district, has been ill with malaria but is now on duty again. During his absence his place was filled by Substitute Wm. Dunn.

—A word of commendation is due the highway department for keeping the streets so clean. If people who sweep leaves from their own sidewalk to the street would sweep them so as to form a pile in the gutter, it would greatly improve the appearance of our roads.

—Mrs. Thomas Manning lost a valuable female bull dog last Sunday afternoon. It was run over by an electric bound for Newtonville. The dog attempted to pass in front of the car, while the latter was going very fast, the man ran the bell but the dog was too slow, so was killed.

—Mr. George Hudson of Bridge street has been confirmed a justice of the peace. He received his appointment in the form of an official document, Wednesday morning, signed by Gov. Frederick T. Greenhalge and secretary Wm. Olin. Mr. Hudson is a well known citizen and merchant and full worthy on this honor conferred upon him.

—More houses are being built this year at the fall season than have been built for a number of years at that time. A fine new house is going up opposite the Adams school, Mr. Morrey is building for the owners a large house on Chapel street. Mr. Roy of West street is erecting a new house on the site of his old one. Mr. James Murphy has commenced one on Cook street and others of minor importance have been started upon.

—Mr. Richard Mills, the barber, is the happy possessor of a scrapbook kept by an inmate of the State Prison at Charlestown in the early fifties (50's). The former owner of the book had pasted in it printed poems written by convicts and under each poem is a newspaper clipping telling all about the poet's career. Some fine pen and ink drawings, also adorn the pages. Mr. Mills purchased the book at an auction sale and would not part with it as it is not only curious but interesting.

—Miss Kate Boughan, 23 years old and residing on Cook street, met with a most peculiar accident last Friday. Workmen were putting a water pipe in the house being built by Mr. Murphy on Cook street, having tunneled the sidewalk. Miss Boughan attempted to step over the excavation, although she was warned by the workmen that it was not safe; in doing so she missed her footing and the earth gave way under her weight. Miss Boughan fell to the bottom of the trench and was nearly covered over by the avalanche of stones and sand that descended. Willing hands came to her rescue, and had it not been for their quick work, she might have fared worse. She has been confined to her bed and it is feared she has sustained internal injuries. No blame can be attached to the workmen as they claim they gave her warning.

WABAN.

—Mr. F. W. Webster of Windsor road has been quite ill during the past week.

—The Whist Club holds its first meeting next Tuesday night.

—The Benevolent Society met with Mrs. Stone today.

—Mrs. Coe of Newark, N. J., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Heaton, has returned to her home.

—Mrs. F. W. Webster was at Cataumet last week to attend the funeral of her father, Mr. Wright returned with her and will remain here for the winter.

—Mr. Harry K. Dresser entertained a card party last Saturday evening, comprising Newton Highlands and Newton Centre gentlemen. After the cards a dainty collation was served.

THE COWBOY'S LASSO.

With It He Is Almost as Good a Marksman as With the Rifle.

"The cowboys of New Mexico, Texas and Arizona are all skilled in the art of using the lasso," said Louis Edwards of Santa Fe. "I used to be in the ranching line myself and once thought I could throw a rope as straight as any man living. But that was before I had mixed to any extent with the Mexicans. As good as the American cowboys are, they can't hold a candle to a greaser when it comes to the roping business. They can do things with hemp that no other mortals can ever hope to accomplish. As the Australian stands out prominently in throwing the boomerang, so does the ignorant son of the 'land of God and liberty' excel all other men in this one accomplishment."

"A Mexican will chase a steer at full speed, and while he guides his broncho with one hand whirl his rope with unerring aim with the other, and it isn't once in a thousand times that the noose will fail to catch just where the rider meant. A favorite trick with them is to stick a lot of long handled knives in the ground close together within the limits of a narrow circle and bet with outsiders that they can ride past at race horse speed and pick up any one of the knives designated with a rope. They are good marksmen with the rifle, too, but in this regard the cowboys are fully their peers."—Washington Post.

The First One.

(From Life.)

A young man with an elegant jag hiccupps to a policeman that he wants to get a cab to take him to his hotel, and asks directions to nearest cab stand.

"First street to the right. You'll see two cabs standing there. Take the first one—the other won't be there."

Lady: "You said this coal was economical. Why, it won't burn at all."

Dealer: "Well, ma'am, what could you have more economical than that?"

"Tie-Bits."

Dyspepsia Cured.

"My wife has been a great sufferer with dyspepsia for over four years. Three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla have perfectly cured her. At times the lightest food would distress her terribly. She could not sleep well at night and she said no one could tell how badly she felt. She was also troubled with sick headaches. She had tried different kinds of medicine, but none did her any good. At last Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and one bottle did her so much good that she took two more and now she is perfectly well. She is not now troubled with any of her former ailments."

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON MUSIUM.—That "nothing succeeds like success" has been many times proved, but perhaps never more clearly than in the case of "Prince Pro Tem," which reached its 118th performance at the Museum last Monday evening. Its plot is amazingly whimsical, its music decidedly bright, the specialties are modern and at the same time refined, the scenery is elaborate, and, above all, it is admirably presented by the members of the Museum company. The new specialty, "The Fogian blackbirds," introduced last week, has added another success to the piece. In its quaintness the new feature is in keeping with the opera itself and it is well given by the eight skilled dancers. It is the intention of the management, from time to time, to sustain the interest of the public with new features. Annie Lewis, Josie Sidler, Fanny Johnston, Annie Southern, Alice F. Shepard, Fred Lennox, George F. Marion, Harry Davenport and Charles Kirke, as well as the other members of the excellent company have become great favorites in Boston.

BOSTON THEATRE.—To judge by the columns of eulogistic criticism bestowed by the Boston newspaper upon "In Old Kentucky" which was given its first Boston production at the Boston Theatre last Monday night, the engagement will be one of the most successful ever played at that theatre, famous for long runs. The playhouse was packed to the doors by one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences ever assembled within its walls. There is an abundance of picturesque scenery and thrilling situations, and the managers of "In Old Kentucky" introduce something new in the dynamite bomb, which is a success from the moment the villain lights the fuse, until the explosion, followed by a cloud of smoke, a shower of debris and a roar of applause from the audience, that does not subside until the curtain rises, again and again. There is a plantation scene in which 30 or 40 pickaninies take part that is thoroughly original. Then there is a realistic race track with a troop of blooded horses and jockeys that dash across with a real appearance of genuineness, and the complete abandonment of the audience to its enthusiasm gives the best proof of the popularity of this feature. Laura Burt is easily the star, but the cast is uniformly good.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—"The Cotton King" has, without a question, scored one of the greatest successes that has been made in Boston for many years at the Bowdoin Square Theatre, where no attraction has ever before successfully played over two weeks. "The Cotton King" has turned people away regularly. The "Standing Room Only" sign has been out every night since the run began, and it promises to continue, as seats are being sold nearly a month ahead. There has been a great deal of argument over what constitutes the successful features of this play. While Sutton Vane has met all the requirements of melodrama he has broken new ground by the presentation of a character and of a scene that rises immensely above the level of this class of work. Of course his hero is always constantly good, and his villain ever most persistently wicked, but in the part of Shillinglaw, he has drawn a human character in which the powers of good and evil are at work with that intensity and perseverance, that marks the struggles of our dual nature. Hundreds of ladies and children attend the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—The wave of a magic wand has demolished the walls that surrounded fairland, and ere they could be replaced and made impassable, the entire band of Brownies escaped and ran to do the bidding of their lord and master, Pinner Cox. The Brownies are now travelling as fast as possible towards Boston, and the Hollis Street Theatre, which they will reach ere they will be safely domiciled on Oct. 29; elaborate preparations were made for the introduction of these quaint people, and which will be so enjoyable to children of all ages to see their fairy favorites in real flash and blood, and to hear them speak in real Brownie language. Each Brownie has been provided with an entirely new wardrobe, and the Duke is the proudest of them all. Portions of fairland were also brought along with them, so that everyone can see precisely how the Brownies live. The conditions are such that the Brownies can only be seen on the stage being the Hollis at 8 o'clock and evening and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. There will of course be a great rush to witness their pranks and dances. Seats now on sale at the Hollis.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Sydney Grundy's play, "Sowing the Wind," which began an engagement at the Columbia Theatre, Monday night, is a remarkable work. At present in England the play is the subject of a three-cornered fight between Dr. Boyd, vice-chancellor of Oxford University, Dr. Newman Hall and the veteran Professor Blackie. It ran for two hundred nights at the Empire, New York, all summer in Chicago, and for quite a season in London. "Sowing the Wind" is said to be the best play Sydney Grundy has yet written. The language is full of grace and precision and the author has handled a necessarily dangerous subject with delicacy and finesse, yet with directness and force that unite to give it great strength. For this "sex against sex" play Mr. Charles Frohman sent to the Columbia a specially selected company headed by J. H. Gilmore and Miss Mary Hampton. Others in the cast are Messrs. Thomas Whiffen, Frank Mills, S. E. Springer, Guy Standing, Frederick Strong, Harry Phillips, Harold Howard, Minnie Bowen, Carrie Keeler and Adele Le Claire.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—"Captain Paul" will be the Elks' attraction at the opening of this playhouse. It is now being rehearsed at the Grand Opera House in New York. "Capt. Paul" is in four acts and deals with the adventures of a young American privateer whose name is given to the play. The time is the latter part of the 18th century, and the scenes are laid on the coast of Brittany. The action of the piece all take place within 24 hours, beginning at 4 p. m. Mr. Rose has selected his company with great care, giving great attention to the artists' adaptability for the parts to be assigned them in this production.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—At this theatre next week will be given the first Boston presentation of the romantic Irish comedy drama, "Rory of the Hill," a play dealing with the modern Irishman, his joys, troubles and adventures and treating the subject matter in such a manner as can only be done by a native of the Emerald Isle whose heart is the fountain spring of his dictations. James Connor Roach is the author of the piece and the leading role, Rory O'Malley, will also be essayed by him. The play in its impulses reminds one of the "Old Home-stead" and Mr. Roach's rendition of the leading role is Irish characterization what the performances of the late lamented John E. Owens and Denman Thompson are to the Yankee types of today. During the engagement of the star and play at the 14th Street Theatre, N. Y., last season the press and clergy were unanimous in praise of both, and as the play will be seen in Boston with the same excellent cast and magnificent scenic equipment a production of surpassing merit may be anticipated. A single week is the limit of the engagement after which Mr. James O'Neill will be seen in selections from his high class repertoire.

NEW LYCEUM THEATRE.—Beginning Monday, another inviting and varied bill will be presented. This will include the famous character song artist, Miss Hilda Thomas. Bostonians will recall her clever work as Gabriel in "Evangeline." Including in the extensive entertainment will be Hines and Hines, the musical artists, who a few weeks ago, established themselves great favorites on the Lyceum stage. Their act on this occasion will be new and a genuine treat is promised. The Rixfords will be seen in artistic and skillful acrobatic feats, McMagon and King in a black eel comedy skit, Johnson, Reno and Bentley in a burlesque trapeze act, Hines and Remington in their very amusing comedy, "The Pawn Shop," the Valderes man and woman, in a difficult bicycle act and a number of other equally interesting vaudeville people. The Lyceum is on Washington street, near Boylston, and the best orchestra seat sells for 50 cents.

Newton Natural History Society.
The annual meeting was held on Monday, Oct. 22, and the following elected officers for the year: President, S. Edward Warren; vice president, J. L. Caverly; secretary, Alvin R. Bailey; treasurer, Wm. C. Bates; curator, Jesse Fewkes.

The society has decided to give the public a series of four lectures on Zoology by Chas. J. Maynard, on the first Mondays in November, December, January and February in Elliot lower hall.

This will be a consecutive course, starting with the lowest forms and working upwards to the highest, and will be largely illustrated with specimens of the different orders. It will be especially valuable to the teachers and advanced pupils of our public schools. All persons who are interested are cordially invited to be present at the meetings, notices of which will be given each month, and also be posted on the bulletin at the entrance of the hall, several days in advance of the meeting.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness. This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY HAS NOT, HE SAYS, DISMISSED EMPLOYEES BECAUSE OF THEIR MEMBERSHIP IN THE STATE MILITIA.

Prominent officials of the Adams Express Company are greatly annoyed by the publication in some of the daily papers of statements in reference to the discharge of a number of its employes, which, they claim, are not in accord with the facts.

It was stated that the men discharged were members of the state militia, and that the offence for which they were dismissed from the company's service was that of absenting themselves from duty Tuesday, Oct. 9, during the mobilization of the state troops.

It was said that Mr. Daniel Lovering, Boston agent of the company, admitted that the discharges were made for the reason above given. He was reported as saying that the company didn't want any of its men in the state militia, provided that the duty interfered with the Adams express business. It is said, too, that the management is opposed to the parades of the militia, because they block up the streets and interfere with the work of the company, by delaying its teams, and, consequently, preventing the prompt service which is regarded as essential.

Mr. C. S. Spencer, Superintendent of the Adams Express Company, who has entire charge of the company's business east of New York city, and who is a well-known resident of this city, has this to say concerning the matter:

"The statements about the discharge of some of our men, and the alleged cause, are likely to be a great injury to the interests of the Adams Express Company, and put it in a position that it would not take in regard to its dealings with employees. I have no knowledge of the dismissal of any employee because of being with his command in the state militia, Oct. 9. If any men were discharged, it was probably because of their absence without permission.

"The subject of the men's connection with the state militia, necessitating their absence upon certain occasions, has never been officially discussed by the management of the company. I feel sure that Agent Lovering has been misquoted or misunderstood, as he had no authority to define the company's policy. If his remarks were correctly reported, his superior officials repudiate them as not representing their views in the matter.

"The company should not be misjudged or boycotted because one of its employees has expressed an individual opinion on the subject (if he did so at all) in an off-hand manner, perhaps without giving the matter much thought.

"Proper inquiry will be made into this case, and those interested may be assured that the Adams Express Company will recognize its employees' duties to the state in the future as it has always done in the past."

Associated Charities.
The annual meeting of the directors and visitors of the Associated Charities was held in the rooms of the society, No. 7, Central Block, Newtonville, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 18. There was a large attendance, the president, Rev. Wm. A. Lamb, occupied the chair.

The reports of the secretary and the chairman of the various standing committees, showed a very decided increase in all branches of the work, the investigating and registering department, the Provident Branch, the Employment Bureau and the Penny Savings System. This increase, however, in the opinion of those upon whom the burden of the work has fallen, is due quite as much to the fact that the community is becoming better acquainted with our organization and inclined to make more use of us, as to the pressure of the hard times last winter. Rightly or wrongly our workers are inclined to think that the pressure will bear more heavily on us, as a society, this year, than it did last, partly because many families who have managed to get along thus far without help, have used up their resources, and partly because the outburst of private charity was more spontaneous last winter than it is likely to be again.

The report of the treasurer showed that the community has contributed generously to our support, and this practical proof that our usefulness is recognized, is most gratifying to those actively engaged in a work, which from the nature of the case, must have many depressing elements.

The constitution requires an election of new, or the re-election of old directors to the number of seven each year. Those elected at the meeting to serve until Oct. 1897, are Mrs. Allen Jordan, Newton Lower Falls; Mrs. James Westman, Auburndale; N. F. Allen, West Newton; Mrs. H. C. Hardon, Newton; Warren P. Tyler, Newton; Miss M. C. Worcester, Worcester, Newtonville; Rev. D. L. Furber, Newton Centre. The Rev. Ira A. Priest of Newtonville was elected to serve until Oct. 1895, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation last year of Mr. S. R. Urbino, who to the regret of his associates, was forced by illness to give up active work in a cause which he has much at heart.

For directors of the Penny Savings System the following were chosen: Wm. A. Lamb, Newton; Albert Metcalf, West Newton; Miss M. C. Worcester, Newtonville; H. W. Wellington, Newton; I. A. Priest, Newtonville; J. M. Dutton, Newtonville; Bernard Early, Newton Lower Falls; F. W. Peavey, Newton Highlands; P. A. McVicar, Auburndale. At the next meetings of these boards the officers for the coming year will be chosen.

The treasurer of the Associated Charities is Mr. Warren P. Tyler, 48 Sargent street, Newton, who is ready to receive contributions for the new year. The annual report will soon be published. M. R. MARTIN, Sec'y.

It will be one of the most beautiful of the smaller parks of the city. It will connect Lake avenue with the shores of Crystal lake, and will extend for about 600 feet along the southwestern shore of Crystal lake, which is regarded as one of the chief ornaments of the city. It is proposed to ultimately extend the park almost entirely around the lake, and construct a boulevard along the water's edge, similar to that already constructed on the north side. Petitions are now pending before the city council asking for the taking of several strips of land abutting on the lake, under the park act.
—The finely appointed alleys in Bray's block are becoming very popular with the society people here. Some good scores have been made in the candle and regulation games. F. J. Turner holds the record for big pins for a single string performance. He recently put up a total of 235. W. F. Ellis stands next with 198. Mr. Asbell has a score of 196 to his credit. Last Saturday evening, J. L. Coleman got 188 down for ten frames. Private bowling parties promise to be the fad of the smart set this winter. Mr. Faine of Lake avenue and party bowled Monday evening. Next Wednesday, the alleys are engaged for Mr. Foster and party. C. M. Goddard has a date fixed for Wednesday evening, Nov. 7. The Newton Centre Bowling Club have secured the alleys for Friday evenings throughout the season.

—Joe Peconne's cat has discovered the rat colony under the depot platform and has waged such a battle with the rodents that human schemes for their annihilation are no longer necessary.
—Hon. Alden Spear has given a library to the town of Chelsea, Vt., which is to be known as the Alden Spear Memorial Library. It is located in the old Chelsea hall, and the building and library were dedicated yesterday.
—The Euterpe Club will present "Pinafore" in Associates' Hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 7. The club will be assisted by Mr. J. C. Bartlett of Boston. Well known Newton artists will take part in the opera. Arrangements have been made to provide for a large, selected orchestra.
—Rev. Edward M. Noyes, pastor elect, will preach in the Congregational church, Sunday, Oct. 28, morning and evening. Wednesday evening services of installation will be held in the church at 7 o'clock. Sermon by Rev. Frank Baker, D. D., of the Maverick church, East Boston. The public are cordially invited.
—Alderman Roffe and ex-Alderman Harbach are being joked a little just now by their friends. They are building a house on Sumner street, and got the cellar located a few feet over the line of the Boston Water Works property. The result was that the cellar had to take a move forward and, of course, it involved some extra work and expense.
—The Newton Athletic Association eleven and the eleven representing the Cambridge manual training school played an exciting match here last Saturday, the home team winning 8 to 6. The game was a bit rough and several players on both sides were injured.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harriot, who, it will be remembered, were going to make a trip on a tandem bicycle across country and whose plans were interfered with owing to an accident here to Mrs. Harriot, are to make a second trial, it is said. Mr. Harriot on the first trip had particularly hard luck. At Albany he lost his pocket book containing about $1500. He was sending a telegram and laid it down on the shelf in front of the telegraph office window. He started off forgetting all about it and did not realize it until he had returned to his hotel. He went back, of course, but the pocket book had disappeared. Mr. Harriot has accepted a position with the Morgan-Wright Co., and will advise in a novel manner its famous tires. Mrs. Harriot will accompany her husband. Their plans contemplate a journey to San Francisco and return.

—The Congregational Society management are having painted the company horse and carriage sheds opening on Bowen street. This looks like a step backward. It means to the public an indefinite continuation of the gloom which those sheds cast by day and of the darkness visible by night. "Let thy light so shine" is strangely enacted in this long stretch of ugly sheds, so suggestive of danger after dusk, and women and children dread to pass them. They are in singular contrast to almost every other idea and act of the wide awake, progressive society which worships in this historic corner. To an unbiased observer there appeared to be shed enough in the rear of the church to accommodate the needs of all far corners. It was hoped that with the improvements the society is making the greatest step of all would be taken towards beautifying the block by demolishing these hideous, antiquated sheds in favor of a beautiful grassy slope. The sheds have long been and are the only blot on these sacred grounds. They are an eyesore to the residents and a substantial injury to real estate on the street beyond.

—Prof. Reese entertained the teachers of the Thompsonville Sabbath school at the home of Mrs. Hartsorn, Institution avenue, Monday evening. It was an altogether delightful occasion. The apartments were very tastefully decorated with tropical plants and flowers, and the exterior of the mansion and grounds were illuminated with Japanese lanterns, presenting a most attractive appearance. The pastor, Mr. Cook, and his wife and the superintendent of the Sunday school were among those present. The company numbered about 50 ladies and gentlemen. The early portion of the evening was devoted to music and other forms of entertainment. Piano-forte and vocal numbers were well rendered by the Misses Forbes. Progressive games proved a great source of amusement. Each lady and gentleman were presented with souvenir cards. When they were attached a gilt star to the cards and a green star when not victorious. Prizes were distributed after the completion of the games. Mr. O. J. Hall's card showed 8 gilt stars out of a possible 9 and he received the special trophy. The trophy consisted of a bouquet of carnations. The festivities concluded with a collection served by Paxton. Mrs. Montague poured. Prof. Reese was assisted in entertaining his guests by the Misses Forbes, Miss Grace Colburn and Miss Chester.
